Ushers will be Rodger Benner, Thomas Bream, Barry Fitz and James Kohler. Miss Helen McCleaf will be the organist.

The Fairfield High School Chorus, under the direction of Thomas Watkins, will be accompanied by Thomas Kittinger.

$313 VERDICT IN CRASH SUIT

An Adams County jury Friday afternoon awarded Melvin Eugene Starnes, New Oxford R. 1, $313 damages in his trespass suit against Fred A. Hackett, Shippensburg, resulting from an auto accident December 28, 1963 in Hampton's square.

The jury heard two trespass suits simultaneously—the one brought by Starnes against Hackett, and one brought by Hackett's father, William J. against Starnes, to which Starnes had added Fred Hackett as codefendant.

After deliberating from 3 to 3:30 Friday afternoon, the jury returned its verdict finding Fred Hackett "guilty" of negligence, as the jury wrote it, and awarded damages to Starnes.

Fred Hackett was the only witness in his own defense. Witnesses for Starnes included himself, his wife, Sally; Mrs. Starnes's father, Thurman Inskip and Paul Rhine Jr., New Oxford R. D. Rhine was an eye witness to the entire accident. He had halted his vehicle at the stop sign on the New Chester Rd. at its intersection with the Hanover-Carlisle Rd., waiting for an opportunity to proceed. He saw the Starnes car turn into the New Chester Rd. from the Hanover-Carlisle Rd. and saw the southbound Hackett auto approach. When the Hackett car struck the Starnes sedan, the impact forced Starnes's car into Rhine's vehicle.

Rev. Stierle To Leave On June 30

Rev. Clifford Stierle Jr., pastor of the Mt. Joy and Harney Lutheran churches for the last year, Friday night announced his resignation at a meeting of the church council.

The resignation is effective June 30. On July 1 he will become pastor of the Temple Lutheran Church, Altoona.

Rev. Mr. Stierle became pastor of the Mt. Joy-Harney congregation on May 17, 1964, after graduating from Mt. Airy Seminary, Philadelphia. He had been serving the churches as a supply pastor for a time before his graduation.

GAR MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD HERE FRIDAY

The annual Grand Army of the Republic memorial services were held Friday night at the GAR home on E. Middle St. and the members of the local camp of the Sons of Union Veterans learned that the ritual they have followed for so many years apparently is unique.

Clarence J. Riddell, state commander of the Sons of Union Veterans, said other camps in the state would do well to adopt it.

Further discussion revealed that the more than 90-year-old service was arranged by the Corporal Skelly GAR Post here and had been used by the GAR and then by the SUV for many years.

State Commander Riddell was among several state and national officials who spoke at a brief meeting following the service. Among those introduced was Joseph I. Weaver, New Oxford, a 62-year member of the SUV and the last surviving charter member of the New Oxford camp.

REV. DR. FOX SPEAKS

Rev. Dr. Howard S. Fox, pastor of Trinity United Church of Christ, was the speaker. "Decorating the graves of heroes has the value of respect, but unless we give something of ourselves, unless we rededicate ourselves, then we have failed those who went before us," he said.

"Fish Rodeo" For Children Sunday

The annual "Children's Fish Rodeo" will be held Sunday afternoon at the Cashtown Community Park under sponsorship of the Cashtown Lions Club assisted by the Adams County Fish and Game Association.

Several hundred youngsters are expected to take part and a large number of trout have been placed in the stream running through the park along the new Lincoln Highway in anticipation of the competition.

The fishing will start at 1 o'clock with those youngsters up to age nine taking part. After the smaller children have been fishing for about 45 minutes they will give way to those aged 10 through 12. After that group has fished for three-quarters of an hour the stream will be turned over for 45 minutes fishing to those aged 13 through 15. Prizes will be awarded for the largest fishes caught.

BRING COURT ACTION

R. J. Kline and J. S. Witte, trading as K and W. Tire Co., Lancaster, have brought an action in assumpsit in Adams County court, according to papers filed in the prothonotary's office, against George R. Hoffman, Gettysburg R. 2, alleging he owes them $537.15 for tires.

Lasting Cease-Fire Being Sought In Santo Domingo; Crush Rebel Resistance

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The United Nations sought today to extend the 24-hour truce in the Dominican Republic into a lasting cease-fire.

Before the shooting stopped at noon Friday, the military situation had developed into a standoff between the two warring factions. This made diplomats optimistic on the cease-fire prospects.

The civilian-military junta fought with tanks and machine guns right up to the deadline Friday and was reported to have crushed rebel resistance in northern Santo Domingo. This left the rebels with their downtown stronghold which is sealed off by U.S. troops who have strict orders not to allow armed forces from either side through their lines. The area is about 8 city blocks wide and 12 blocks long.

The truce which ends at noon today was negotiated by the Red Cross and the United Nations to evacuate the dead and wounded. Secretary-General U Thant told the U.N. Security Council Friday that his representative in Santo Domingo, Jose Antonio Mayobre, was trying to extend it another 24 hours.

Jordan and several other nations were working on a resolution which would have the 11-nation Security Council call for a lasting cease-fire.

In Washington, U.S. strategists said prospects for a solution to the Dominican crisis have taken a turn for the better and chances for a permanent cease-fire are brighter. They cautioned that much remained to be done.

YANKS TO LEAVE

The United States announced it would withdraw some 1,700 of its 23,000 troops in the Dominican Republic. The number to be withdrawn was not disclosed.

MD. HEARING ON SITE FOR NEW SCHOOL

The Maryland State Board of Education will consider Wednesday the appeal of a group of Emmitsburg citizens challenging the location of the new Catoctin High School at the northern border of Thurmont.

Albeck Resnick, representing the town of Emmitsburg, will appeal his case before the state board. The state once refused a hearing of the Emmitsburg appeal after examining evidence in the case. Resnick filed a suit for the town against the local school board and the county commissioners.

DENIED RIGHTS

In presenting his argument to the court, Resnick said that the state board had no right to deny the Emmitsburg appeal when it had granted hearings to previous school consolidation complaints.

Resnick was attorney for a group from Taneytown protesting a school consolidation move.

Judges Patrick M. Schnauffer and Ralph G. Shure of Montgomery County ruled that the state board should have granted a hearing to the Emmitsburg group and withheld all information pending a hearing.

Dr. John L. Carnochan, Frederick County superintendent, said that under a temporary injunction contained in the suit, the school system could do nothing to plan or construct the new Catoctin High School at the Thurmont location until the suit is settled.

BRING COURT ACTION

R. J. Kline and J. S. Witte, trading as K and W. Tire Co., Lancaster, have brought an action in assumpsit in Adams County court, according to papers filed in the prothonotary's office, against George R. Hoffman, Gettysburg R. 2, alleging he owes them $537.15 for tires.

Scholarship Fund To Be Increased

The county Extension Homemakers' Scholarship Fund now totals $39.12. Contributions from homemakers' groups will be added to the Lydia Tarrant Extension Homemakers' Scholarship Fund at the annual banquet on June 16, Mrs. Wade Brown, Littlestown, chairman, said today.

Last year 20 scholarships of $200 each were given in 14 Pennsylvania schools where home economics was taught. The applicants must have a Sophomore standing before qualifying for the scholarship. Applicants with 4-H experience are given preference but others may apply.

A student should apply through the head of the departments of the college she is attending.

Gettysburg firemen were called Friday evening when a fire occurred in a small shed at the rear of 31 S. Washington St. No damage was reported.

OFFER PRIZES TO HS SENIORS FOR ART WORK

The Adams County Arts and Crafts Guild today announced plans for an art contest confined to the members of the Senior Classes of the county's high schools.

The art work will be on display May 28 and 29 at the Gettysburg Youth Center on N. Washington St. A total of $50 in prizes will be given.

Mrs. W. K. Diehl, president of the Arts and Crafts Guild, said Clara E. Peck and Mrs. George Engelke will be the judges.

PRIZES FOR 5 DIVISIONS

All art instructors of the county have been asked to urge seniors in their classes to place their work in the various divisions. There will be a $10 prize in each of the five divisions—drawing, water color, design, crafts and general.

Contestants are asked to enter their art work by next Wednesday night. The public is invited to visit the Youth Center from 7 until 11 o'clock on both Friday and Saturday evening, May 28 and 29 to see the display of work of the young artists. The contestants will remove their works between 1 and 4 p.m. on May 30.

According to the notice sent the art teachers, students are asked to place their work by 7 p.m. May 26 with either Frederick Hughes, 333 Baltimore St., or Mrs. W. K. Diehl, Rice Ave., Biglerville.

Mrs. Diehl said drawings may be in pencil, pen and ink, crayon, charcoal etc.; water colors may be tempera, transparent, finger paint etc.; designs may be fine or applied; crafts include wood cuts, linoleum blocks, puppets, papermache, metal, jewelry, ceramics. "General" includes oil paintings, posters, "or any other medium not included in the other classes." The contest, Mrs. Diehl said, is designed to "offer some encouragement for the young artists."

Will Study Violin In West Berlin

John R. Eaken, son of Mrs. Mary Eaken Gardners R. 2, has received a $6,000 music scholarship which will enable him to study violin at the International Music Camp, West Berlin for four weeks.

Mrs. Eaken said her son had been trained from the age of 3 1/2 years until five years ago by his father and then went to study in Philadelphia under Edgar Ortenberg. Eaken will leave for West Germany on July 17.

PLEADS GUILTY

Otis A. Snook, Gettysburg R. 3, entered pleas of guilty to charges of failure to stop at the scene of an accident and reckless driving at an arraignment before Justice of the Peace John Whitman Friday evening. He was ordered to pay a $25 fine and the costs on each charge. In default of payment, he was returned to jail. Snook's car damaged shrubbery and a gas regulator at the property of Jerome I. Brady, R. 5, the evening of May 16.

LITTLESTOWN BOY IS FIRST IN JOB CORPS

Robert Stottlemeyer, 18-year-old son of Mrs. Louise Stottlemeyer, Littlestown R. 2, today was announced as the first Adams County youth to be accepted for the Job Corps.

The local state employment office received word from the federal agency to have the Littlestown area youth sworn in Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock preparatory to going to Kilmer Job Corps Center at Delton, N. J. Gettysburg Postmaster Charles W. Pentz will administer the oath at the post office here in the presence of Mrs. Stottlemeyer and Employment Service officials.

The youth, who had attended Littlestown High School and since then has held a number of short-term jobs, was among the first from the county to make application for the corps and was the first accepted.

TO LEARN TRADE

While the Job Corps asks potential candidates what type trade they wish to learn, Stottlemeyer listed no preference, asking for "whatever I might be fitted for."

Designed to teach young men and women trades, the Job Corps is opening a number of centers throughout the country to teach trades. It was not known here which trades are taught at Kilmer. Stottlemeyer will leave here for Kilmer immediately after being sworn in.

How long he will be there depends on the youth himself. The Job Corps asks that the applicant promise to stay for four months—after that he can leave at any time. However, it is hoped that he will stay until he has learned the trade being taught him. The longest he can remain in the corps is two years.

MAY APPLY LOCALLY

During his training, Stottlemeyer will receive $30 a month spending money. Fifty dollars a month will be placed in a fund for him. He will be given the amount as a lump sum when he leaves the corps. The amount is designed to "give a start" to the graduate. The government will provide transportation to home and back once during the two-year period.

The Littlestown area youth had to write to Washington to put in his application. Now the applications can be placed at the local Pennsylvania State Employment office on West St.

Youths who have dependents can secure an allotment for their dependent while taking Job Corps training, the Employment Service office said. A $50 a month allotment is sent the dependent, and the Job Corps trainee under those circumstances will receive $25 a month to be given as a lump sum at the end of the training, plus the regular $30 a month "spending money" allowance.

90 Jet Bombers Destroy 37 Military Buildings In Massive Attack Today

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A massive force of U.S. Air Force Thunderchief bombers struck the Quang Son barracks, escorted by 50 support jets.

A U.S. spokesman said the aircraft ranged over the target area for 45 minutes.

Then the air armada moved south to Phuoc Qui ammunition depot, 100 miles south of Hanoi, and destroyed six buildings and damaged another four.

75 TONS OF BOMBS

The U.S. planes dropped 75 tons of bombs over both targets. They were mostly 750 pounders, a U.S. spokesman said. Ground fire was reported intense over Quang Son, but no enemy aircraft were seen.

U.S. Navy planes also hammered at road targets and a naval station.

B. P. MAGUIRE DIES AT HOME HERE FRIDAY

Bernard P. Maguire, 69, who retired November 2, 1963, after 50 years service as an employee of The Gettysburg Times, died Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at his home, 48 E. Middle St. He had suffered a heart attack and was hospitalized in January.

BERNARD P. MAGUIRE

Friday afternoon he was watching television when he suddenly slumped forward. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said death was caused by a coronary occlusion.

The deceased was a son of the late John F. and Margaret E. (Wassem) Maguire. He was born November 2, 1895, in New Oxford. Later the family moved to Philadelphia, where his father died in 1905. His mother died January 10, 1961, in Gettysburg.

TIMES EMPLOYEE

Mr. Maguire was first employed by The Times in 1910. As a youth of 15, he served as a carrier for the then eight-year-old newspaper, earning $1.15 a week. He later was employed by the Gettysburg post office, then located in the first block of York St. On August 4, 1913, he left this position to accept a full-time post as a "printer's devil" for the newspaper, which then was located on Lincoln Square. His starting salary

GRAWE ELECTED

Raymond Bahn, York, was installed this week as the new president of the Southern Pennsylvania Restaurant Association, succeeding Floyd Shetter of Gettysburg. Other new officers installed at the meeting in York included Mrs. Virginia Taylor, Red Lion, first vice president; George Grawe, owner of the Varsity Diner and Cannon Cafeteria, second vice president, and Mrs. Marian R. Snyder, secretary-treasurer.

JURY BLAMES WOMAN DRIVER FROM HANOVER FOR FATALITY

A coroner's jury Friday afternoon ruled that the death of Mrs. Ruth N. Fuhrman, 34, Littlestown, in an auto accident February 10 was "caused by the excessive speed and careless operation" of a car driven by Mrs. Betty E. Leese, 33, Hanover.

Mrs. Fuhrman's battered body was found after 3:15 on the morning of February 10 in a pool of blood 96 feet from the wrecked car of Mrs. Leese in a quarry just north of Littlestown on the Gettysburg pike, according to testimony given at the inquest conducted by the county coroner, Dr. C. G. Crist, in the courthouse here.

Her death, Dr. Crist said, was caused by a compound fracture of the skull and a broken neck.

BODY FOUND

Littlestown Police Chief Edward T. Kowalczyk, first officer on the scene, testified he found "a badly wrecked car, upside down in a hole at the quarry." He called the state police by radio. "Renner's tow truck lifted the side of the car so the ambulance crew could get the woman out, and we found by that time she was alive, but badly hurt. It was Mrs. Leese."

State Policeman Harold Herring testified that Littlestown firemen and others were summoned to search for the missing Mrs. Fuhrman. After a time her body was found 96 feet from the car, beside a pile of concrete blocks.

Trooper Herring said Mrs. Fuhrman had obviously been thrown to the spot where she was found. "She was in a pool of blood and there was no blood anywhere else, nor had she struck the pile of concrete blocks, although her body was practically against it."

Mrs. Leese did not testify at the inquest, on advice of her counsel, Attorney S. M. Raffensperger.

Trooper Herring said he had visited Mrs. Leese three times while she was a patient at the Warner Hospital here and she

250 SCOUTERS AT CAMPOREE FOR WEEKEND

Two hundred fifty Boy Scouts and leaders from throughout the county are gathered at the Clapsaddle quarry area, just off the Gettysburg-Littlestown Rd. south of here, for the annual Black Walnut Boy Scout District camporee which will close Sunday afternoon.

The youths set up their three-day "tent city" Friday night and will break camp Sunday afternoon.

While most of Friday evening was devoted to reading the camp for the weekend stay, today was given over to a full day of scout activities.

Friday night the members of the 11 troops represented were divided into 33 patrols to take part in the "Gold Rush" contest today.

CANCEL CUB PICNIC

For the competition, each of the patrols will be given various "problems" which might have occurred had they been a group taking part in the Gold Rush during the last century. Each of the problems involves use of some scouting skill for its solution. How well the scouting skill is put to use will determine the score made in the solution of each problem.

All of the neighborhood commissioners and members of the Explorer Scouts of the district are serving as judges and as officials in connection with the "Gold Rush" competition.

Stanley C. Rogers, scout field executive with the group at its encampment has announced that the Cub Scout picnic, scheduled to be held this evening at the camporee has been cancelled "for reasons beyond our control."

Church School Class To Continue Study

The Adult Sunday Church School Class of Christ Lutheran Church, which has completed the first section in a study of "The Mighty Acts of God" under the leadership of Dr. Eric Gritsch of the seminary faculty will continue to meet at the same time and place, 9:30 a.m. in the social room.

Sunday and May 30 the class will be taught by Dr. Howard N. Bream, of the seminary faculty, who will present two studies on the second part of the book of Daniel.

MD. HEARING ON SITE FOR NEW SCHOOL

The Maryland State Board of Education will consider Wednesday the appeal of a group of Emmitsburg citizens challenging the location of the new Catoctin High School at the northern border of Thurmont.

Alleck Resnick, representing the town of Emmitsburg, will appeal his case before the state board. The state once refused a hearing of the Emmitsburg appeal after examining evidence in the case. Resnick filed a suit for the town against the local school board and the county commissioners.

DENIED RIGHTS

In presenting his argument to the court, Resnick said that the state board had no right to deny the Emmitsburg appeal when it had granted hearings to previous school consolidation complaints. Resnick was attorney for a group from Taneytown protesting a school consolidation move.

Judges Patrick M. Schnauffer and Ralph G. Shure of Montgomery County ruled that the state board should have granted a hearing to the Emmitsburg group and withheld all information pending a hearing.

Dr. John L. Carnochan, Frederick County superintendent, said that under a temporary injunction contained in the suit, the school system could do nothing to plan or construct the new Catoctin High School at the Thurmont location until the suit is settled.

BRING COURT ACTION

R. J. Kline and J. S. Witte, trading as K. and W. Tire Co., Lancaster, have brought an action in assumpsit in Adams County court, according to papers filed in the prothonotary's office, against George R. Hoffman, Gettysburg R. 2, alleging he owes them $537.15 for tires.

Scholarship Fund To Be Increased

The county Extension Homemakers' Scholarship Fund now totals $39.12. Contributions from homemakers' groups will be added to the Lydia Tarrant Extension Homemakers' Scholarship Fund at the annual banquet on June 16, Mrs. Wade Brown, Littlestown, chairman, said today.

Last year 20 scholarships of $200 each were given in 14 Pennsylvania schools where home economics was taught. The applicants must have a Sophomore standing before qualifying for the scholarship. Applicants with 4-H experience are given preference but others may apply.

A student should apply through the head of the departments of the college she is attending.

NEW PRIEST COMING HERE

REV. FR. HALABURDA

St. Mary's Seminary, Roland Park, Baltimore, and was ordained March 14, 1959.

He served as assistant pastor for three years at Sacred Heart of Jesus Church, Lewistown, Pa. He was then transferred to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, York, where he served in the same capacity. After eight months in York Father Halaburda went to Lebanon, where he served as assistant pastor at Assumption B.V.M. Church and as auxiliary chaplain at the Veterans' Administration Hospital.

COUNTY LOW BIDDER

Maitland Bros., Littlestown contractor, was the unofficial low bidder at $140,035 for reconstruction of state highway Rt. 316 on S. Potomac Ave., Waynesboro, according to the state Highway Department. The specifications call for rebuilding .67 mile of the highway in the borough. The contract is expected to be awarded officially within the next few weeks.

FIREMEN CALLED

Gettysburg firemen were called Friday evening when a fire occurred in a small shed at the rear of 31 S. Washington St. No damage was reported.

OFFER PRIZES TO HS SENIORS FOR ART WORK

The Adams County Arts and Crafts Guild today announced plans for an art contest confined to the members of the Senior Classes of the county's high schools.

The art work will be on display May 28 and 29 at the Gettysburg Youth Center on N. Washington St. A total of $50 in prizes will be given.

Mrs. W. K. Diehl, president of the Arts and Crafts Guild, said Clara E. Peck and Mrs. George Engelke will be the judges.

PRIZES FOR 5 DIVISIONS

All art instructors of the county have been asked to urge seniors in their classes to place their work in the various divisions. There will be a $10 prize in each of the five divisions—drawing, water color, design, crafts and general.

Contestants are asked to enter their art work by next Wednesday night. The public is invited to visit the Youth Center from 7 until 11 o'clock on both Friday and Saturday evening, May 28 and 29 to see the display of work of the young artists. The contestants will remove their works between 1 and 4 p.m. on May 30.

According to the notice sent the art teachers, students are asked to place their work by 7 p.m. May 26 with either Frederick Hughes, 333 Baltimore St., or Mrs. W. K. Diehl, Rice Ave., Biglerville.

Mrs. Diehl said drawings may be in pencil, pen and ink, crayon, charcoal etc.; water colors may be tempera, transparent, finger paint etc.; designs may be fine or applied; crafts include wood cuts, linoleum blocks, puppets, papermache, metal, jewelry, ceramics. "General" includes oil paintings, posters, "or any other medium not included in the other classes." The contest, Mrs. Diehl said, is designed to "offer some encouragement for the young artists."

Will Study Violin In West Berlin

John R. Eaken, son of Mrs. Mary Eaken, Gardeners R. 2, has received a $6,000 music scholarship which will enable him to study violin at the International Music Camp, West Berlin for four weeks.

Mrs. Eaken said her son had been trained from the age of 3½ years until five years ago by his father and then went to study in Philadelphia under Edgar Ortenberg. Eaken will leave for West Germany on July 17.

PLEADS GUILTY

Otis A. Snook, Gettysburg R. 3, entered pleas of guilty to charges of failure to stop at the scene of an accident and reckless driving at an arraignment before Justice of the Peace John Whitman Friday evening. He was ordered to pay a $25 fine and the costs on each charge. In default of payment, he was returned to jail. Snook's car damaged shrubbery and a gas regulator at the property of Jerome I. Brady, R. 6, the evening of May 16.

LITTLESTOWN BOY IS FIRST IN JOB CORPS

Robert Stottlmyer, 18-year-old son of Mrs. Louise Stottlmyer, Littlestown R. 2, today was announced as the first Adams County youth to be accepted for the Job Corps.

The local state employment office received word from the federal agency to have the Littlestown area youth sworn in Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock preparatory to going to Kilmer Job Corps Center at Delton, N. J. Gettysburg Postmaster Charles W. Pentz will administer the oath at the post office here in the presence of Mrs. Stottlmyer and Employment Service officials.

The youth, who had attended Littlestown High School and since then has held a number of short-term jobs, was among the first from the county to make application for the corps and was the first accepted.

TO LEARN TRADE

While the Job Corps asks potential candidates what type trade they wish to learn, Stottlmyer listed no preference, asking for "whatever I might be fitted for."

Designed to teach young men and women trades, the Job Corps is opening a number of centers throughout the country to teach trades. It was not known here which trades are taught at Kilmer. Stottlmyer will leave here for Kilmer immediately after being sworn in.

How long he will be there depends on the youth himself. The Job Corps asks that the applicant promise to stay for four months—after that he can leave at any time. However, it is hoped that he will stay until he has learned the trade being taught him. The longest he can remain in the corps is two years.

MAY APPLY LOCALLY

During his training, Stottlmyer will receive $30 a month spending money. Fifty dollars a month will be placed in a fund for him. He will be given the amount as a lump sum when he leaves the corps. The amount is designed to "give a start" to the graduate. The government will provide transportation to home and back once during the two-year period.

The Littlestown area youth had to write to Washington to put in his application. Now the applications can be placed at the local Pennsylvania State Employment office on West St.

Youths who have dependents can secure an allotment for their dependent while taking Job Corps training. The Employment Service office said. A $50 a month allotment is sent the dependent, and the Job Corps trainee under those circumstances will receive $25 a month to be given as a lump sum at the end of the training, plus the regular $30 a month "spending money" allowance.

90 Jet Bombers Destroy 37 Military Buildings In Massive Attack Today

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A massive force of U.S. Air Force planes slammed bombs into the Quang Suoi military barracks in North Viet Nam today in the closest raid so far to the Communist capital of Hanoi.

Ninety Air Force jets destroyed 37 buildings in the target area which stretched from 55 to 60 miles due south of Hanoi, U.S. military spokesmen said.

On one previous occasion U.S. planes had gone nearer to Hanoi but that was to drop leaflets.

50 JET ESCORTS

No planes were reported lost in today's series of air strikes which began with small-scale Navy reconnaissance raids shortly after midnight, and ended with the mass assault on Quang Suoi Barracks early this afternoon. Forty U.S. Air Force F105

The announcement stated that Miss Murdock was selected by the committee from a large number of applicants who are sons and daughters of Inland Container employees.

Nancy will enroll in the fall at Marietta College, Marietta, O., in the liberal arts curriculum.

B. P. MAGUIRE DIES AT HOME HERE FRIDAY

at his home, 48 E. Middle St. He had suffered a heart attack and was hospitalized in January.

Friday afternoon he was watching television when he suddenly slumped forward. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, said death was caused by a coronary occlusion.

The deceased was a son of the late John F. and Margaret E. (Wassem) Maguire. He was born November 2, 1895, in New Oxford. Later the family moved to Philadelphia, where his father died in 1905. His mother died January 10, 1961, in Gettysburg.

Mr. Maguire was first employed by The Times in 1910. As a youth of 15, he served as a carrier for the then eight-year-old newspaper, earning $1.15 a week. He later was employed by the Gettysburg post office, then located in the first block of York St. On August 4, 1913, he left this position to accept a full-time post as a "printer's devil" for the newspaper, which then was located on Lincoln Square. JURY BLAMES WOMAN DRIVER FROM HANOVER FOR FATALITY

A coroner's jury Friday afternoon ruled that the death of Mrs. Ruth N. Fuhrman, 34, Littlestown, in an auto accident February 18 was "caused by the excessive speed and careless operation" of a car driven by Mrs. Betty E. Leese, 33, Hanover.

Mrs. Fuhrman's battered body was found after 3:15 on the morning of February 18 in a pool of blood 96 feet from the wrecked car of Mrs. Leese in a quarry just north of Littlestown on the Gettysburg pike, according to testimony given at the inquest conducted by the county coroner, Dr. C. G. Crist, in the courthouse here. Her death, Dr. Crist said, was caused by a compound fracture of the skull and a broken neck.

BODY FOUND

Littlestown Police Chief Edward T. Kowalczyk, first officer on the scene, testified he found "a badly wrecked car, upside down in a hole at the quarry." He called the state police by radio. "Renner's tow truck lifted the side of the car so the ambulance crew could get the woman out, and we found by that time she was alive, but badly hurt. It was Mrs. Leese."

State Policeman Harold Herring testified that Littlestown firemen and others were summoned to search for the missing Mrs. Fuhrman. After a time her body was found 96 feet from the car, beside a pile of concrete blocks.

Trooper Herring said Mrs. Fuhrman had obviously been thrown to the spot where she was found. "She was in a pool of blood and there was no blood anywhere else, nor had she struck the pile of concrete blocks, although her body was practically against it."

Mrs. Leese did not testify at the inquest, on advice of her counsel, Attorney S. M. Raffensperger.

Trooper Herring said he had visited Mrs. Leese three times while she was a patient at the Warner Hospital here and she (Continued on Page 3)

250 SCOUTERS AT CAMPOREE FOR WEEKEND

Two hundred fifty Boy Scouts and leaders from throughout the county are gathered at the Clapsaddle quarry area, just off the Gettysburg-Littlestown Rd. south of here, for the annual Black Walnut Boy Scout District camporee which will close Sunday afternoon.

The youths set up their three-day "tent city" Friday night and will break camp Sunday afternoon.

While most of Friday evening was devoted to readying the camp for the weekend stay, today was given over to a full day of scout activities.

Friday night the members of the 11 troops represented were divided into 33 patrols to take part in the "Gold Rush" contest today.

CANCEL CUB PICNIC

For the competition, each of the patrols will be given various "problems" which might have occurred had they been a group taking part in the Gold Rush during the last century. Each of the problems involves use of some scouting skill for its solution. How well the scouting skill is put to use will determine the score made in the solution of each problem.

All of the neighborhood commissioners and numbers of the Explorer Scouts of the district are serving as judges and as officials in connection with the "Gold Rush" competition.

Stanley C. Rogers, scout field executive with the group at its encampment has announced that the Cub Scout picnic, scheduled to be held this evening at the camporee has been cancelled "for reasons beyond our control."

Church School Class To Continue Study

The Adult Sunday Church School Class of Christ Lutheran Church, which has completed the first section in a study of "The Mighty Acts of God" under the leadership of Dr. Eric Griffls of the seminary faculty will continue to meet at the same time and place, 9:30 a.m. in the social room.

Sunday and May 30 the class will be taught by Dr. Howard N. Bream, of the seminary faculty, who will present two studies on the second part of the book of Daniel.

STOLEN GOYA RECOVERED IN BAGGAGE ROOM

LONDON (AP)—The $392,000 Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington, stolen from the National Gallery in 1961, has been returned, in good condition.

The painting was recovered in Birmingham Friday night from a baggage room in a railroad station. It was then taken to London where it was identified today as the missing portrait.

An unidentified person had sent the baggage ticket to a London newspaper office and police were notified.

A joint statement was issued by the London Metropolitan Police and the National Gallery. They said:

"The portrait appears to be in good condition but it will not be exhibited until it has been subjected to expert examination."

KNOW PAINTING

A letter, accompanying the baggage ticket to the newspaper appeared to be in the same handwriting as others sent to news agencies since the disappearance of the painting. Detectives believe these letters, and this one, were written by someone who had the Goya in his possession. The writer knew details of the back of the painting that none others would know.

The Goya had been sold at Sotheby's Auction to an American buyer for 140,000 pounds ($392,000) in June 1961. There was an outcry from the British public about the art treasure leaving the country. The portrait then was bought in August 1961 for the original purchase price and put in the National Gallery. On Aug. 22, it was stolen.

WILL ORDAIN CANDIDATES

The ordination of new ministerial candidates highlight today's events of the three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at the South Mountain Fairgrounds, near Arendtsville.

The training program opened Friday night as David J. Thomas, district supervisor, spoke on "Willingly Fulfill Your Ministry." Basing his talk on Psalms 110:3, he stressed the importance of all Christians having an active part in teaching God's Word.

Thomas, when discussing today's baptism, said: "A church with one minister is an average situation. Some large churches have two ministers, but to have 20 to 30 ministers for one congregation is unusual to say the least. Yet this is one of the unique things about the congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses. 'In fact that is the goal of each congregation — to develop its entire membership, young and old, to share in the preaching and teaching fellowship. This was the original standard for Christians in Jesus' day, and this is our goal.'"

A stage dramatization will round out this evening's program, in which Mr. Thomas will encourage all delegates to examine their own personal ministry with a view to expansion.

The Bible seminar will climax Sunday at 3 p.m. with the address, "The Moral Breakdown — What Can Be Done About It?" The meeting will be free and open to the public.

OFFICIAL TALLY IS NEARING END

Adams County's commissioners and special clerks John Schwartz and Luther M. Lady expected to complete the official count of the ballots cast in Tuesday's election "sometime this afternoon."

Tabulation at the courthouse began at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and continued to 11 o'clock Friday night, when the group adjourned to continue with the counting this morning.

The tabulation has broken the tie in Biglerville for the Republican nomination for tax collector. The unofficial tally Tuesday night showed Robert M. Gillelan and Donald Blocher had 78 votes each. The commissioners said this morning the official count put Blocher one vote ahead of Gillelan. However there are still three absentee ballots to be counted.

However the official count did cause a tie that had not appeared on the unofficial tabulation in Reading Twp. Unofficially Harry Albert had won the Republican nomination for tax collector with 43 votes compared to 42 for Carl Snyder. The official count brought Albert and Snyder into a tie. Snyder, a Democrat, was low of four men seeking the Democratic nomination, and now is tied by a sticker campaign, for the Republican nomination.

Ray Tilley Wins Fourth Stock Race

MECHANICSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Ray Tilley of Fredericksburg has got into the winning habit this season at Williams Grove Speedway.

Friday night he won his fourth straight 25-lap feature for modified stock cars. He has yet to lose.

Tilley, starting in the 18th position, took the lead on the seventh lap and finished nine lengths ahead of Donald Kolar of Harrisburg. Johnny Crawford of Bloomsburg was third.

APPROVE CLOTURE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Pennsylvania senators, Democrat Joseph S. Clark and Republican Hugh Scott declared Friday they were for cloture, which would cut off debate on President Johnson's Negro voting rights bill.

TUESDAY IS SHOWDOWN ON VOTING BILL

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic strategists claimed today the votes — plus a bonus margin — to end the Senate debate on President Johnson's voting rights bill.

It will take two-thirds of the senators voting to clamp down on the talk when the showdown comes Tuesday, one hour after the Senate begins its 24th day on the bill.

That would mean 67 votes if all 100 senators were on hand. Privately, Democrats said they could supply 47 of that number.

But aides said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, does not plan to be in Washington for the vote.

NEED 20 GOP

If the Democrats meet their forecast, at least 20 Republican votes would be needed for the Senate to invoke cloture — its debate limitation rule. GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen already has said he can deliver 24 votes.

An Associated Press survey put the count now at 58 to 26, with eight senators undecided and eight so far undisclosed.

Two Democrats who announced their favor cloture — Joseph Montoya of New Mexico and Ross Bass of Tennessee — occupy the Senate seats held last year by men who opposed it.

GORE UNDECIDED

Democratic aides did not identify the third shift they hope to see Tuesday. Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who opposed cloture in 1964, said he has not yet decided how he will vote.

Other Democrats stuck with the positions they took in the 1964 vote, when 44 of them voted to halt the civil rights debate. But Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Meb., who voted in the 1964 debate, said he will vote against cloture Tuesday. Curtis said he would favor debate limitation later, but not next week.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Republican policy committee and another supporter of the 1964 cloture move, said he was not prepared to disclose his stand on Tuesday's vote.

Johnson's bill would automatically authorize federal registration in states and counties which used literacy tests and saw the 1964 voter turnout dip below 50 per cent. Five Southern States and parts of two others meet its automatic triggering terms. In those areas, state literacy tests would be suspended.

Four Couples Seek Marriage Licenses

The following couples have applied for marriage licenses at the courthouse:

Raymond Francis Kuhn, son of Mrs. Elsie N. Kuhn, Biglerville, and the late Raymond G. Kuhn, and Miss Suzanne D. Wolff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton D. Wolff, Gettysburg R. 6.

Says Aid Denial Burdens Catholics

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Denial of federal aid to Catholic schools "is an injustice bearing down heavily on the shoulders of every Catholic American," according to Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

"The present situation amounts to a double taxation of those Americans who send their children to private schools," Dodd said Friday.

Speaking at ceremonies marking the 75th anniversary of the founding of Roman Catholic High School, Dodd added, "I believe justice demands a reappraisal and readjustment of this situation, so out of step with reality."

He added, "We must look to the ways in which Catholic schools have helped mold the American way and how they have played a dynamic role in the development of our democracy."

STOLEN GOYA RECOVERED IN BAGGAGE ROOM

LONDON (AP)—The $392,000 Goya portrait of the Duke of Wellington, stolen from the National Gallery in 1961, has been returned, in good condition.

The painting was recovered in Birmingham Friday night from a baggage room in a railroad station. It was then taken to London where it was identified today as the missing portrait.

An unidentified person had sent the baggage ticket to a London newspaper office and police were notified.

A joint statement was issued by the London Metropolitan Police and the National Gallery. They said:

"The portrait appears to be in good condition but it will not be exhibited until it has been subjected to expert examination."

KNEW PAINTING

A letter, accompanying the baggage ticket to the newspaper appeared to be in the same handwriting as others sent to news agencies since the disappearance of the painting. Detectives believe these letters, and this one, were written by someone who had the Goya in his possession. The writer knew details of the back of the painting that none others would know.

The Goya had been sold at Sotheby's Auction to an American buyer for 140,000 pounds ($392,000) in June 1961. There was an outcry from the British public about the art treasure leaving the country. The portrait then was bought in August 1961 for the original purchase price and put in the National Gallery. On Aug. 22, it was stolen.

WILL ORDAIN CANDIDATES

The ordination of new ministerial candidates highlight today's events of the three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at the South Mountain Fairgrounds, near Arendtsville.

The training program opened Friday night as David J. Thomas, district supervisor, spoke on "Willingly Fulfill Your Ministry." Basing his talk on Psalms 110:3, he stressed the importance of all Christians having an active part in teaching God's Word.

Thomas, when discussing today's baptism, said: "A church with one minister is an average situation. Some large churches have two ministers, but to have 20 to 30 ministers for one congregation is unusual to say the least. Yet this is one of the unique things about the congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses. 'In fact that is the goal of each congregation — to develop its entire membership, young and old, to share in the preaching and teaching fellowship. This was the original standard for Christians in Jesus' day, and this is our goal.'"

A stage dramatization will round out this evening's program, in which Mr. Thomas will encourage all delegates to examine their own personal ministry with a view to expansion.

The Bible seminar will climax Sunday at 3 p.m. with the address, "The Moral Breakdown — What Can Be Done About It?" The meeting will be free and open to the public.

OFFICIAL TALLY IS NEARING END

Adams County's commissioners and special clerks John Schwartz and Luther M. Lady expected to complete the official count of the ballots cast in Tuesday's election "sometime this afternoon."

Tabulation at the courthouse began at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon and continued to 11 o'clock Friday night, when the group adjourned to continue with the counting this morning.

The tabulation has broken the tie in Biglerville for the Republican nomination for tax collector. The unofficial tally Tuesday night showed Robert M. Gillelan and Donald Blocher had 78 votes each. The commissioners said this morning the official count put Blocher one vote ahead of Gillelan. However there are still three absentee ballots to be counted.

However the official count did cause a tie that had not appeared on the unofficial tabulation in Reading Twp. Unofficially Harry Albert had won the Republican nomination for tax collector with 43 votes compared to 42 for Carl Snyder. The official count brought Albert and Snyder into a tie. Snyder, a Democrat, was low of four men seeking the Democratic nomination, and now is tied, by a sticker campaign, for the Republican nomination.

Ray Tilley Wins Fourth Stock Race

MECHANICSBURG, Pa. (AP) —Ray Tilley of Fredericksburg has got into the winning habit this season at Williams Grove Speedway.

Friday night he won his fourth straight 25-lap feature for modified stock cars. He has yet to lose.

Tilley, starting in the 18th position, took the lead on the seventh lap and finished nine lengths ahead of Donald Kolar of Harrisburg. Johnny Crawford of Bloomsburg was third.

TUESDAY IS SHOWDOWN ON VOTING BILL

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic strategists claimed today the votes — plus a bonus margin — to end the Senate debate on President Johnson's voting rights bill.

It will take two-thirds of the senators voting to clamp down on the talk when the showdown comes Tuesday, one hour after the Senate begins its 24th day on the bill.

That would mean 67 votes if all 100 senators were on hand. Privately, Democrats said they could supply 47 of that number.

But aides said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, does not plan to be in Washington for the vote. NEED 20 GOP

If the Democrats meet their forecast, at least 20 Republican votes would be needed for the Senate to invoke cloture — its debate limitation rule. GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen already has said he can deliver 24 votes.

An Associated Press survey put the count now at 58 to 26, with eight senators undecided and eight so far undisclosed.

Two Democrats who announced their favor cloture — Joseph Montoya of New Mexico and Ross Bass of Tennessee — occupy the Senate seats held last year by men who opposed it.

GORE UNDECIDED

Democratic aides did not identify the third shift they hope to see Tuesday. Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., who opposed cloture in 1964, said he has not yet decided how he will vote.

Other Democrats stuck with the positions they took in the 1964 vote, when 44 of them voted to halt the civil rights debate.

But Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., who voted to end the 1964 debate, said he will vote against cloture Tuesday. Curtis said he would favor debate limitation later, but not next week.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Republican policy committee and another supporter of the 1964 cloture move, said he was not prepared to disclose his stand on Tuesday's vote.

Johnson's bill would automatically authorize federal registration in states and counties which used literacy tests and saw the 1964 voter turnout dip below 50 per cent. Five Southern states and parts of two others meet its automatic triggering terms. In those areas, state literacy tests would be suspended.

BLAME WATER LEVEL IN DAM FOR FISH KILL

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Deaths of 60 tons of herring in the Conowingo Dam and Susquehanna River early this month was due to failure of the Susquehanna Power Co. to maintain an adequate flow of water, Maryland officials said today.

The shortage of water came at a "critical time when one of the largest migrations and concentrations of herring was occurring in the dam race and at the peak of their spawning run," said a statement by the Game & Inland Fish Commission.

"Fortunately the white shad run had not occurred at this time and thus a danger to commercial fishery loss was prevented."

George B. Shields, director of the commission, said authorities of the power company had to recognize their obligation that "fish life in the Susquehanna both above and below the dam must be preserved and increased by the greatest extent possible."

He said the statement is contained in a compact between the state and the utility "with respect to the management of this very valuable resident and migratory population."

Shields said the utility has initiated a program to maintain a minimum flow of water to 5,000 cubic feet a second "to establish a dissolved oxygen content of five parts per million."

Shields said the first mass herring kill took place May 4 and another a week later.

"Water supply for power generation and other human needs will require constant review by natural resources agencies in order to maintain fisheries in Maryland waters," Shields said.

He will institute a revised emergency survey system "in order to quickly survey the problem areas and help alleviate any similar future mortalities."

He advised that dead fish will continue to appear on the shorelines of the Susquehanna during the next several weeks.

TO STOCK TROUT

The Greenmount Fire Co. today announced plans to place 300 brown trout in Lake Sam Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Fred Green, of the fire department, said trout that had been stocked previously are being moved to the lower lake, and "fishermen will have to be 'fishermen' to catch the 300 going into the upper part of the two-lake area created by the firemen near Natural Dam and named by them as 'Lake Sam.'" told him she no recollections of the accident or of where she and Mrs. Fuhrman had been on the night before the accident. Testimony was unclear but indicated the possibility that Mrs. Fuhrman may have been at a meeting of the Auxiliary of the Littlestown Eagles until about 10:30 on the night preceding the early morning accident.

The state policeman said skid marks, apparently made by a southbound car, were on the northbound lane of the Gettysburg-Littlestown Rd. "about half way around the curve toward Littlestown" near the quarry. The skid marks extended south 32 feet to the term, then the tire marks continued 17 feet to a point where the car apparently hit a guard post, then 14 feet to where it struck another guard post, then 17 feet to where it hit a third guard post, then 12 feet to where it hit a utility pole, snapping off the top of the pole which was hurled 42 feet to the other side of Route 140. The car continued 15 feet and hit a two-inch steel pole holding a mailbox, bending over and uprooting the pole, at that point, the officer said, the car apparently flipped over on its top and scraped marks continue for 20 feet to an eight-foot deep embankment.

The car apparently hurtled through the air for 26 feet across the embankment and finally came to rest on its roof in a hole in the quarry. He said the car traveled 104 feet from where it hit the first guard post.

GOING 90 MPH

The officer said he believes the car "must have been traveling 90 miles an hour" at the time the first skid marks appeared.

Officers Herring said the wrecked car was owned by Mrs. Leese's husband, Kenneth S. Leese. He added that Mrs. Leese was the apparent driver of the auto.

Harold Fisher, who resided at the time at the quarry, was the first to see the wreck, Officer Herring said. When he heard a loud noise and "thought the furnace had blown up." He saw a car smashed down on its roof about 50 feet from the house. He attempted to phone, but found the telephone was dead — the line had been broken when the utility pole was hit by the car. Fisher drove to Littlestown to alert Officer Kowalczyk and summon the ambulance.

WITNESS GONE

Officer Herring, asked by the coroner to say why Fisher was not present to testify, said he has since "disappeared."

Clark L. Fuhrman, Crouse Park, Littlestown, husband of the deceased woman, testified to identifying the body of his wife at the quarry.

Fuhrman said he did not know where his wife and Mrs. Leese were that night. He said he worked the night shift at the Littlestown Hardware and Foundry. He last saw his wife, he said, at noon on the day preceding the accident when she came home from work for lunch. He assumed she had gone to Littlestown Eagles Auxiliary meeting. He said he ended his work at the foundry about 2 o'clock the morning of the accident and had gone to a diner to eat. He was eating when someone summoned him to the quarry.

Photographs taken at the scene of the accident about a half hour after its occurrence were shown by C. Robert Ziegler, W. Middle St. photographer.

Members of the jury which heard the case included Lloyd Palmer, John Pitzer, Francis Felix, Thomas Adams, Mrs. Betty Yingling and G. Henry Roth, foreman.

RHINEHART SERVICE

Funeral services for Rev. Paul E. Rhinehart, 68, who died Monday in the Carroll County Hospital in Westminster were held at Taneytown Evangelical United Brethren Church Wednesday afternoon. COUNTIANS AT PARC SESSIONS

Four members of the Adams County chapter of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children attended the 15th annual convention of the state PARC in the Penn Harris Hotel in Harrisburg recently. The county delegation included President Evers Rinehart, Mr. and Mrs. William Riley and Earl Schmidt.

The keynote address was given by State Secretary of Public Welfare Arlin M. Adams and Governor William S. Scranton spoke at the convention luncheon on the theme "Action With Vision."

The problems of the retarded child, his family, his school, his work and his church were discussed by speakers and panelists. "Through the understanding of the community and with its help through the schools, the church, the medical facilities and the sheltered workshops many retarded persons today are leading active and productive lives," the convention was told.

Research is helping reduce the ratio of retarded children being born by such tests as the "PKU", by better prenatal and postnatal care and education of mothers, while state and federal agencies are increasing their activities in behalf of the retarded, it was brought out at the state sessions. Programs to educate the public, help in preventing retardation and to develop the abilities of the retarded are being promoted by foundations, notably the Joseph F. Kennedy Jr. Foundation. On the final day of the convention, a group of retarded and handicapped from the Selinsgrove State School and Hospital presented a program in recreation, physical education, occupational therapy and music.

DELAY SHAKEUP

On the political front, the long-awaited reshuffle of Premier Phan Huy Quat's government was expected to be announced this weekend. The shakeup announcement had been scheduled for Friday but Vietnamese sources said it was delayed by a reported plot against Quat and key military leaders.

Reports indicated that the air strikes were only partly successful.

A military spokesman said four A4 Skyhawks ranging over Communist territory Friday night spotted 20 trucks parked in a clearing off route 16 about 120 miles south of Hanoi.

POUND WITH ROCKETS

They hammered at the area for 10 minutes with 25-pound bombs and rockets, and reported leaving one truck burning.

The pilots also reported that a building near the clearing burst into flames. It was believed the building was a gasoline storage dump.

In the Marine operation below Hue, the Viet Cong appeared to have evacuated the area from 3 minutes to an hour ahead of the Marines, leaving behind equipment and ammunition.

Snipers harassed the Marines during the day, but there were no reports of casualties.

Frying Chickens In Demand On Market

Young frying chickens were in great demand this morning at Farmers' Market at 50c a pound and supplies of loose garden lettuce were exhausted quickly at 20c a box. New onions were offered at 10c a bunch and asparagus continued at 40c a bunch.

Rhubarb was plentiful at 25c a bunch.

Eggs continued at 45c and 50c a dozen; apples were 35c a quarter peck and 50c a half peck; local white potatoes were 30c a quarter peck and 50c a half peck. Apple butter was 50c a jar, horseradish was 10c to $1 a jar and schnitz were 40c a package. Dried corn was 30c a bag.

Fruit pies were 50c and 55c each, cakes were $1.25 to $1.50 each.

$250 Damage In Auto Accident

Damage was estimated at $250 when one car ran into another 3.3 miles east of Bonneauville on the Hanover Rd. Friday morning at 8:15.

State police said Joseph F. Kerrigan, 18, 426 E. Middle St., was driving east and slowed for a slower moving vehicle ahead.

According to the officers, a car operated by Richard Allen Rohanna, 17, Gettysburg R. 2, following the Kerrigan car, could not slow quickly enough. Rohanna attempted to pass the Kerrigan vehicle, police said, and the right front of his car struck the left rear of the Kerrigan auto. The Rohanna auto then crossed the highway and broke off a lamp post at the property of Mrs. Armin Hostetter. Police said no one was injured and estimated the damage at $100 to each car and $50 to the lamp post.

Factory Building Collapses In Flames

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A three-story factory building in Philadelphia's Kensington section, collapsed in blazing rubble Friday when a six-alarm fire and series of explosions wrecked it.

Thirty employees fled the plant, the Keystone Laminating Co. Three persons suffered injuries trying to put out the blaze.

Dense smoke from burning piles of foam rubber spread through the neighborhood. Firemen and policemen ordered residents of nearby homes to get out in case the flames should spread.

Firemen said the fire apparently started on the second floor when an electrical wire broke, fell to the floor and ignited a pile of foam rubber.

ACCUSE 2 IN BOOK THEFTS

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — A former librarian at the Scranton Public Library and a New Brunswick, N.J. book dealer will be retried in federal court in Harrisburg on June 8 on charges they conspired to steal valuable books and documents from a local library.

The new trial date was announced Friday by T. Harold Campion, clerk of the court, after a conference with Judge Michael H. Sheridan.

The former librarian, Richard F. Caverly, and book dealer James S. Rizek were convicted on one count each of stealing government property at a trial earlier this year. The jury could not agree on five other counts in the indictment.

A retrial on those counts was ordered to start here Thursday. However, Sheridan granted a continuance when defense lawyers asserted that widespread publicity of the first trial would be prejudicial to their clients.

Tour Of Alaska Full Of Hazards

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Agriculture Department official Byron G. Allen has wound up his first trip to Alaska. It may be his last.

On his arrival in Fairbanks, Allen landed in the hospital with intestinal flu.

Released Thursday, he was invited to go on a flying tour of the Tanana Valley. At the airport, he walked into the wing tip of an airplane, injuring his right eye.

The eye was treated and bandaged at a hospital. Allen planned to return to Washington today.

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The government declared a state of siege throughout Colombia Friday to halt student demonstrations in this capital and the cities of Medellin and Cali. The demonstrations started Monday as a protest against U.S. policy in the Dominican Republic.

They tell us, that democracy is not only for the people of the United States but the world and that it is up to us to set aside our calculated egotism, our unreadiness to help others, to prepare ourselves to be the type persons whose actions and efforts can win the minds of men and give to posterity the gift handed us by our predecessors."

Nine Snyder Co. Districts Appeal

HARRISBURG (AP) — Nine Snyder County school districts petitioned Commonwealth Court Thursday to set aside the school reorganization plan drawn up by the state Board of Education.

The petitioning districts asked that the court approved instead the Snyder County plan of administrative units. They contended that the 1963 act providing for reorganization was "an unconstitutional delegation of legislative powers."

Districts joining in the appeal were the townships of Jackson, Monroe, Penn. Union, Washington, and Chapman, and the boroughs of Shamokin Dam, Freeseburg, and Selinsgrove.

FLOOD AREAS BREED GIANT MOSQUITOES

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH CHICAGO (AP) — A farmer's son develops lumps as big as baseballs.

A St. Louis pediatrician says he has "never seen it so bad."

A university professor says, "I've never heard so many people complaining."

The incidents concern floodwater mosquitoes, a vicious brand of insect that breeds best on spring flood waters.

Thousands of acres of rich farmland were strampled last month when the Mississippi River flooded its banks from Minnesota to Kentucky.

LEFT MOSQUITOES

The flood waters have receded but left an irritating legacy — mosquitoes.

"It's simple," says Prof. W. R. Horsfall, University of Illinois entomologist, "the more area you get under water, the more mosquitoes."

Mosquito outbreaks have been reported in many cities in Illinois, Missouri and Kentucky. Health officials in Benton and Paducah, Ky., have described the situation as the worst in 10 years.

Adding to the complaints is the fear the mosquito-borne encephalitis (inflammation of the brain), which claimed several lives in Illinois last year, may break out again.

WORST IN HISTORY

St. Louis officials describe the mosquito infestation as possibly the worst in modern history.

Dr. Raymond Hellweg, 33, a St. Louis pediatrician, said he and his colleagues have "never seen it so bad."

"Instead of little lumps, some of the bites cover quite large areas," he said. "A few are as big as baseballs."

The huge bites aren't because the mosquitoes are different, Hellweg said, "but because they're bigger than I have ever seen."

River cities in northern Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota have stepped up mosquito abatement programs.

BLAME WATER LEVEL IN DAM FOR FISH KILL

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Deaths of 60 tons of herring in the Conowingo Dam and Susquehanna River early this month was due to failure of the Susquehanna Power Co. to maintain an adequate flow of water, Maryland officials said today.

The shortage of water came at a "critical time when one of the largest migrations and concentrations of herring was occurring in the dam race and at the peak of their spawning run," said a statement by the Game & Inland Fish Commission.

"Fortunately the white shad run had not occurred at this time and thus a danger to commercial fishery loss was prevented."

George B. Shields, director of the commission, said authorities of the power company had to recognize their obligation that "fish life in the Susquehanna both above and below the dam must be preserved and increased by the greatest extent possible."

He said the statement is contained in a compact between the state and the utility "with respect to the management of this very valuable resident and migratory population."

Shields said the utility has initiated a program to maintain a minimum flow of water to 5,000 cubic feet a second "to establish a dissolved oxygen content of five parts per million."

Shields said the first mass herring kill took place May 4 and another a week later.

"Water supply for power generation and other human needs will require constant review by natural resources agencies in order to maintain fisheries in Maryland waters," Shields said.

He will institute a revised emergency survey system "in order to quickly survey the problem areas and help alleviate any similar future mortalities."

He advised that dead fish will continue to appear on the shorelines of the Susquehanna during the next several weeks.

with flamethrowers burned huts, many containing ammunition.

On the political front, the long-awaited reshuffle of Premier Phan Huy Quat's government was expected to be announced this weekend. The shakeup announcement had been scheduled for Friday but Vietnamese sources said it was delayed by a reported plot against Quat and key military leaders.

Reports indicated that the air strikes were only partly successful.

A military spokesman said four A4 Skyhawks ranging over Communist territory Friday night spotted 20 trucks parked in a clearing off route 16 about 120 miles south of Hanoi.

POUND WITH ROCKETS

They hammered at the area for 10 minutes with 25-pound bombs and rockets, and reported leaving one truck burning.

The pilots also reported that a building near the clearing burst into flames. It was believed the building was a gasoline storage dump.

In the Marine operation below Hue, the Viet Cong appeared to have evacuated the area from 3 minutes to an hour ahead of the Marines, leaving behind equipment and ammunition.

Snipers harassed the Marines during the day, but there were no reports of casualties.

Frying Chickens In Demand On Market

Young frying chickens were in great demand this morning at Farmers' Market at 50c a pound and supplies of loose garden lettuce were exhausted quickly at 20c a box. New onions were offered at 10c a bunch and asparagus continued at 40c a bunch.

Rhubarb was plentiful at 25c a bunch.

Eggs continued at 45c and 50c a dozen; apples were 35c a quarter peck and 50c a half peck; local white potatoes were 30c a quarter peck and 50c a half peck. Apple butter was 50c a jar, horseradish was 10c to $1 a jar and schnitz were 40c a package. Dried corn was 30c a bag.

Fruit pies were 50c and 55c each, cakes were $1.25 to $1.50 each.

$250 Damage In Auto Accident

Damage was estimated at $250 when one car ran into another 3.3 miles east of Bonneville on the Hanover Rd. Friday morning at 8:15.

State police said Joseph F. Kerrigan, 38, 426 E. Middle St., was driving east and slowed for a slower moving vehicle ahead.

According to the officers, a car operated by Richard Allen Rohanna, 17, Gettysburg R. 2, following the Kerrigan car, could not slow quickly enough. Rohanna attempted to pass the Kerrigan vehicle, police said, and the right front of his car struck the left rear of the Kerrigan auto. The Rohanna auto then crossed the highway and broke off a lamp post at the property of Mrs. Armin Hostetter. Police said no one was injured and estimated the damage at $100 to each car and $50 to the lamp post.

Factory Building Collapses In Flames

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A three-story factory building in Philadelphia's Kensington section, collapsed in blazing rubble Friday when a six-alarm fire and series of explosions wrecked it.

Thirty employees fled the plant, the Keystone Laminating Co. Three persons suffered injuries trying to put out the blaze.

Dense smoke from burning piles of foam rubber spread through the neighborhood. Firemen and policemen ordered residents of nearby homes to get out in case the flames should spread.

Firemen said the fire apparently started on the second floor when an electrical wire broke, fell to the floor and ignited a pile of foam rubber.

ACCUSE 2 IN BOOK THEFTS

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — A former librarian at the Scranton Public Library and a New Brunswick, N.J. book dealer will be retried in federal court in Harrisburg on June 8 on charges they conspired to steal valuable books and documents from a local library.

The new trial date was announced Friday by T. Harold Campion, clerk of the court, after a conference with Judge Michael H. Sheridan.

The former librarian, Richard F. Caverly, and book dealer James S. Rizek were convicted on one count each of stealing government property at a trial earlier this year. The jury could not agree on five other counts in the indictment.

A retrial on those counts was ordered to start here Thursday. However, Sheridan granted a continuance when defense lawyers asserted that widespread publicity of the first trial would be prejudicial to their clients.

Tour Of Alaska Full Of Hazards

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Agriculture Department official Byron G. Allen has wound up his first trip to Alaska. It may be his last.

On his arrival in Fairbanks, Allen landed in the hospital with intestinal flu.

Released Thursday, he was invited to go on a flying tour of the Tanana Valley. At the airport, he walked into the wing tip of an airplane, injuring his right eye.

The eye was treated and bandaged at a hospital.

Allen planned to return to Washington today.

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The government declared a state of siege throughout Colombia Friday to halt student demonstrations in this capital and the cities of Medellin and Cali. The demonstrations started Monday as a protest against U.S. policy in the Dominican Republic.

that has kept World War III from having already begun. Victory will come only if we, individually, are willing to work and to sacrifice to preserve our Christian tradition and our freedom.

"These memorials we have erected to our heroic dead cry out for us to rededicate ourselves to that cause of freedom, justice and democracy for which they gave their all. They tell us, that democracy is not only for the people of the United States but the world and that it is up to us to set aside our calculated egotism, our unreadiness to help others, to prepare ourselves to be the type persons whose actions and efforts can win the minds of men and give to posterity the gift handed us by our predecessors."

Miss Alice Snyder was the pianist. Dr. Joseph H. Riley served as commander; Paul Snyder, adjutant, and Arthur Warman, chaplain. The roll of drums, honoring the GAR dead, was provided by Harold Ford Jr.

Nine Snyder Co. Districts Appeal

HARRISBURG (AP) — Nine Snyder County school districts petitioned Commonwealth Court Thursday to set aside the school reorganization plan drawn up by the state Board of Education.

The petitioning districts asked that the court approve instead the Snyder County plan of administrative units. They contended that the 1963 act providing for reorganization was "an unconstitutional delegation of legislative powers."

Districts joining in the appeal were the townships of Jackson, Monroe, Penn. Union, Washington, and Chapman, and the boroughs of Shamokin Dam, Freesburg, and Selinsgrove.

TOKYO (AP) — Hundreds of riot policemen guarded the U.S. Embassy Friday as 2,600 militant leftists students marched in downtown Tokyo to protest U.S. action in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic.

FLOOD AREAS BREED GIANT MOSQUITOES

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH CHICAGO (AP) — A farmer's son develops lumps as big as baseballs.

A St. Louis pediatrician says he has "never seen it so bad."

A university professor says, "I've never heard so many people complaining."

The incidents concern flood-water mosquitoes, a vicious brand of insect that breeds best on spring flood waters.

Thousands of acres of rich farmland were swamped last month when the Mississippi River flooded its banks from Minnesota to Kentucky.

The flood waters have receded but left an irritating legacy — mosquitoes.

"It's simple," says Prof. W. R. Horsfall, University of Illinois entomologist, "the more area you get under water, the more mosquitoes."

Mosquito outbreaks have been reported in many cities in Illinois, Missouri and Kentucky. Health officials in Benton and Paducah, Ky., have described the situation as the worst in 10 years.

Adding to the complaints is the fear the mosquito-borne encephalitis (inflammation of the brain), which claimed several lives in Illinois last year, may break out again.

WORST IN HISTORY

St. Louis officials describe the mosquito infestation as possibly the worst in modern history.

Dr. Raymond Hellweg, 33, a St. Louis pediatrician, said he and his colleagues have "never seen it so bad."

"Instead of little lumps, some of the bites cover quite large areas," he said. "A few are as big as baseballs."

The huge bites aren't because the mosquitoes are different, Hellweg said, "but because they're bigger than I have ever seen."

River cities in northern Illinois, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota have stepped up mosquito abatement programs.

TEN YEARS AGO

J. M. Sheads, instructor in history at the Gettysburg High School, was a member of a panel Saturday that discussed recent references and general interest materials on Pennsylvania at a meeting of the South Central Chapter of the Pennsylvania Library Association in Lancaster.

Miss Martha Stallsmith was re-elected president of the Gettysburg Sorority Club at its annual organization meeting held at the YWCA building Tuesday evening. The election followed presentation of the nominating committee report by Mrs. George Ditchburn.

Miss Anne Faber was named "Girl of the Year" by the Epsilon Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at the annual Beta Sigma Phi night dinner Tuesday evening at the American Legion Home, Baltimore St.

The honor came as a surprise to Miss Faber, who was presiding as retiring president of the organization. Usually the honor goes to a member other than the principal officer of the club as a recognition of outstanding work for the organization.

State approval of a 20 by 40-foot concrete block "hobo house" to be constructed on the County Home land was received by the Adams County Commissioners Wednesday.

Next step will be to petition the Adams County Court for its approval, the commissioners said. When all approvals are received bids for construction of the structure will be asked. The building will replace a frame shelter used for years by the transients.

Remodeling of the interior of Shuman's Cut-Rate Store, Baltimore St., and installation of a new glass front have been completed and the official "re-opening" was held today. It will continue Friday and Saturday, C. Ross Shuman, proprietor, announced today.

Mrs. Harold L. Ecker was elected president of the Woman's Club of Gettysburg at a meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the YWCA. Fifty members were in attendance. Mrs. Ecker, former member of the Gettysburg High School faculty, succeeds Mrs. Charles W. Orem, of New Oxford.

A buggy-collecting hobby begun more than a decade ago by a Pittsburgh road contractor has grown into a half-million dollar collection of ancient horse-drawn vehicles to be placed on public display for the first time here Monday and Tuesday, May 23 and 24.

The "Horse 'n Buggy Museum" of the Conte Brothers, rushed into existence in the last 10 weeks at the W. E. Jordan farm a mile from Lincoln Square on the Harrisburg Rd., will be opened to the community for a free inspection from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The "horse and buggy" days may never return to Gettysburg but the buggies have.

Clerks in several stores and those pedestrians who recognized her were excited about seeing the "First Lady" of the land on a shopping expedition in Gettysburg Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, affectionately called "Mamie," shopped in at least two Gettysburg stores, W. T. Grant's and the Acme. Thursday afternoon on a quiet expedition.

Today's Talk

KEEP THAT SPIRIT UP.

You can get a smooth ride in your car when everything is in coordination. You press upon the accelerator and there is immediate and pleasurable response. It's something like that with us when we are free of anxiety of worry and there is a free spirit that responds to our desires.

A lowering of spirit by yourself, or through the wrong suggestion of another, is apt to damage one's whole effort. Keep that spirit up and allow no one, or any event, to move it from its path forward and upward! Keep an unyielding spirit ever burning within you.

Encourage the spirit in others and your spirit will rise. The spirit of a child is often broken by an ill word spoken at the wrong time. This is true of us all. We cannot do our best when our spirit has been broken or thwarted from its upward path. How careful we should be that no one should suffer defeat because of any word of ours. It is so easy to give encouragement.

How often an athletic contest is just through lack of spirit and how often many of us are defeated in a task because we failed to get the right cooperation, or did not have the individual spirit essential to carry us through to a triumph. Keep that spirit up and you will be amazed how easily you keep surpassing your own self! We need an unalterable faith, a stout will, and determination to nourish this spirit of ours, and if it is well nourished, free from all thoughts of defeat, we can well number ourselves among the conquerors!

Keep that spirit up. Never allow it to fall. Pursue whatever purpose you have, and keep it ever before you. Visualize victory! Feel it in your bones, until your entire consciousness is aglow with it. The kind of success that belongs to us is the kind that we work out, in high spirits, by ourselves — asking odds of no one.

Just Folks

DETERMINATION
It is easy to stop. It is hard to go on.

When strength to continue the struggle seems gone,
But all progress was won by the stout hearts that stayed
To face hardship and blunder and loss undismayed.

Not by ways that the easy men come to success.
Who ventures for triumph must courage possess.
There are failures to face, disappointments and jeers,
But the goal will be reached when the right man appears.

Grim failure's a teacher! From every retreat
Man learns as he ventures what not to repeat.
In that respect wiser than ever before,
Still seeking the true way, he sets out once more.

She also joined Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalism fraternity and the initiation will take place on Sunday. To be eligible for membership a student must have a 3.0 average and participate in at least one journalistic activity.

Robber Is Killed By Philly Grocer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Philadelphia grocer shot and killed a holdupman last night as the bandit slugged the grocer's wife.

Police said the victim was George Smith, 38. The police said he was shot by August Ausmanis, 64, who lives above his store in West Philadelphia. Ausmanis told policemen he had been carrying a pistol since he was heldup four months ago.

He told police the bandit came into his store, vaulted over a counter and drew a pistol. As the bandit demanded money, Ausmanis' wife, Maria, 61, stepped in front of the gunman. The bandit punched her in the face, and as he did, Ausmanis pulled out his pistol and fired four times. The bandit was hit in the shoulder and head.

GOP Senator Attacks Bill To Curb Sale Of Firearms

By CARL LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gordon Allott attacked Friday the administration-backed bill to curb gun traffic. He said Lee Harvey Oswald could just as easily have purchased his rifle from a sporting-goods store as from a mail-order house.

"That gun from a sporting-goods store would have been just as deadly as the mail-order weapon he used," said Allott, a Colorado Republican, in testimony prepared for the Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee.

Two days ago, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, testifying in favor of the bill, told the subcommittee:

RECALLS SLAYING

"As long as I live, I can never forget that it was a mail-order rifle — sent to a post-office box, that had been rented under an assumed name, by a man with an established record of defection and mental instability — that killed President Kennedy."

Allott and another Republican senator from the West — Arizona's Paul Fannin — argued that the administration bill would penalize ordinary, law-abiding citizens without correcting abuses in the use of firearms.

Allott said he objects to the notion that the word "guns" is "a four-letter, Anglo-Saxon word with dirty connotations."

FEARS THEM LESS

He said, "Perhaps we of the West are more familiar with firearms and therefore fear them less, recognizing it is the abuse of the weapon that is the real problem. There are legitimate users and legitimate users and I strongly feel we must not unduly hinder these legitimate uses in attempting to curb the abuses."

Fannin said in his prepared testimony: "The regulations embodied in S. 1592 (the gun bill) would not prevent the determined criminal from obtaining a gun."

"Gaps of doctrinal difference may stand between Christians but we need not be discouraged for there are high grounds of common belief and mutual accord which open the way of deeper understanding, respect and cooperation."

William Phelps Thompson, a Wichita, Kan., lawyer and newly elected moderator of the 3.5 million Presbyterians, responded, "We approach this dialogue hopefully" with Roman Catholics.

The statements came as the assembly pondered techniques for strengthening links among divided Christian denominations.

TEN YEARS AGO

J. M. Sheads, instructor in history at the Gettysburg High School, was a member of a panel Saturday that discussed recent references and general interest materials on Pennsylvania at a meeting of the South Central Chapter of the Pennsylvania Library Association in Lancaster.

Miss Martha Stallsmith was re-elected president of the Gettysburg Sorority Club at its annual organization meeting held at the YWCA building Tuesday evening. The election followed presentation of the nominating committee report by Mrs. George Ditchburn.

Miss Anne Faber was named "Girl of the Year" by the Epsilon Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi at the annual Beta Sigma Phi night dinner Tuesday evening at the American Legion Home, Baltimore St.

The honor came as a surprise to Miss Faber, who was presiding as retiring president of the organization. Usually the honor goes to a member other than the principal officer of the club as a recognition of outstanding work for the organization.

State approval of a 20 by 40-foot concrete block "hobo house" to be constructed on the County Home land was received by the Adams County Commissioners Wednesday.

Next step will be to petition the Adams County Court for its approval, the commissioners said. When all approvals are received bids for construction of the structure will be asked. The building will replace a frame shelter used for years by the transients.

Remodeling of the interior of Shuman's Cut-Rate Store, Baltimore St., and installation of a new glass front have been completed and the official "re-opening" was held today. It will continue Friday and Saturday, C. Ross Shuman, proprietor, announced today.

Mrs. Harold L. Ecker was elected president of the Woman's Club of Gettysburg at a meeting Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the YWCA. Fifty members were in attendance. Mrs. Ecker, former member of the Gettysburg High School faculty, succeeds Mrs. Charles W. Orem, of New Oxford.

A buggy-collecting hobby begun more than a decade ago by a Pittsburgh road contractor has grown into a half-million dollar collection of ancient horse-drawn vehicles to be placed on public display for the first time here Monday and Tuesday, May 23 and 24.

The "Horse 'n Buggy Museum" of the Conte Brothers, rushed into existence in the last 10 weeks at the W. E. Jordan farm a mile from Lincoln Square on the Harrisburg Rd., will be opened to the community for a free inspection from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The "horse and buggy" days may never return to Gettysburg but the buggies have.

Clerks in several stores and those pedestrians who recognized her were excited about seeing the "First Lady" of the land on a shopping expedition in Gettysburg Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, affectionately called "Mamie," shopped in at least two Gettysburg stores, W. T. Grant's and the Acme, Thursday afternoon on a quiet expedition.

KEEP THAT SPIRIT UP

You can get a smooth ride in your car when everything is in coordination. You press upon the accelerator and there is immediate and pleasurable response. It's something like that with us when we are free of anxiety of worry and there is a free spirit that responds to our desires.

A lowering of spirit by yourself, or through the wrong suggestion of another, is apt to damage one's whole effort. Keep that spirit up and allow no one, or any event, to move it from its path forward and upward! Keep an undefeatable spirit ever burning within you.

Encourage the spirit in others and your spirit will rise. The spirit of a child is often broken by an ill word spoken at the wrong time. This is true of us. We cannot do our best when our spirit has been broken or thwarted from its upward path. How careful we should be that no one should suffer defeat because of any word of ours. It is so easy to give encouragement.

How often an athletic contest is lost through lack of spirit and how often many of us are defeated in many a task because we failed to get the right cooperation, or did not have the individual spirit essential to carry us through to a triumph. Keep that spirit up and you will be amazed how easily you keep surpassing your own self! We need an unalterable faith, a stout will, and determination to nourish this spirit of ours, and if it is well nourished, free from all thoughts of defeat, we can well number ourselves among the conquerors!

Keep that spirit up. Never allow it to fall. Pursue whatever purpose you have, and keep it ever before you. Visualize victory! Feel it in your bones, until your entire consciousness is aglow with it. The kind of success that belongs to us is the kind that we work out, in high spirits, by ourselves — asking odds of no one.

DETERMINATION

It is easy to stop. It is hard to go on.
When strength to continue the struggle seems gone,
But all progress was won by the stout hearts that stayed
To face hardship and blunder and loss undismayed.

Not by ways that the easy men come to success.
Who ventures for triumph must courage possess.
There are failures to face,
Disappointments and jeers,
But the goal will be reached when the right man appears.

Grim failure's a teacher! From every retreat
Man learns as he ventures what not to repeat.
In that respect wiser than ever before,

Monthly Meeting Of Starr Class Held

The Starr Bible Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Church held its monthly meeting on Thursday evening at the church, with Mrs. Cleason Plunkert, president, in charge. The devotional included the class song, accompanied by Mrs. Carrie Hoff; scripture, Mrs. George Basehoar, and prayer by Luther W. Ritter, class teacher.

Final plans were made to serve the annual father and son banquet next Wednesday evening in the church social hall. The Starr Bible Class will be assisted by the adult classes of the Sunday School to serve the meal. A greeting for Miss Lillian Dutterer, a member of the class who is a guest at the National Lutheran Home for the Aged, Washington, D.C., was prepared by the members of the class.

Guest packages were given and received as follows: Mrs. Irvin R. Kindig, received by Mrs. Basehoar, Mrs. Mabel Benner to Mrs. Walter Shriver, Mrs. Maurice C. Wareheim to Mrs. Plunkert. A Bible quiz was conducted by Mrs. Benner and won by Mr. Ritter and Mrs. Kindig. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Basehoar, Mrs. Benner and Mrs. Arthur E. Bair Sr. Mrs. Alverta Amstacher was a guest in attendance.

Rainy day bags will be returned at the meeting on Thursday, June 24, at the church. The hostesses will be Mrs. Ralph Conover and Mrs. Ralph DeHoff.

Robber Is Killed By Philly Grocer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Philadelphia grocer shot and killed a holdupman last night as the bandit slugged the grocer's wife.

Police said the victim was George Smith, 38. The police said he was shot by August Ausmanis, 64, who lives above his store in West Philadelphia. Ausmanis told policemen he had been carrying a pistol since he was held up four months ago.

He told police the bandit came into his store, vaulted over a counter and drew a pistol. As the bandit demanded money, Ausmanis' wife, Maria, 61, stepped in front of the gunman. The bandit punched her in the face, and as he did, Ausmanis pulled out his pistol and fired four times. The bandit was hit in the shoulder and head.

"Sloppy Day" Lets Kids Act Normal

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Pupils observed Thursday as "Sloppy Day" at Robert E. Lee High School. Some looked so sloppy they were sent home.

They retaliated by boycotting the school cafeteria, which normally serves 1,400 lunches. It fed only 50 persons Friday.

Principal Woodrow Watts was not alarmed. He said the pupils were merely "reacting normally for this time of the year."

PHILLIES BOW TO REDS 6-5 GIANTS WIN

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

All Ron Herbel needed was a roof over his head.

Once he got it, he erupted with the first hit of his major league career and helped San Francisco clobber Houston 8-1 Friday night.

Herbel was a surprise starter for the Giants in the Astro dome, replacing Juan Marichal, who was suffering with a cold. He responded both with the hit and his first complete game of the season.

The 27-year-old right-hander never had a hit since joining the Giants late in 1963.

LASHES FIRST HIT

Coming to bat in the second inning after Hal Lanier had tripled Friday night, Herbel lashed a single to right field off Don Nottebart, and the Giants were on their way to a four-run inning.

Herbel evened his record at 3-3 and reducing his earned-run average to 2.86 while limiting the Astros to five hits.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh whipped Milwaukee 6-1, St. Louis edged New York 5-4, Cincinnati nipped Philadelphia 6-5 and Chicago trimmed Los Angeles 4-3.

END LOSING

Besides his own support, Herbel relied on Willie McCovey's ninth home run, which took care of the other three runs in the second inning. McCovey also drove in a fourth-inning run with one of his two singles. John Bateman homered for the Astros in the eighth.

The Pirates ended an eight-game losing streak while Vern Law ended a five-game losing string. Law, gaining his first triumph, needed relief help from Al McBean because of a pulled groin muscle. Bill Mazeroski led the attack against the Braves, driving in three runs with a single, double and sacrifice fly.

COSTLY ERROR

The Mets had a 4-3 victory until shortstop Roy McMillan threw past first base attempting to complete a game ending double play. Julian Javier and Lou Brock raced home on the play, though, and the Cardinals won instead. Ron Swoboda had given New York a 4-2 lead with a two-run homer in the seventh.

A two-run homer by Vada Pinson and John Edwards' solo blast, both in the sixth inning, powered the Reds past the Phillies. Cincinnati, however, needed Pinson's run-scoring single in the seventh, because Richie Allen belted his third hit, a homer, in the ninth.

Dick Ellsworth gave up 14 hits, but the Cubs still defeated the Dodgers. Ron Santo cracked a solo homer in the fourth, and Vic Roznovsky connected with one on in the sixth.

SLEICHTER WINS TOURNEY

Liston Favored To Regain Title

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Sonny Liston is an 8-5 favorite to regain the heavyweight boxing title when he fights champion Cassius Clay next Tuesday, according to Las Vegas bookmakers.

The bout will be held in Lewiston, Maine.

Liston lost the title to Clay in Miami Beach in February, 1964, when he failed to answer the bell for the seventh round because of a shoulder injury.

BATTING — Vic Davalillo, Indians, became the first player in the majors to drive in six runs in one game this season, slugging a two-run double in the first inning, a two-run homer in the fifth and a two-run single in the eighth as Cleveland walloped Boston 11-6.

Mighty Mouse to the rescue again — only this time swathed in bandages.

Mighty Mouse would be Vic Davalillo, the 5-foot-7, 150-pound package from Venezuela who became the first player in the majors to drive in six runs in a single game this season while leading the Cleveland Indians to an 11-6 victory over Boston Friday night.

His left thumb, left hip and right ankle taped to ease a variety of bruises, the 25-year-old pitcher turned outfielder lashed a homer, double and single, and moved to within one point of Detroit's Willie Horton in the American League batting race with a .364 average.

Kathy Whitworth shot a 72 for 142 and second place, tied for third at 143 were Carol Mann and Marilyn Smith. Miss Mann, who was just one stroke back of Miss Wright after the first round, shot a 74. Miss Smith had a 70.

LADY BOWLERS HOLD BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Lady Brunswick Bowling League was held at Hickory Bridge Farms; Ortanna, Wednesday evening. Trophies were presented.

Team trophies were presented to first place, Gilbert's Hobby Shop (Jean Clark, Stella Plank, Mary Lee Hippensteel, Pat Timmons and Joyce Sanders); second, Ginn's Beauty Shop (Marie Moore, Nancy Sentz, Mary Lou Kranias, Nicky George and Mary Roddy); third, McNair's Livestock (Anna Marie Koonitz, Charlotte McGlaughlin, Doris Welshhouse, Muff Duval and Jean McNair).

The sponsor trophy was presented to the first place team, Mr. Gilbert was presented the trophy for the first place team.

Individual trophies were given to the following: high average — Rennie Hubbard 164; second, Joyce Sanders 154; third, Jean Clark 154; high series — Bonnie Weaver 531; second, Carrie Boyd 574; third, Joann Dudas 552; fifth, Jean — Mary Roddy 253; second, Jean McNair 225; third, Mary Lee Hippensteel 221.

An achievement award was presented to Dot Small for having improved her average the most, 19 points.

Pancho Gonzales Defeats Rosewall

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Veteran Pancho Gonzales defeated Ken Rosewall, 10-3, Friday night and eliminated the defending champion from the Masters Round Robin pro tennis tournament.

The defeat left Rosewall with a 2-2 record in his five-player division and assured Mal Anderson 3-1 of at least second place and a spot in the semi-finals.

Gonzales, who leads the division with a 3-0 mark, completely dominated Rosewall and broke service three straight times for a 7-0 lead.

CHAMP WILL DEFEND TITLE

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — Middleweight boxing champion Joey Giardello, still nursing an injured left elbow, says he is ready and willing to defend his title against Dick Tiger "if everything is right."

Giardello confirmed a report from Tiger's acting manager, Lew Burston, who said the champ had promised the Nigerian a bout in September.

"I've agreed — in a way — I've agreed, but nothing was said about money. If everything is right, I'll be glad to fight him," Giardello said Friday night.

Burston, who has been handling Tiger since Manager Jerry Jones suffered a stroke about a week ago, said Tiger has been trying to get a return fight with Giardello, but he's "been ducking him up to now."

This time, Burston said in New York, Giardello gave his word he'll fight Tiger in September. "Nobody's called me yet," Giardello said.

The champ added that he was sure his elbow would be all right in time to train for a September bout. He injured it in a charity bout in Cherry Hill last month.

HUBER LEADING PIAA TOURNEY

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Snedden, New Oxford High School's entry in the tournament, missed the cutoff with a 151. He ran into considerable trouble on the 14th and 15th holes to be erased from further play.

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Bob Huber of Warwick High School, Dist. 3, held a one-stroke lead today as the 1965 IAA Golf Tournament went in to its final 18 holes.

Huber, a junior who last year finished seventh in the tourney, fired a two-over-par 140 for 36 holes Friday, winning medalist honors and leading 25 qualifiers into the final round.

The cut-off score of 149 was the lowest in the tournament's 31-year-old history.

Among the qualifiers were Steve Miller, Hershey, and Phil Arnold, Cumberland Valley, both Dist. 3, who last year finished second and third respectively.

Dist. 3 for the third straight year captured the district title, edging Dist. 7 by a score of 577 to 578. The district totals were figured by adding the scores of the low four golfers.

SONNY LISTON SEES WIN OVER CASSIUS CLAY

By BOB HOOBING

Associated Press Sports Writer

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — "If he come to fight, it'll be a short one," challenger Sonny Liston said of Cassius Clay.

"If he come to run, I'll have to track him."

The man with the brooding face and a history of trouble admits he's known gnawing loneliness since he lost the heavyweight championship to Clay a year ago February in Miami, and is determined to redeem himself in their rematch Tuesday. He discussed his feelings at his camp at nearby Poland Spring Friday.

"Clay will open the door and I'll get to him," Liston said. "I got to get to him. I let down a lot of people. I never realized how much I could hurt inside doing that."

There are plenty of other things Sonny could worry about. Liston, however, is thinking only of proving to "everybody I'm not a quitter and the only reason I didn't come out for the seventh round in Miami was because I was in such great pain and couldn't throw my left hand."

"The only way I can convince people is to beat Clay this time. I've been thinking over the mistakes I made the first fight. There will be absolutely no excuses this fight. My shoulder is healed. I won't say what I'll knock him out. But I'll get him sometime."

The camp buzzed with a report the New York State Police had informed their Massachusetts counterparts that a carload of armed men, possibly of the Black Muslim faith of which Clay is a member, may be heading for the fight.

Local police — there will be 300 added to the normal 70-man force for the bout — expressed confidence they can handle any and all eventualities. Liston was asked if he were apprehensive over the reports.

"No, I'm not," said Sonny without changing expression. "Clay wants to convert you into a Muslim," said one questioner. "What do you want to convert him into?"

"A stiff."

NO REMATCH

Liston was asked about the possibility of an additional rematch.

"After I get through whipping him, Clay won't want no rematch."

Then Sonny took a different tack.

"No more fights with Clay. There's been too much stink the second time from the WBA and whomsoever."

Liston referred to the World Boxing Association withdrawal of recognition of Clay for the coming fight and the unsuccessful attempt by WBA champion Ernie Terrell to get a court order restraining Clay from using the term world champion.

Local Golf Teams In Hershey Play

Bob Davies, Gettysburg, and Bud Gilbert, Mamoroneck, N. Y., turned in the second best round Friday in the 12th annual Hershey best ball invitation golf tournament with a three-under par 70. A 72 or less was required for the championship fight for today's play.

Other local golfers turned in the following scores: John Pollock, Hanover, and Tom Maitland, Gettysburg, 74; Ken Wenk and Tom Cline, Gettysburg, 79; Russell Maitland, Gettysburg, and Dick Maitland, Hanover, 81.

ARDINGER IN FINALS; MSM QUALIFIES 9

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gettysburg College's sprint star Don Ardinger stole the individual spotlight Friday afternoon by qualifying in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes in the fourth annual NCAA college division Atlantic Coast Regional track and field championships at Mt. St. Mary's College.

Ardinger raced to a 9.7 seconds in his heat of the 100. Following a 45-minute break, the "Bullet" eased to a 21.5 seconds in the 220, running just to qualify. Ardinger's strongest competition is expected to come in the 220 finals this afternoon when he faces against Virginia State's Bob Johnson.

MANY SCRATCHES

As far as team honors are concerned, host school Mt. St. Mary's will send a strong contingent into the finals after Friday's qualifying rounds. The field was extremely slim due to the number of scratches. Many schools are not entering their athletes due to the examination periods now going on.

The Mount will have nine men going into the finals including Bill Walsh, Jack Campbell and Ken Swormley. Walsh qualified in the javelin, triple jump, broad jump and discus. Campbell will compete in the shot put, discus and javelin while Swormley will be in the 100 and 220 dashes. Gettysburg's Bruce Wilson qualified for the broad jump.

Other Bullets competing today will be Sophomore Scott Shoupe in the pole vault and possibly high jump, and the mile relay team. However, the relay squad, which set an MAC record of 3:16.1 a week ago, may not be intact. Jerry Staub is nursing an injury and may not be ready.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Oh, those bases on balls!" Baseball's famed "Fordham Flash"—Frankie Frisch — was credited with making those words immortal in bygone years, and an Eastern League pitcher had to eat them Friday.

Bob Kenney, a relief pitcher for York, issued a walk with the bases loaded. Result: Elmira defeated York, 1-0.

PHILLIES BOW TO REDS 6-5 GIANTS WIN

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

All Ron Herbel needed was a roof over his head.

Once he got it, he erupted with the first hit of his major league career and helped San Francisco clobber Houston 8-1 Friday night.

Herbel was a surprise starter for the Giants in the Astrodom, replacing Juan Marichal, who was suffering with a cold. He responded both with the hit and his first complete game of the season.

The 27-year-old right-hander never had a hit since joining the Giants late in 1963.

LASHES FIRST HIT

Coming to bat in the second inning after Hal Lanier had tripled Friday night, Herbel lashed a single to right field off Don Notbart, and the Giants were on their way to a four-run inning.

Herbel evened his record at 3-3 and reducing his earned-run average to 2.86 while limiting the Astros to five hits.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh whipped Milwaukee 6-1, St. Louis edged New York 5-4, Cincinnati nipped Philadelphia 6-5 and Chicago trimmed Los Angeles 4-3.

END LOSING

Besides his own support, Herbel relied on Willie McCovey's ninth home run, which took care of the other three runs in the second inning. McCovey also drove in a fourth-inning run with one of his two singles. John Bateman homered for the Astros in the eighth.

The Pirates ended an eight-game losing streak while Vern Law ended a five-game losing string. Law, giving his first triumph, needed relief help from Al McBee because of a pulled groin muscle. Bill Mazeroski led the attack against the Braves, driving in three runs with a single, double and sacrifice fly.

COSTLY ERROR

The Mets had a 4-3 victory until shortstop Roy McMillan threw past first base attempting to complete a game ending double play. Julian Javier and Lou Brock raced home on the play, though, and the Cardinals won instead. Ron Swoboda had given New York a 4-2 lead with a two-run homer in the seventh.

A two-run homer by Vada Pinson and John Edwards' solo blast, both in the sixth inning, powered the Reds past the Phillies. Cincinnati, however, needed Pinson's run-scoring single in the seventh, because Richie Allen belted his third hit, a homer, in the ninth.

Dick Ellsworth gave up 14 hits, but the Cubs still defeated the Dodgers. Ron Santo cracked a solo homer in the fourth, and Vic Roznovsky connected with one on in the sixth.

SLEICHTER WINS TOURNEY

Liston Favored To Regain Title

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Sonny Liston is an 8-5 favorite to regain the heavyweight boxing title when he fights champion Cassius Clay next Tuesday, according to Las Vegas bookmakers.

The bout will be held in Lewiston, Maine.

Liston lost the title to Clay in Miami Beach in February, 1964, when he failed to answer the bell for the seventh round because of a shoulder injury.

BATTING — Vic Davalillo

Indians, became the first player in the majors to drive in six runs in one game this season, slugging a two-run double in the first inning, a two-run homer in the fifth and a two-run single in the eighth as Cleveland walloped Boston 11-6.

MICKEY WRIGHT LEADS TOURNEY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DALLAS (AP) — It's like this says Mickey Wright:

"When you're ahead and don't do well, you're a dog; when you're behind and don't do well, no one cares — but when you're behind and surge ahead, you're a hero."

Miss Wright, woman golf's top money winner, was talking about Friday's round in the $14,000 Dallas Civitan Open when she took a triple bogey but came back to finish with a flourish of birdies.

In spite of her slump at No. 13, she never came close to losing the lead in the tournament, and showed a 137 and a six stroke lead going into today's third round.

Kathy Whitworth shot a 72 for 142 and second place, tied for third at 143 were Carol Mann and Marilyn Smith. Miss Mann, who was just one stroke back of Miss Wright after the first round, shot a 74. Miss Smith had a 70.

VIC DAVALILLO DRIVES IN SIX RUNS FOR TRIBE

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Mighty Mouse to the rescue again — only this time swathed in bandages.

Mighty Mouse would be Vic Davalillo, the 5-foot-7, 150-pound package from Venezuela who became the first player in the majors to drive in six runs in a single game this season while leading the Cleveland Indians to an 11-6 victory over Boston Friday night.

His left thumb, left hip and right ankle taped to ease a variety of bruises, the 25-year-old pitcher turned outfielder lashed a homer, double and single, and moved to within one point of Detroit's Willie Horton in the American League batting race with a .364 average.

Kathy Whitworth shot a 72 for 142 and second place, tied for third at 143 were Carol Mann and Marilyn Smith. Miss Mann, who was just one stroke back of Miss Wright after the first round, shot a 74. Miss Smith had a 70.

Jack Sneddon, New Oxford High School's entry in the tournament, missed the cutoff with a 151. He ran into considerable trouble on the 14th and 15th holes to be erased from further play.

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Bob Huber of Warwick High School, Dist. 3, held a one-stroke lead today as the 1965 IAA Golf Tournament went into its final 18 holes.

Huber, a junior who last year finished seventh in the tourney, fired a two-over-par 140 for 36 holes Friday, winning medalist honors and leading 25 qualifiers into the final round.

The cut-off score of 149 was the lowest in the tournament's 31-year-old history.

Among the qualifiers were Steve Miller, Hershey, and Phil Arnold, Cumberland Valley, both Dist. 3, who last year finished second and third respectively.

Dist. 3 for the third straight year captured the district title, edging Dist. 7 by a score of 577 to 578. The district totals were figured by adding the scores of the low four golfers.

SONNY LISTON SEES WIN OVER CASSIUS CLAY

By BOB HOOBING

Associated Press Sports Writer

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — "If he come to fight, it'll be a short one," challenger Sonny Liston said of Cassius Clay.

"If he come to run, I'll have to track him."

The man with the brooding face and a history of trouble admits he's known gnawing loneliness since he lost the heavyweight championship to Clay a year ago February in Miami, and is determined to redeem himself in their rematch Tuesday. He discussed his feelings at his camp at nearby Poland Spring Friday.

Clay will open the door and I'll get to him," Liston said. "I got to get to him. I let down a lot of people. I never realized how much I could hurt inside doing that."

PONDERS MISTAKE

There are plenty of other things Sonny could worry about. Liston, however, is thinking only of proving to "everyone" I'm not a quitter and the only reason I didn't come out for the seventh round in Miami was because I was in such great pain and couldn't throw my left hand.

"The only way I can convince people is to beat Clay this time. I been thinking over the mistakes I made the first fight. There will be absolutely no excuses this fight. My shoulder is healed. I won't say what round I'll knock him out. But I'll get him sometime."

The camp buzzed with a report the New York State Police had informed their Massachusetts counterparts that a carload of armed men, possibly of the Black Muslim faith of which Clay is a member, may be heading for the fight.

Local police — there will be 300 added to the normal 70-man force for the bout — expressed confidence they can handle any and all eventualities. Liston was asked if he were apprehensive over the reports.

"No, I'm not," said Sonny without changing expression. "Clay wants to convert you to a Muslim," said one questioner. "What do you want to convert him into?"

"A stiff."

NO REMATCH

Liston was asked about the possibility of an additional rematch. "After

Cites Advantages Cutting Forage Crops Early To Save Feed Value, Start New Crop

THOMAS E. PIPER
County Farm Agent

One of the most important single factors which determine forage quality is the stage of maturity when harvested.

Perennial forage plants, both legumes and grasses, build up fiber in their tissues as they grow toward maturity. While this fiber adds to the total yield per acre it cannot be used efficiently by animals for milk or meat production. Thus, as fiber increases in a forage plant, its feed value goes down.

Research at Penn State and elsewhere indicates that much of May and June, perennial forage plants may drop in total digestible nutrients (TDN) as much as one-half percent per day. Then, too, the older a forage is, the less acceptable it is to cows. This means hay or silage harvested from a mature crop contains more dry matter, but its value for feed is much lower.

There's another advantage to cutting perennial forages early. When the first crop is taken off in late May there is usually good moisture for getting the regrowth off to a good start.

However, it's also possible to cut perennial legumes and grasses too early. When cut frequently at young stages, they do not have a chance to store food reserves and may recover more slowly or, in some instances, actually die.

Plan to attend Pennsylvania's 1965 Forage Progress Days to be held at Hershey, August 27-28. Some of the features will include harvesting grasses and legumes and their relation to forage quality, making corn silage and lime and fertilizer demonstrations.

USE STARTER SOLUTION

It is a good practice to use starter solutions while setting plants in your vegetable garden. Formulas vary as to the quality of materials they contain. A good rule to follow is the one usually printed on the container. By following these recommendations on the container, gardeners won't run as much risk of injuring or killing plants. This sometimes happens when recommendations are not followed.

When starter solution is applied, be sure there is a small amount of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium in the soil around the roots. This plant food is readily available for the roots of the seedlings or newly transplanted plants.

High phosphorus plant starter solutions such as 10-52-17, 16-32-16 or 10-20-10 should be used. If a special starter solution is not available, a 10-20-10 commercial fertilizer can be used at the rate of three to four pounds of the material in 50 gallons of water or mix one-half cup of 10-20-10 in 12 quarts of water. Stir thoroughly and allow to stand for at least a day. There will be some sediment in the bottom of the barrel or bucket, but the clear liquid can be poured off into the watering can.

Fertilizer in liquid form can also be used in hotbeds, coldframes or in the greenhouse when plants are not growing properly and seem to be "off" color. Be sure to wash any material off of tender leaves. Use soluble fertilizers and apply according to recommendations.

CLEAN WATER SUPPLY

Farmers who form the production segment of our agricultural economy are entirely dependent upon water. Consumers are dependent upon farmers for food and we are all consumers. So, we are all dependent upon water. Each time we turn on a faucet, we expect good clean water to pour forth and usually it does. We don't even think about it. Water piped into homes and used by industries other than agriculture is also a necessity.

Indeed, water is a natural resource just as air or the minerals in the earth. It can be misused, wasted and abused.

Plants, fish and wildlife need clean water and suffer when it is not abundant; some even die. Agricultural crops must have relatively clean water to nourish, grow and produce high-quality products. Some plant diseases thrive better in unclean water. A single corn plant can use five pints of water every day during July. It actually takes about 115 gallons of water to grow enough wheat for one loaf of bread and

A Lovelier You

An artist would never attempt to paint a picture on a soiled canvas. Paint and soil just won't mix!

And let that be a lesson to the lass or lady who piles fresh makeup on stale. Unless the skin beneath is whistle-clean, cosmetics streak and change color. The skin must be deep cleansed, what's more. Otherwise, hidden soil leads to or exaggerates such problems as clogged pores and blemishes.

The need for deep cleansing is not a new idea. It goes back to circa A.D. 130-200, when the famous physician, Galen, discovered the formula for cold cream. Based on much the same formula, cold cream is still with us and it serves well as a cleanser for flawless skin. But, since few skins are without a problem, specialized cleansers have come into being.

When you use those formulated for your skin type, clean-ups are greatly facilitated. You require two cleansers, one to float away cosmetics and one to wash away residues. To make suitable choices, follow these guides: For dry skin, select an enriched creamy or fluid cosmetic remover; a superfatted soap or a creamy water-soluble wash. Oily skin responds to liquefying creams and lotions, and to medicated soaps and washes with the pH factor. On a sensitive skin, use hypoallergenic cleansers and soap. For a super-clean wash, a complexion brush comes highly recommended. So much so that brushes are now packaged with washes.

CANNED MILK IN BIG DEMAND IN CITY STRIKE

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Sale of powdered milk and canned evaporated milk took a sharp upturn today as this city's 350,000 residents headed into a weekend in which fresh milk won't be delivered to their doorsteps or be available at neighborhood stores.

The milk supply was just about dried up by a strike early Wednesday of Teamsters Local 361 against the six major Toledo dairies. The union is deadlocked with the companies in negotiations on a new contract for about 500 drivers and plant workers employed by the dairies.

Thursday a few stores still had milk for sale — in most cases because they held it back from Wednesday's rush of customers. But by noon the stocks of all the supermarkets and larger stores were gone. Generally, sales were limited to one gallon per customer.

SOME HELD OVER

Some fresh milk still is available from a small dairy, Sterling, which has no Teamsters Union contract and serves about a dozen stores. And residents in northern Lucas County need drive only a short distance across the state line to Michigan to pick up a few gallons.

Infants and adults with ailments requiring milk in their diet are able to obtain it with a doctor-signed slip at one of four fire houses in the city. The Teamsters arranged for Village Farms Dairy, one of the struck companies, to supply milk for distribution at the fire stations and to hospitals, children's homes, rest homes and nursing homes.

SUPPLY WILL SPOIL

The walkout caught the six dairies with about a half million dollars worth of milk at their plants, and they say if they can't sell it at cost it will spoil before the weekend is over.

"They should give the milk to the poor and then write it off as a tax loss," said Lawrence N. Steinberg, president of Teamsters Joint Council 44.

No talks are scheduled between the two parties directly involved in the dispute.

Steinberg said the dairies proposed a $3.30 hourly rate for wholesale delivery drivers and elimination of commissions and that this would cut weekly pay for these drivers by "fifty percent." The companies also proposed eliminating a weekly guarantee for retail delivery

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has removed Lewistown, Pa., from its list of areas with substantial unemployment—6 or more per cent of the total labor force out of work.

In its newest report on area labor market trends, the department said widespread gains—paced by metals and other durable products—were responsible for the reduction of joblessness in the Lewistown area which includes Mifflin and Juniata counties.

Further employment advances are expected during the coming months, the department said, mainly in durable goods and drivers, who average between $100 and $150 a week, Steinberg added.

If alfalfa is your business and this fellow is sticking his proboscis into it...

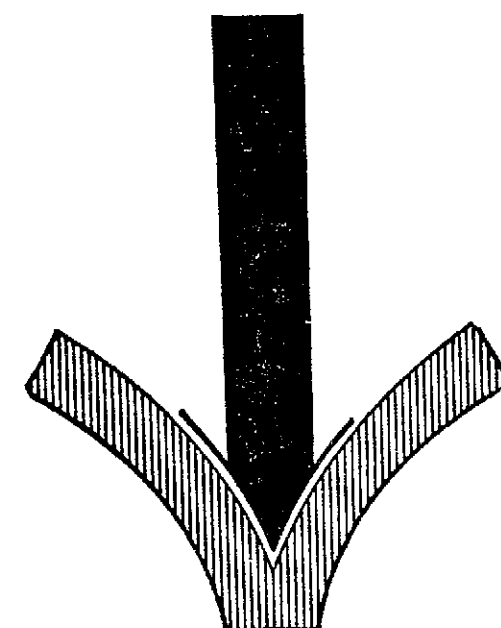

Spray with Guthion for longer lasting control of him and his offspring.

One application of Guthion per cutting provides excellent control of alfalfa weevil and other forage insect pests. That's because of Guthion's excellent long-lasting protection. It continues to work long after application. For best results, spray the first cutting early when weevil signs appear and then spray stubble immediately after first cutting. By following this practice, you'll eliminate the weevil larvae that remain on stubble which prevent mature growth. When this spray recommendation is followed, you won't have to share your crop with alfalfa weevil. When used as recommended, Guthion-treated alfalfa can be fed green or dry to beef and dairy cattle. For a healthier, more leafy alfalfa crop with more total digestible nutrients and more bales-per-acre, spray with Guthion. Your dealer stocks it.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has removed Lewistown, Pa., from its list of areas with substantial unemployment—6 or more per cent of the total labor force out of work.

In its newest report on area labor market trends, the department said widespread gains—paced by metals and other durable products—were responsible for the reduction of joblessness in the Lewistown area which includes Mifflin and Juniata counties.

Further employment advances are expected during the coming months, the department said, mainly in durable goods and drivers, who average between $100 and $150 a week, Steinberg added.

If alfalfa is your business and this fellow is sticking his proboscis into it...

Spray with Guthion for longer lasting control of him and his offspring.

One application of Guthion per cutting provides excellent control of alfalfa weevil and other forage insect pests. That's because of Guthion's excellent long-lasting protection. It continues to work long after application. For best results, spray the first cutting early when weevil signs appear and then spray stubble immediately after first cutting. By following this practice, you'll eliminate the weevil larvae that remain on stubble which prevent mature growth. When this spray recommendation is followed, you won't have to share your crop with alfalfa weevil. When used as recommended, Guthion-treated alfalfa can be fed green or dry to beef and dairy cattle. For a healthier, more leafy alfalfa crop with more total digestible nutrients and more bales-per-acre, spray with Guthion. Your dealer stocks it.

WITNESS WAS UNAWARE OF CANCER TEST

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal Food and Drug Administration inspector has told a U.S. District Court jury that he was unaware of a proposal by developers and backers of Krebiozen to test the drug on 100 cancer patients.

The agent, Robert N. Palmer, a government witness, testified Friday under cross-examination that he knew nothing of the proposal made by Dr. Andrew Ivy, chief backer of Krebiozen, a drug taken by some cancer patients.

Ivy and three others are on trial on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of Krebiozen.

UNAWARE OF TEST

Defense attorney Julius L. Sherwin asked Palmer if he knew of a clinical test involving 100 cancer patients suggested by Ivy to the National Cancer Institute (NCI). In the putative test, 100 cancer patients would be treated with Krebiozen while 100 would receive standard medical treatment.

Palmer, the first government witness, said he had no knowledge of any tests conducted by the NCI or the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Also on trial before Judge Julius J. Hoffman with Ivy, 72, a former vice-president of the University of Illinois, are: Dr. Ste-van Durovic, 59, the discoverer of the drug, his brother, Marco Durovic, 64, a lawyer, and Dr. F. P. Phillips, 52, who has prescribed and administered the drug.

CALLED WORTHLESS

The government claims Krebiozen is worthless in the treatment of cancer and is in fact a creatinine monohydrate, a common body chemical.

Sherwin also drew admissions from Palmer that he had omitted several facts in his direct testimony that would have reflected credit on Krebiozen to the jury of seven women and five men.

Among the facts Palmer said he omitted was that 10 or 24 cancer patients who took Krebiozen between 1949 and 1963 were still alive and well.

Palmer, 37, also admitted he did not testify that Krebiozen had been tested and found safe

2 Lawyers May Be Cited For Contempt

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Lawyers J. A. Lynch of Upper Darby, Pa., and Charles F. Mayer of Media, Pa., have been ordered to appear before the U.S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt.

They were counsel for William Michael Thaw, who was convicted in U.S. District Court in Alexandria, Va., last June on charges of violating the federal mail fraud and stolen property acts. He was sentenced to 18 months and appealed.

Lynch and Mayer were charged with failing to file a certificate from their client waiving oral arguments in the case.

WITNESS WAS UNAWARE OF CANCER TEST

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal Food and Drug Administration inspector has told a U.S. District Court jury that he was unaware of a proposal by developers and backers of Krebiozen to test the drug on 100 cancer patients.

The agent, Robert N. Palmer, a government witness, testified Friday under cross-examination that he knew nothing of the proposal made by Dr. Andrew Ivy, chief backer of Krebiozen, a drug taken by some cancer patients.

Ivy and three others are on trial on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of Krebiozen.

UNAWARE OF TEST

Defense attorney Julius L. Sherwin asked Palmer if he knew of a clinical test involving 100 cancer patients suggested by Ivy to the National Cancer Institute (NCI). In the putative test, 100 cancer patients would be treated with Krebiozen while 100 would receive standard medical treatment.

Palmer, the first government witness, said he had no knowledge of any tests conducted by the NCI or the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Also on trial before Judge Julius J. Hoffman with Ivy, 72, a former vice-president of the University of Illinois, are: Dr. Steven Durovic, 59, the discoverer of the drug, his brother, Marco Durovic, 64, a lawyer, and Dr. F. P. Phillips, 52, who has prescribed and administered the drug.

CALLED WORTHLESS

The government claims Krebiozen is worthless in the treatment of cancer and is in fact a creative monohydrate, a common body chemical.

Sherwin also drew admissions from Palmer that he had omitted several facts in his direct testimony that would have reflected credit on Krebiozen to the jury of seven women and five men.

Among the facts Palmer said he omitted was that 10 or 24 cancer patients who took Krebiozen between 1949 and 1963 were still alive and well.

Palmer, 37, also admitted he did not testify that Krebiozen had been tested and found safe

INDIA SALUTES 19 HEROES WHO CLIMBED PEAK

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Victory-hungry India put aside its worries Friday to salute 19 new heroes — the members of the first Indian team to climb Mt. Everest.

Army Capt. A. S. Cheema and Nawang Gombu, a Sherpa, reached the 29,028-foot peak of the world's highest mountain at 9:30 a.m. Thursday and tied the Indian and Nepalese flags to the pole left there two years ago by an American expedition, the government announced.

Five more Sherpas, including Nawang's brother Anu Kami, joined them on the top of the world. It was the largest group that ever has been on Everest's summit at one time.

SECOND TRIP

Nawang and Anu are nephews of the first two men to reach the top of Everest, in 1953. It was Nawang's second trip to the top, making him the first climber to achieve that distinction. His first time up was with the Americans in 1963.

Indian newspapers and officials pushed aside their nation's food shortages, its near war with Pakistan, its internal political stresses and the threat of Red China to hail the climbers.

President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan messaged "our heroes" of his delight because "this new conquest is entirely an Indian effort and is therefore all the more thrilling."

GLORY TO INDIA

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said the climbers "have brought glory to India and I am so proud of them."

The awesome, snow-capped peak had been climbed three times before — by Sir John Hunt's British team in 1953, by a Swiss group in 1956 and by Norman Dyhrenfurth's American expedition in 1963. Two previous Indian expeditions failed in 1960 and 1962.

The Indian expedition was led by Navy Lt. Cmdr. M. S. Kohli. It left New Delhi Feb. 22 and worked its way slowly up the south face of the mountain, using the same route earlier successful expeditions took.

The climbers established their base camp on March 22. For the past two weeks they were reported stalled 1,098 feet below the summit. A radio message said the weather cleared about 5 a.m. Thursday, and Cheema and Gombu made for the top.

They spent 30 minutes at the summit.

CONVICT MAN OF SLAYING

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A jury of nine women and three men has convicted former fireman Arthur J. Lucier of second-degree murder in the slaying of his wife.

In returning the verdict Friday the jury ignored Judge Charles L. Guerin's final opinion that they would be committing a "miscarriage of justice" if they did not convict Lucier of first-degree murder.

The jury deliberated two hours and 20 minutes before filing back into the courtroom. While the jury was polled, Lucier, 45, closed his eyes and slowly shook his head from side to side.

The second degree murder conviction carries a maximum sentence of 20 years in prison. Lucier was accused of stabbing his wife, Gertrude, 36, 12 times during a quarrel in their home on Feb. 29, 1964.

Lucier contended his wife had taunted him with her infidelity.

Aged Mare Gives Birth To A Foal

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Misty, a 27-year-old mare, doesn't live up to "The Old Gray Mare" ballad. Misty isn't gray and she is what she used to be.

To prove it, the Appaloosa, whose age veterinarians say is equal to 81 years for a human being, Thursday gave birth to a foal — her second in two years.

The owner, Frank Whitney Sr. of nearby Conklin, named the filly Misty's Little Wonder.

JOHNSON COROLLARY
Prompt Action A Triumph For LBJ
OAS Acceptance Brightens Future

MRS. VIOLET BONHAM CARTER is not the first lady of letters to be attracted to Sir Winston as the subject for a biography. Virginia Cowles, I think it was, braced the aging statesman with the proposition she should do him with a one-volume, literary treatment. He was not overly encouraging. Perhaps he thought one volume rather brief.

For "Winston Churchill: An Intimate Portrait" (Harcourt, Brace, $8.50). Mrs. Carter did not ask him. She merely outlived him and did it; but for only his earlier, political years.

She first met him early summer of 1906 at a dinner party. He was an extremely mature 29 years of age, a seasoned and colorful war correspondent, and an outstanding member of Parliament.

He was already author of four books, largely about his own adventures; a biography of his father; and a novel that was still-born when the binders put the swaddling clothes on it.

SHE WAS QUITE YOUNG. Even so, she too was mature beyond her years and thoroughly worldly wise in the habits, designs, devices and protective colorings of politicians seeking survival within their natural environment. Her name was Violet Asquith. Her father was none other than Herbert Henry Asquith, a Gladstone Liberal and then chancellor of the Exchequer.

Within two years Papa was to become prime minister and to serve as such through the first half of World War I. He was to push young Winston through cabinet posts to lord of the Admiralty, or secretary of Navy.

Violet Asquith's stepmother was the equally politically-oriented Margot Asquith. Both daughter and stepmother had more curiosity than the proverbial cat that died from the affliction. As a reader turns from one delightful page to another, he often suspects there was competition between Violet and Margot as to which could first coax a state secret from the cautious and tight-lipped prime.

But she truly was a father's daughter and could be trusted not to tell anything to anyone, not even to Margot; but if it would help Papa, she could say as much to Winston as the situation might justify. His reactions are revealing.

THERE IS no evidence of a romantic attachment. Her emotions were for Rupert Brooke, the poet who died in the Dardanelles Expedition, her brother, Arthur, a companion of Brooke's, and for Bonham Carter, whom she married. Within two years of their first meeting, Winston was to marry Violet's older but warm friend, Clementine ("Clemmie") Hozer.

But between Violet Asquith and Winston Churchill it was a spontaneous mutual admiration society that waxed and waned and waxed with intensity and trust through the long turbulent political years ahead. Thus the book is more than an intimate portrait. It is an inside, kitchen cabinet story of British politics from 1906 to the fall of the Asquith government and the rise of perfidious Lloyd George in 1918. It ends with Winston home from the trenches and out of favor with both parties.

Some quoted extracts from her diary are literary gems. Lord Fisher, an old admiral Churchill dredged out of retirement to serve as the top sea

Fatally Stabbed During Argument

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Walter White, 43, was fatally stabbed in an argument with another driver Friday night, police reported.

Witnesses told the police White had stopped and argued with an unidentified driver whose car was parked in the middle of an intersection. Witnesses said they saw something flash, then White walked back to his car. He got in it and drove a short way, then slumped over.

He was taken to Woman's Medical College Hospital, where he was pronounced dead of a stab wound beneath the heart.

dog in Britain's wartime navy, gets sharp jabs from her thin, steel pin. With the unhappy Dardanelles Expedition mounted and on the way, Fisher was "whole hog-totus porcus" for the operation.

When the going became tough, Admiral Lord Fisher Welshed said he was against it all along; actually deserted his post of duty — vanished, could not be found! Confidential aids scurried to Scotland, France and all over England in search.

"Father had armed the beagles," she confided to the diary, "with a paper to serve on him saying: 'Lord Fisher—in the name of the King I command you to return to your post' . . . Finally he was found, caught, carried in a retriever's mouth and dropped—blood-shot and panting—at the door of the Cabinet Room. Father spent about an hour with him. . . ."

It is a most charming book of a most turbulent era and focused upon the formative years of this century's greatest statesman — Winston Churchill.

THE SAME MAIL that delivered an advance copy of Mrs. Carter's superb book likewise brought a review copy of Simone de Beauvoir's "Force of Circumstance," Putnam, $10.

I am appalled that a personable French woman articulate enough to win the Goncourt, who had also been the peregrinating mistress of sundry existentialist members of the Bohemian, left wing literati, could possibly write such a dull opus of 670 pages.

Admittedly, I've read only the first, third and switched to the last chapter. The closing clause in this ocean of words in exemplification of female freedom is: "I realize with stupor how much I was gypped."

I am saving the intervening 400 pages for my next attack of insomnia. I find it to be a faster cure than the most potent sleeping pill, and it is positively nonhabit forming.

Should I find anything in those skipped chapters, I will let you know.

James MARLOW Reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Do you ever get the feeling that at this moment you're standing in the lobby of history, just chewing the fat, between acts in one of the great dramas?

The world now is in the period between the Red Chinese conquest of their poverty-ridden land in 1949 and the time less than a decade away when they will have H-bombs and can deliver them.

The United States at present is taken up with its troubles in Viet Nam, trying to prevent a Communist victory in the belief it would lead eventually to Chinese domination of all Southeast Asia.

GRISLY CHOICE AHEAD
 Recently the Chinese had two atomic explosions. And Dr. Ralph Lapp, a nuclear physicist who worked on the first American A-bomb but is not now with the government, guesses China will have the H-bomb in two or three years.

For China to get this far so fast has required fierce concentration of energy and resources and perhaps explains why it has avoided conflict over Formosa and direct involvement in Viet Nam.

Why be distracted if, within a few years and with nuclear power, the United States can be confronted with the grisly choice of atomic war or pulling out of Asia?

NOT TOO UNLIKELY
 It is not stretching the imagination to think Red China will in time try to dominate all Southeast Asia, or all Asia. Just remember the attitude of the United States toward Latin America, past and present.

Even in the early 19th century, when the American fleet could hardly defend the coast, a weak and new United States warned Europe to stay out of the Western Hemisphere, and that's still U.S. policy.

The Red Chinese would run contrary to the nature of nations and their own nature if, once they had the power, they did less than try to exclude the influence of the West from Asia where its colonialism has left a bitter legacy.

At one time China held Viet Nam for 1,000 years, lost it because of internal anarchy in China, and then pecked away at it over the centuries. Later it controlled Viet Nam again.

WOULD BE DREAMY
 For anyone with a knowledge of history and the national use of power it would be a dreamy condition to think the Chinese in

Man Shoots Self Robbing His Dad

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — An armed robber masked by a silk stocking shot himself three times Friday after he was recognized trying to hold up his own father.

Bleeding profusely from three head wounds, John Freeman Walden, 20, fled the scene. His father, Ira, owner of a paint store, called the police who apprehended young Walden at the home of a friend.

Young Walden shot himself with a .22 caliber pistol. After being treated at the Good Samaritan Hospital, he was taken to the city jail.

Walden was held under $20,000 bond on two counts of armed robbery.

State To Inspect Homes For Elderly

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Public Welfare Department is calling on nursing homes and similar institutions for the aged to review facilities for fire safety.

The plea Friday came in the wake of two recent fires—at the Bookwood, a commercial boarding house in Media, and at the Leschke Convalescent Home, in Columbia.

Arlin M. Adams, secretary of public welfare, called for a voluntary check of wiring to determine conformity to the national electrical code, establishing of programs for supervising and regulating smoking, practice fire drills, check of potentially hazardous areas and general clean up.

Asia would act differently from the United States in the Western Hemisphere, other big powers in the past, and even Soviet Russia with its satellites now.

It was President Eisenhower who enunciated the falling domino theory: That once communism dominated Viet Nam, its neighbors would topple in time. President Johnson shares the theory, as he shows with his efforts in Viet Nam now.

The Japanese sought Asian domination and as a result drove the British and French out of their colonial holdings on the mainland and tried to eliminate the United States from the Western Pacific.

By their reckoning they could turn it into a Japanese lake. But the Red Chinese would have even stronger reason for attempting the same. They have more than just national ambitions.

Their ideology calls for the spread of communism everywhere until it dominates the world. If words mean anything they must be taken at their word, and they've made it clear worldwide communism is their ambition.

They have denounced the Russians for ever mentioning the possibility of "peaceful coexistence."

And if the time comes when a new and powerful China tries this, the United States, even though resisting, could hardly condemn it, in view of its own actions in the Western Hemisphere.

BIG ACT AHEAD

When some of the old and original leaders of Chinese communism, like Mao Tse-tung, pass out of the picture and the Chinese society becomes more affluent, the Communist missionary fervor may lose some steam, as it seems to have done in Russia.

But the national interests of Red China will not diminish under a new leadership or under less ideological zeal. They are basic and will remain undiminished, as they have in this country — keep outsiders out.

For these reasons the present U.S. activity in Viet Nam, and its sacrifices and anxieties, intense and important as they seem now, may turn out to be only a minor episode, or even an intermission, before the big act.

DO NOT EXPECT 2 NATIONS TO PAY U. N. DEBT

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials admitted today it is increasingly uncertain whether U.N. members will do anything about the refusal of France and the Soviet Union to pay their delinquent dues.

The officials said that no compromise has been found to solve the problem.

They added that the United States still favors applying Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, which says nations falling more than two years behind in payment of U.N. dues shall lose their vote in the General Assembly.

LONG OVERDUE

The Soviet Union, France and a number of Communist countries are now more than two years overdue in payments for United Nations peacekeeping operations — and therefore subject to the penalty.

The United States, which is the biggest U.N. contributor, says Article 19 should be applied for the sake of the world organization's integrity and financial health. The Soviets and French have based their refusal to pay on grounds the peacekeeping costs were illegally assessed. They cover U.N. operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

REFUSE TO ACT

According to the interpretation supplied by U.S. officials concerning the General Assembly's failure to act last session, the smaller countries of the United Nations — who form the majority — were unwilling to lower the boom on either of the big powers because they figured the loser would walk out or otherwise weaken the world organization.

The officials said that as time goes on it appears less likely that the small country U.N. majority will feel inclined to enforce Article 19 against any nation delinquent in paying its dues.

Project To Test Heat In Re-entry

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans Friday to launch a Project Fire spacecraft over a scorching re-entry path to study the heat which will blister manned ships returning from the moon.

An Atlas rocket is to boost the payload to an altitude of 500 miles and a second stage is to ram it back through the atmosphere above the South Atlantic Ocean at 25,800 miles per hour. Launching was scheduled in a three-hour period starting at 3:22.

Dates With Girls Twice As Costly

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — University of Washington School of Communications researchers, studying the habits of students, have discovered something a lot of the fellows could have told them before they started: .

It costs more than twice as much to take a girl out as it does to go out with your buddies.

The average costs of an evening out: $7.78 with a girl, $3.52 without. The survey, covering living patterns and buying habits of 19,000 students, showed that girls without escorts spend an average of $3.29.

20 SCIENTISTS ABANDON ICE SLAB IN ARCTIC

By TIM WEEKS
BOSTON (AP)—Three years ago, red-bearded Jim Pew of the University of Wisconsin spent the summer in the Arctic Ocean north of Siberia on a bleak slab of ice christened Arlis II.

Last week, Pew was one of 20 men evacuated from the same wandering ice cake, which early this year began moving south toward oblivion in the warmer water of the Atlantic.

In the interim, Pew had enjoyed the comparative comforts of Madison, Wis., but he, like dozens of other young scientists, returned to the austere hamlet of plywood huts on Arlis II.

LIKES ICE LIFE

Why?

"I like it," Pew said.

A few others brave the ice for financial reasons. For most, however, the main motive is professional advancement.

The investigators gather data in widespread scientific fields for senior scientists in institutions back home.

Arlis II, meaning Arctic Research Laboratory — ARL — Ice Station No. 2, was the most successful of seven floating study camps the United States has operated in the Arctic Ocean.

ISLAND OF LIFE

And it was the most unusual. The three-square-mile Arlis II is called an "ice island" because it is 50 to 70 feet thick.

Arlis II was unique because its topography included a series of ice mounds 30 to 50 feet high, capped by rock and silt pushed onto it by a glacier while still part of the Ellesmere Shelf.

In January, the ice island escaped from the Arctic Ocean, and the Navy — which paid the University of Alaska to operate the station — began planning the evacuation. Caught in the swift east Greenland current, Arlis II moved south at more than 10 miles a day. The final 20 scientists and camp employees bade it goodbye last week.

SCIENTIFIC STAFF

Scientific projects were staffed by investigators from the Naval Oceanographic Office, Suitland, Md.; the U.S. Geological Survey, Menlo Park, Calif.; and the universities of Southern California, Wisconsin, Washington and Hokkaido, Japan.

Much of the data obtained, while adding to general scientific knowledge, will have no immediate practical application. Some will aid in development of techniques in such popular enterprises as submarine navigation.

SAYS U. S. DID NOT GIVE DATA IN DRUG ISSUE

CHICAGO (AP)—The defense has accused a government witness of failing to reveal certain facts concerning four men charged with mail fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of Krebiozen.

Defense attorney Julius Sherwin attempted Thursday to discredit testimony given during nine days as a government witness by Robert N. Palmer, an inspector of the Food and Drug Administration.

The trial in the U.S. District Court of Judge Julius J. Hoff-

WITHHELD DATA

The defendants are Dr. Stevan Durovic, 59, discoverer of Krebiozen; Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, 72, champion of the drug and director of medical research at Roosevelt University; Dr. William F. P. Phillips, 52, a general practitioner who has prescribed the drug; and Marko Durovic, 64, a lawyer and Stevan's brother.

During Sherwin's cross-examination Thursday, Palmer admitted that he had not given certain information to the jury on direct examination. Sherwin did not ask why he withheld any information.

BRITISH NANNY RARE LUXURY, "LADY X" SAYS

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP)—The British nanny Mrs. John F. Kennedy hopes to find for her children is one of a disappearing breed.

"A really good nanny is as rare as a warm, sunny English day," said a titled mother of two young children.

Lady X — "If you used my name, I'd never get another nanny and I'm looking again" — has had 200 nannies for her children in the last nine years.

Of the 200, only seven were British. Lady X tried Germans, French, Belgians, Poles, Italians, Spaniards, Austrians, Swiss, Swedes, Danes, Finns and one Russian.

Two turned out to be alcoholics. One tried to stab the butler. Another turned the gas heater on in the nursery and didn't light it — "She told me a little gas would make the children sleep better."

NON OLD-FASHIONED

None of the 200 were the old-fashioned nanny, Lady X emphasized.

"Other than those still in service and growing old," she said, "I'm convinced only a few exist."

Here for the dedication of the Rummymede Memorial to her husband, Mrs. Kennedy advertised last week for a British or French nanny to replace Maud Shaw. Miss Shaw, an Englishwoman, is retiring after nursing children for more than 40 years. She has been with Mrs. Kennedy for more than seven years, since shortly after Caroline was born.

RELIABLE NURSES

Why do Mrs. Kennedy and other mothers in America and Europe want British nannies? "Because they're so good, reliable and trustworthy," said Lady X.

In London, a nanny's pay is 6 or 7 pounds ($16.80 to $19.60) a week. The employer also supplies the starched uniforms, nanny's food and her room in the family home.

But in these days of short working hours, short weeks and union wages, most young British women choose the office, the factory or a home and family of their own.

There are 206 golf courses in Ireland.

$250,000 FIRE LOSS

DETROIT (AP)—Fire department officials estimated damage at $250,000 in a fire which routed 994 guests from the Statler Hilton hotel early Friday.

Fire Chief Glenn Thom said the arson bureau was investigating the blaze. He said the fire appeared to have been started by a smoldering cigarette in a service area on the eighth floor.

Six firemen were hurt fighting the general-alarm blaze.

20 SCIENTISTS ABANDON ICE SLAB IN ARCTIC

By TIM WEEKS
BOSTON (AP)—Three years ago, red-bearded Jim Pew of the University of Wisconsin spent the summer in the Arctic Ocean north of Siberia on a bleak slab of ice christened Arlis II.

Last week, Pew was one of 20 men evacuated from the same wandering ice cake, which early this year began moving south toward oblivion in the warmer weather of the Atlantic.

In the interim, Pew had enjoyed the comparative comforts of Madison, Wis., but he, like dozens of other young scientists, returned to the austere hamlet of plywood huts on Arlis II.

LIKES ICE LIFE

Why?

"I like it," Pew said.

A few others brave the ice for financial reasons. For most, however, the main motive is professional advancement.

The investigators gather data in widespread scientific fields for senior scientists in institutions back home.

Arlis II, meaning Arctic Research Laboratory — ARL — ice station No. 2, was the most successful of seven floating study camps the United States has operated in the Arctic Ocean.

ISLAND OF LIFE

And it was the most unusual. The three-square-mile Arlis II is called an "ice island" because it is 50 to 70 feet thick.

Arlis II was unique because its topography included a series of ice mounds 30 to 50 feet high, capped by rock and silt pushed onto it by a glacier while still part of the Ellesmere Shelf.

In January, the ice island escaped from the Arctic Ocean, and the Navy — which paid the University of Alaska to operate the station — began planning the evacuation. Caught in the swift east Greenland current, Arlis II moved south at more than 10 miles a day. The final 20 scientists and camp employees bade it goodbye last week.

SCIENTIFIC STAFF

Scientific projects were staffed by investigators from the Naval Oceanographic Office, Suitland, Md.; the U.S. Geological Survey, Menlo Park, Calif.; and the universities of Southern California, Wisconsin, Washington and Hokkaido, Japan.

Much of the data obtained, while adding to general scientific knowledge, will have no immediate practical application. Some will aid in development of techniques in such popular enterprises as submarine navigation.

SAYS U. S. DID NOT GIVE DATA IN DRUG ISSUE

CHICAGO (AP)—The defense has accused a government witness of failing to reveal certain facts concerning four men charged with mail fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of Krezbiozen.

Defense attorney Julius Sherwin attempted Thursday to discredit testimony given during nine days as a government witness by Robert N. Palmer, an inspector of the Food and Drug Administration.

The trial in the U.S. District Court of Judge Julius J. Hoff-

WITHHELD DATA

The defendants are Dr. Stevan Durovic, 59, discoverer of Krezbiozen; Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, 72, champion of the drug and director of medical research at Roosevelt University; Dr. William F. P. Phillips, 52, a general practitioner who has prescribed the drug; and Marko Durovic, 64, a lawyer and Stevan's brother.

During Sherwin's cross-examination Thursday, Palmer admitted that he had not given certain information to the jury on direct examination. Sherwin did not ask why he withheld any information.

BRITISH NANNY RARE LUXURY, "LADY X" SAYS

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—The British nanny Mrs. John F. Kennedy hopes to find for her children is one of a disappearing breed.

"A really good nanny is as rare as a warm, sunny English day," said a titled mother of two young children.

Lady X — "If you used my name, I'd never get another nanny and I'm looking again" — has had 200 nurses for her children in the last nine years.

Of the 200, only seven were British. Lady X tried Germans, French, Belgians, Poles, Italians, Spaniards, Austrians, Swiss, Swedes, Danes, Finns and one Russian.

Two turned out to be alcoholics. One tried to stab the butler. Another turned the gas heater on in the nursery and didn't light it — "She told me a little gas would make the children sleep better."

NON OLD-FASHIONED

None of the 200 were the old-fashioned nanny, Lady X emphasized. "Other than those still in service and growing old," she said, "I'm convinced only a few exist."

Here for the dedication of the Runnymede Memorial to her husband, Mrs. Kennedy advertised last week for a British or French nanny to replace Maud Shaw. Miss Shaw, an Englishwoman, is retiring after nursing children for more than 40 years. She has been with Mrs. Kennedy for more than seven years, since shortly after Caroline was born.

RELIABLE NURSES

Why do Mrs. Kennedy and other mothers in America and Europe want British nannies? "Because they're so good, reliable and trustworthy," said Lady X.

In London, a nanny's pay is 6 or 7 pounds ($16.80 to $19.60) a week. The employer also supplies the starched uniforms, nanny's food and her room in the family home.

But in these days of short working hours, short weeks and union wages, most young British women choose the office, the factory or a home and family of their own.

There are 206 golf courses in Ireland.

$250,000 FIRE LOSS

DETROIT (AP)—Fire department officials estimated damage at $250,000 in a fire which routed 994 guests from the Statler Hilton hotel early Friday.

Fire Chief Glenn Thom said the arson bureau was investigating the blaze. He said the fire appeared to have been started by a smoldering cigarette in a service area on the eighth floor.

Six firemen were hurt fighting the general-alarm blaze.

TWO MEN HURT IN ACCIDENTS THIS MORNING

Damage totaled $1,230 and two persons were injured in three accidents investigated by borough police.

Curvin Redding, 67, Gettysburg R. 2, suffered facial cuts and body bruises, according to preliminary examinations at the Warner Hospital, after being struck by an automobile this morning at 11:15 at the intersection of Baltimore and Middle Sts.

Police Chief Jack Bartlett said, Redding was crossing Baltimore St. from west to east when Lloyd E. Topper, 34, Hanover, going west on Middle St. made a left turn into Baltimore St. and struck Redding with the left front fender and bumper of his car. Chief Bartlett said Topper apparently was watching for another car entering the intersection and did not notice the pedestrian until too late to avoid him.

TWO HOSPITALIZED

Redding was removed to the Warner Hospital in the Gettysburg Firemen's ambulance. Also removed by the local ambulance to the hospital was Robert M. Musselman, 42 Gordon Ave., Twin Oaks, who suffered possible neck and back sprain in a three vehicle accident at the intersection of Carlisle and Water Sts. at 8:20 this morning.

Borough police said George S. Witt, 21, Littlestown R. 1, driving a German make compact car, had stopped on Carlisle St. at the intersection preparatory to making a left turn and was waiting for oncoming traffic to clear. Musselman brought his car to a halt behind Witt's vehicle. Robert T. Dean, 22, Gettysburg R. 3, going north also on Carlisle St. in a mail truck owned by Richard Stone, Carlisle skidded on the wet pavement, and his truck hit the rear of Musselman's car, driving it into Witt's vehicle. Damage was estimated at $60 to the truck $375 to the Musselman car and $100 to Witt's vehicle.

WAS ON CRASH CHECKUP

Musselman had pulled into Carlisle St. behind the Witt car only moments before the accident. He had been at Swope's service station checking a vehicle that had been in another accident investigated Saturday.

CONDUCT MAY PROCESSION AT ST. FRANCIS

On Sunday evening at 7 o'clock the parishioners of St. Francis Xavier Church participated in the May Procession in honor of the Mother of God.

Miss Margaret O'Dell, an Eighth Grade student of the parish school, performed the crowning ceremony attended by Miss Kay Sneringer and Miss Rita Cole, also members of the Eighth Grade class.

Members of the First Grade class, Susan Rosensteel, Jeffrey Roelker and Michael Staub, acted as crownbearers and train bearers respectively. Other students participating in the procession were from the First Communion class and the Fifth to Eighth Grades. This group, accompanied by Mrs. George Eberhart, organist, sang several hymns in honor of the Mother of God.

The sermon delivered by Rev. Manuel Esparza, S.J., reminded them in attendance that the dogma of Mary's Immaculate Conception emphasizes the fact that "our dream of becoming like God is possible because God is all-powerful." Father Esparza further stated: "God takes the first step in our becoming like God. It is God alone who sanctifies and saves us." In closing he said: "Each time you pray to this wonderful person who is the patroness of the United States it should serve as a reminder that the dream of mankind to be like God is possible."

The ceremony closed with Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament at which Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Kealy, pastor, officiated.

TO ATTEND VIEWING

The local Knights of Columbus will meet this evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Bender Funeral Home, Carlisle St. to view the body of member, Bernard P. Maguire, who died Friday.

MISS BOWERS, D.A. WOODWARD WED SATURDAY

The wedding of Miss Joyce Ann Bowers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Bowers, R. 1, to

MRS. WOODWARD

David Allen Woodward, son of Mrs. Gertrude Woodward, 136 Steinwehr Ave. and the late John Woodward was solemnized at Zion Lutheran Church, Leacock, Pa., Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mark A. Heiney.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli, white carnations and palms. The traditional wedding music was used. Mrs. George Rineer, Leola, Pa., was the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of ballerina-length, with a full skirt of chiffon over taffeta, bodice of Chantilly lace with tapered long sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and sequins on lace. She wore a string of pearls, a gift of the groom and carried

Brazilian Will Command Peace Force In Republic

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Brazilian Gen. Hugo Panaso Alvim was named to command the Inter-American Peace Force in the Dominican Republic Sunday night as the truce in Santo Domingo continued.

U.S. Lt. Gen. Bruce Palmer was named deputy commander of the force in which U.S. Marines and paratroopers will outnumber Latin Americans 10 to 1. Palmer commands the American forces who landed here after the Dominican revolt on April 24.

OTHER UNITS JOIN

First units of a 1,250-man Brazilian force were due in Santo Domingo today, to join small units from Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

The United States said it would withdraw about 1,700 troops as soon as the Brazilians arrived and that further Ameri-

296 SCOUTERS AT CAMPOREE CALLED "BEST"

With 296 Boy Scouts and adults participating, the Black Walnut Boy Scout District took part over the weekend in what Scout Field Executive Stanley C. Rogers termed "the best we ever held."

The Scouts and adults set up a tent city Friday night at the Clapsaddle farm south of here off the road leading along Wolf Hill from the Littlestown Rd. to the Bonneauville Rd.

Rain wiped out plans for a campfire Saturday night, but portions of the program scheduled for that time were held Sunday.

TWO "BEST TROOPS"

Ribbon awards for first place as the "best troop" in the camporee went to both Troop 75, of the Aspers-Gardners area, and Troop 78, sponsored by St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church here, with both receiving the same scores on general appearance of their tents and encampment area, menus, preparation of meals, fire patrol operation and all other activities connected with actual camping. Crosby N. Hartzell and Joel Hill were the judges for the camping inspections. The second prize ribbon went to Troop 70, of Arendtsville; third to Troop 71, Biglerville, and fourth to Troop 72, Benderville.

The 11 troops present were divided into 33 patrols for a "Gold Rush" competition based on scouting skills. The top possible score in that competition was 24 points and three patrols had the top score. To break the three-way tie a knot-tying contest was held and the Hawk Patrol of Troop 77, Bonneauville, won first place; the Wolf Patrol of Troop 163, Two Taverns, second, and the Panther Patrol of Troop 79, St. James Lutheran Church, third.

Chief judge for the "Gold Rush" competition was the camporee director, Paul Hollinger, of Littlestown. Judges at the various

PLANE FROM AIRPORT HERE FALLS IN HILLS

Two persons escaped serious injury Sunday when a single-engine airplane owned by Donald S. Sullivan, local airport operator crashed in a densely wooded area of North Mountain about four miles north of Newburg.

Piloting the Cessna 150 aircraft was Richard L. Miller, 38, Chambersburg.

His passenger was identified as Paul W. Houck Jr., 40, of Newburg. Miller said he suffered bruises of the head and ankle, but described them as minor. He said Houck was uninjured.

ENGINE STOPPED

He reported that he was flying over the mountain when the engine stopped. He said he and Houck walked about three miles to Houck's home to report the accident.

Don Sullivan, operator of Doersom Airport, Gettysburg, and owner of the craft, said the men took off from here on a

MEMORIAL DAY ON SUNDAY AT ARENDTSVILLE

Calling for a spiritual rearmament in a memorial service address at Greenmont Cemetery, Arendtsville, Sunday afternoon, the Rev. Alfred W. Gotwalt, pastor of the Oritanna EUB Church, said: "We've tried everything else, why not give God a chance?"

"Material things are not sufficient to buy happiness or to maintain the American way of life. Peace was the message and the goal of our Saviour. He gave us a new commandment: 'Love your neighbor.' Most of our troubles are due to our failure to act in harmony with the word of God."

Asking his audience when they last thanked God for peace, when they last prayed for the President and the secretary of state and when they have asked in prayer for God to intervene in Viet Nam or the Dominican Republic, the speaker said: "Our President talks of our military strength and tells the world we are the strongest nation in the world. Is this the answer to the problem of peace for our world? Is this the way to win friends? Military might doesn't mean a thing — nor does relief by the millions of dollars or military machines by the thousands of tons. Modern war means mass destruction. If we want God's blessing, we must sheath our sword and drink the cup of peace offered by Christ."

PARADE TO CEMETERY

IKE, MAMIE AT LUNCHEON

HARRISBURG (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower arrived at the State Capitol today for a special luncheon with Gov. William W. Scranton and state legislative leaders.

The World War II general was guest of honor at the luncheon in the governor's reception room.

Eisenhower recently returned to his farm at nearby Gettysburg after spending the winter in California.

Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, arrived here in a chauffeur-driven limousine. Scranton and his wife, Mary, who was dressed in a vivid green dress, were on hand to greet them.

The former Republican President, dressed in a gray suit and hat, looked fit and smiled as Scranton and he exchanged pleasantries.

Mrs. Eisenhower remained in the car and Mrs. Scranton entered the vehicle which then pulled away.

After posing for photographers Eisenhower and Scranton went into a private elevator to the Republican governor's office for a meeting.

About 40 persons were expected to attend the luncheon including state cabinet officers and legislative leaders from both parties.

Couple To Mark 50th Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Beard, 106 Carlisle St., will observe their 50th wedding anniversary quietly on Tuesday. They were married May 25, 1915, at the St. James Lutheran parsonage here by the late Rev. Joseph B. Baker, then the pastor.

They are the parents of four children: Mrs. Grace Reaver, R. 2; Mrs. Helen Bauder, Dayton, Fla.; Foster C. Beard, 113 Carlisle St., and Mrs. Betty Starklauf, Baltimore. There are three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. Beard is the former Irma Stover, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Stover, of Adams County, and Mr. Beard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Beard, late of Gettysburg. Mr. Beard engaged in farming until his retirement 19 years ago. Since then he has resided in Gettysburg. Their daughter, Mrs. Starklauf, and her husband, will be here for the golden wedding anniversary and will be observing their own fifth wedding anniversary on the same day.

CRALEY TALKS AT FAIRFIELD RITES SUNDAY

In a Memorial Day address honoring the dead of all wars, Congressman N. Neiman Craley Sunday afternoon appealed to several hundred at the annual service in Fairfield to "dedicate ourselves anew . . . by coping with the problems our democracy faces in 1965 . . . and apply to them that concern for human dignity and the devotion to its preservation that has always characterized the American experiment with democracy."

"We are a nation dedicated to certain ideals which deny us the right to be absolutely neutral. . . we cannot be both pacifists and idealists. We reluctantly abandon either," he asserted.

"Between the Revolutionary War and the Korean War we lost hundreds of thousands of men. . . We never cease to mourn men lost in war because we have little patience with war and no love of it at all. Our national pursuits have by choice been peaceful . . . our national interest and security have always been, however, something more than physical. Moral and intellectual interests have frequently directed our policy."

Elected President Of Student Council

Ronald Redding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Redding, Long Lane, was recently elected president of the Student Council at Delone Catholic High School, McSherrystown. Redding won out over four other candidates for the office during the school's annual elections.

Redding, a junior, is in the school's college preparatory course. He is a member of the National Honor Society and vice-president of the Junior class. He has also been a member of the school's baseball and basketball teams for three years.

NPS HISTORIAN IS MEMORIAL DAY SPEAKER

Martin R. Conway, historian for the Gettysburg National Park, urged preservation of "the old houses, the town squares, the landmarks and parks of our national past" in a Memorial Day talk at Biglerville Sunday afternoon. He said: "A people without regard for their past cannot have a future worthy of admiration."

Conway continued: "America's primitive beauty and wilderness must be preserved, not only for our own enjoyment, but most of all for the benefit of our children and their children. We need to preserve these areas as a memorial to those who have gone before us. For it was from their knowledge of the wilderness, it was from seeing the natural beauty of our nation, it was from a knowledge of their own heritage that our ancestors drew the inspiration, the love and devotion for America that they showed so well in their actions."

"If we are to remain a tough, viable, industrious people, eternally dedicated to the principle that life can and will be improved for everyone, that justice can and will be achieved and that mankind has an honorable destiny, then we must retain some of the things which helped us to gain this love of our nation, to know the things that make America great. If our youth are to know the basic lessons that the open places teach us, then we must save some open places, some wilderness for them; if they are

SOLDIER FROM FORT RITCHIE FATALLY HURT IN CAR CRASH

Robert Earl Johnson, 19, a soldier from Georgetown, S.C., stationed at Fort Ritchie, was fatally hurt Saturday night at 11 o'clock when a car in which he was a passenger collided with another vehicle on the old Emmitsburg Rd., eight miles south of here. State police said Johnson and a number of other Fort Ritchie soldiers were in a car operated by one of the soldiers, Derrol Hassell, 24, of Corpus Christi, Tex.

The Hassell car, police said, was northbound when it crashed into the rear of another northbound auto, operated by Bernard Norbert Kelly, 50, of 215 N. Seton Ave., Emmitsburg. The accident occurred near the Hillside Inn.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Johnson, who had been seated in the rear of the auto, was thrown partially out of the vehicle, and was crushed when the car turned on its side, coming down on his neck and head. The impact whirled the auto around so that when it came to rest on its side, it was facing toward Emmitsburg. The ambulance crew and others had to raise the car off the soldier to release his body.

The Adams County coroner, Dr. C. G. Crist, listed the death cause as a compound fracture of the skull and a broken neck. No injuries were listed in the Kelly car. Those injured in the other auto were the driver, Hassell, who suffered abrasions of the head and right arm; Dale Morgan, 23, who had lacerations of the forehead, and Steven Piano, 24, who had head injuries. The injured were removed from the scene to the Warner Hospital here and later were taken to the Fort Ritchie hospital by the military.

Police estimated damage to Hassell's 1961 car at $500 and to Kelly's sedan at $250.

2 IN HOSPITAL AFTER KNIFING ON WEST HIGH

Two men were hospitalized and a third placed in the county jail as a result of knifings in a "disturbance" on W. High St. at 3 o'clock Sunday morning.

Borough Policeman Ray Breighner discovered the "disturbance" while on patrol along the second block of W. High St.

He found two men engaged in an altercation, and got both into the police car. David Leslie Harlow, 29, Aspers R. 1, according to the officer, was bleeding badly from cuts about the stomach. Officer Breighner said Donald L. Yingling, 21, rear of Fifth St., had a knife in his hand when the officer arrived, and took it from him.

Arriving at the Warner Hospital with the two men, Officer Breighner called Sergeant Daniel Miller to assist.

About that time, according to Breighner, Kyle Hatcher, 24, 250 W. High St., was brought into the hospital by Hatcher's wife. Hatcher also had cuts about the stomach and was bleeding from the wounds. Breighner said he determined Hatcher had been in the same "disturbance."

Both Hatcher and Harlow were admitted as patients at the hospital. The officers charged Yingling before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder with aggravated assault and battery and placed him in jail.

Officer Breighner said none of the men so far has told him the cause of the "cutting."

Local Girl Hurt In Sunday Crash

Sharon L. Bream, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd W. Bream, 356 York St., was admitted to the Warner Hospital Sunday afternoon following an auto accident two miles south of Dillsburg on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg Rd.

State police from the Harrisburg barracks, who investigated, said the child was a passenger in a station wagon driven by her father, which struck a guard railing following a tire blowout. The accident occurred at about 2:30 Sunday afternoon.

At the hospital here the girl was held for observation after treatment for cuts and bruises.

CHURCHWOMEN TO MEET

Ed McMahon: "Tonight" Announcer A Busy Man

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

"Johnny continually amazes me; he can do anything. Did you see him on that skateboard? Those things are dangerous." Sound like proud parent pa-tois? It isn't.

It's "Big Ed" McMahon, announcer - straight man to Johnny Carson, extolling the star of NBC's "Tonight Show."

Ed also makes it known that he's perpetually in awe of the Carson talents, which the night before had extended even unto poker. "I lost six dollars," says Ed.

IS INSPIRING

But six dollars he can afford. Losing is definitely not a habit of his. And in the "awe" department he's plenty inspiring himself. Not that he's the least huffy or puffy about any of it, but trailing him you find a typical day is certainly not all beer and skittles. And though a major poll voted him "Announcer of the Year," his day is not all announcing and rehearsing, either.

"Oh, I've worked hard all my life," he says offhandedly. Then reaching across the neat, but not barren desk in his NBC office he obligingly double-checked the day's doings.

"Morning, singing lesson. I'm skipping a year on the straw hat circuit. Then next year I hope to be able to do 'Music Man,' 'Paint Your Wagon,' things like that. (Johnny's taking singing lessons, too you know.)

DOES EXHIBITS

"Then I conducted some business with one of my associates in del Sol of the Sun Productions. The company does lots of things, exhibits like the Vatican Pavilion at the World's Fair, the Boston Fine Arts Festival, displays in the lobbies of skyscrapers with exhibition space." He thumbed for a letter from England. "We do other things too, here's a request for our hopscotch rug. That's pretty expensive. F. A. O. Schwartz

"Big Ed" McMahon says he's happy to "backstop for Johnny Carson because 'I'm perpetually in awe of his talent.' The genial "Tonight" show announcer inspires awe himself with his capacity for hard work.

Toy Store has it, that's where the man saw it." Then he unfolded a poster. "We put out games, too. This one's just gone on the market 'The Game of Love.' "It's sort of a cross between monopoly and spin-the-bottle."

The business conference took place, by the way, mostly in a cab while Ed was enroute to small luncheon of big brass who meet regularly on behalf of the Marine Corps. The publisher of The New York Times is another member of the group.

IS LT. COLONEL

Ed holds the rank of lieutenant colonel and served his country twice around as a pilot. World War II interrupted his studies at Boston College and being called back to active duty in Korea put quite a crimp in his blooming television career. He's just become known as Philadelphia's "Mr. Television," then had to chuck it all to fly 85 combat missions (he holds six air medals).

Meanwhile back with the calendar of the "typical day."

"After lunch I had a conference with another associate from del Sol of the Sun, girl artist. I'll be in touch with both of them again later today. I'd said no to a lot of business opportunities until I decided to join in this one." Next item: "Then I came to NBC for a rehearsal of the commercials and a sort of run-through of the skit. We just give the skits a lick and a promise, sometimes I think maybe we should go over them more thoroughly." (Famous last words. As it turned out that was the night Johnny Carson blurted out a blippable word.)

GETS DRAWING BOARD

"Then I slipped out and bought a drawing board and some tracing paper, going to do some redesigning of our new home in Westchester.

"Thus ends 'my seven years on a train,'" says Ed good-humoredly. He used to have a daily commutation of 260 miles. 110 on the train to get to and from his home in Philadelphia, then another 20 driving. "I put it to good use though. I'd hunch down with a cardboard cup of black coffee, a doughnut and three newspapers. I also set myself a schedule of reading the classics." Says he specialized in the second-best books of top authors, "like Dostoevsky's 'The Idiot.' "

There had been a brief period, when he was high school student in Lowell, Mass., when he'd come in second-best himself. It was a contest for fledgling announcers. "My number one ambition at that time was to beat Ray Goulding who won." Then when Ray went into service, Ed's early ambition was realized. Ray went on to become 50 percent of the Bob and Ray comedy team later. "Oddly enough, we've never met since!"

MORE THAN READY

But by the time the early announcership did come through, Ed was more than ready. "Because of war needs, I'd had to change my major to electrical engineering. Though I wasn't the world's best - stood 11th in a class of 11 - I'd learned enough to do my own engineering on remotes." Ever the moon-lighter, Ed also worked as a surveyor during that period.

After the war Ed got into real training for his eventual top announcer's accolade. He enrolled again in college, this time Catholic University, and went after a degree in drama. But he'd also married and become a pop so he had to do some earning while learning (Claudia, the eldest is now a beautiful blonde and there are three other little McMahon sprouts "all different ages").

For Ed the then and the now is summed up by the board walk at Atlantic City. "Eighteen years ago I was selling vegetable peelers. Tricky work, too, you have to keep peeling and splicing. Two years ago I headlined as emcee at the Steel Pier. It's just across the walk, but it took me 16 years to get there."

WANTS MOVIE PART

Order one new halo for whoever insisted on doing right by casting Maureen O'Sullivan in the film version of "Never Too Late." Even when she took a brief fling at television with the "Today" show, she was wistful about the comedy she so enhanced on Broadway. A few months ago curled up and looking much more childlike than daughter Mia she had told me, "Oh I do hope they don't give my part to somebody else for the movie." She not only adores the part, she has a wonderful time playing opposite Paul Ford, who re-creates his original role, of the over-age "unexpected father."

SUPLANT HOT LINES?

James C. Hagerty, who used to be President Eisenhower's press secretary, and who's now an ABC vice-president, is doing some prognosticating. Says that by the year 2000 he foresees "instant summit meetings." He adds, "Imagine, without leaving his office a dignitary can call an instant conference with friends or enemies anywhere in the world." And - since it'll all be done by television - "World citizens will be part of it."

"DAISIES" GOBBLED UP

"Please Don't Eat The Daisies," the humorous novel by Jean Kerr, has already sold 2,500,000 copies. It's also serving as the basis for a new television series on NBC.

tribute to the dead whose talents and abilities were lost to the world through the curse of war. He admitted "there is a time when we must fight" but said: "I wonder whether Lincoln's words at Gettysburg in tribute of the dead that should not die in vain have any value in the hearts of the war lords who forget about or don't care about those who have died that their nation might live."

The address followed a parade from the center of town led by the Biglerville High School Band and including school children, Brownies, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts and American Legion color guard and drill team. At the cemetery, the band played the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" while children strewed flowers and then the Legion ritual was concluded with a firing squad, taps and an echo.

PUPILS TAKE PART

Luther M. Lady of the American Legion served as master of ceremonies for the program at the cemetery. The invocation was given by the Rev. Fred Trimble of the Arendtsville Church of Christ, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was recited by Michael McGlaughlin. The band played Kipling's "Recessional" and then Vicki Bream recited "In Flanders Field."

At the conclusion of the address, the band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and the Rev. Ronald G. VanBlargen, pastor of the Arendtsville Lutheran Church, read Washington's prayer for the United States and pronounced the benediction.

Several hundred persons attended the hilltop services.

Mrs. J. W. Wivell, Emmitsburg, Dies

Mrs. Madeline Wivell, 72, 203 E. Main St., Emmitsburg, died at her home at 5:30 o'clock this morning. She was a daughter of the late Cornelius and Anne Carroll Gelwicks.

Surviving are her husband, Joseph W., and these children: Mrs. Rita Felix, Emmitsburg; Charles, Painesfield, O.; Mrs. George Sprigg, Camp Hill, and Mrs. Joseph Kolb, Martinsburg, W. Va. There are 14 grandchildren and two brothers, J. Allen and Warren Gelwicks, both of Emmitsburg.

The deceased was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church at Emmitsburg and a member of the Sodality. She had been a member of the church choir for a number of years.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph's Church with the Rev. Fr. Louis Storms officiating. Interment will be made in St. Joseph's Cemetery. Friends may call at the Wilson Funeral Home in Emmitsburg Thursday evening after 7 o'clock. The Rosary will be recited there at 8 o'clock.

TWO MEN HURT

night by the local officers.

Borough police said a truck and three cars were involved in an accident Saturday night at 9 o'clock on the first block of Chambersburg St. A car operated east by David C. Bucher, 19, Biglerville R. 2, had stopped because a line of traffic halted ahead. Stephen Alan Leatherman, 22, Frederick, Md., had halted behind the Bucher sedan. Police said Nathan Miller Wallech, 21, Hagerstown, driving a truck east, attempted to brake and his vehicle skidded on the wet highway and hit the rear of the Leatherman sedan, driving it into the rear of the Bucher car. The truck driver then sought to back, police said, and the rear of his vehicle struck an eastbound car operated by Lorraine H. Hanisko, 100 Buford Ave.

Damage was $75 to the truck; $150 to the Bucher car, $450 to the Leatherman vehicle and $20 to the Hanisko auto. Wallech paid a fine and costs before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of driving too fast for conditions.

Police said investigation is continuing in the other accidents.

EXPLORERS POSTPONE

There will be no meeting of Explorer Post 79 tonight, Eric Bergdale has announced. Decision to postpone the session until next Monday night, May 31, at the church, was made because of the final examinations being held at the high school. Members of the post took part over the weekend as officials for the Boy Scout camporee, and as a result it was decided to permit the members to devote tonight to study for examinations.

A property at 215 N. Washington St. was sold at public sale Saturday afternoon to Dale Clark of Bendersville for $10,000. The sale was conducted by Robert J. Murphy as administrator of the estate of John R. Rupp. Personal property also was sold.

CHARGE DRIVER AFTER CRASH

Charles C. Greene, 54, Fayetteville R. 2, operator of mobile homes businesses in Franklin County and along the Lincoln Highway east of here, was arrested for driving while under the influence of intoxicants following an auto accident near here at 7:40 Saturday night.

State police said Greene was driving west on the Lincoln Highway slightly over a mile west of here when his car sideswiped an eastbound auto operated by Glenn Francis Carbaugh, 43, Biglerville. Damage was estimated at $250 to Greene's 1961 Cadillac and $50 to Carbaugh's 1950 sedan.

No one was reported injured in the accident.

Justice of the Peace John Whitman, before whom Greene is scheduled to be arraigned at 5 o'clock this evening, said State Policeman Donald Simpson, who had gone to investigate the accident, "had some difficulties with Greene," and as a result called for Officer Clifford Lightner to assist. Greene was taken to the Warner Hospital where Dr. Harrison F. Harbach signed a certificate that Greene was under the influence of intoxicants, according to the justice.

Greene was taken before Justice Whitman and Mrs. Greene was notified by telephone. She arrived shortly and, after Greene had posted $500 cash bail to appear for arraignment this evening, he was released.

CRALEY TALKS

fied their lives during the Civil War was the impetus to the original Memorial Day or Decoration Day. The idea appeared in various parts of the country, spontaneously and with only local organization before it became a national celebration. In Columbus, Mississippi, in 1865 began decorating the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers alike. Earlier than that, on May 30, 1865, the farm community of Boalsburg, Pennsylvania gathered for honoring the dead, led by the example of a daughter who had lost her father at nearby Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, gathered for her son. The two had met at the cemetery in 1864, promised to meet again the next year. Their pact was turned into a community endeavor because the people of Boalsburg felt as Churchill during World War II that never "was so much owed by so many to so few."

"In 1868 General John Logan, at that time national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, issued a statement setting aside May 30, 1868: 'For the purpose of strewing flowers, or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion and whose bodies now lie in almost every city, town, and hamlet churchyard in the land.' His message went on to say:

"Let us, then, at the time appointed, gather around their sacred remains and garland the passionless mounds above them with choicest flowers of springtime: let us raise above them the dear . . . flag they saved from dishonor; let us in this solemn presence renew our pledges to aid and assist those whom they have left among us as sacred charges upon the Nation's gratitude . . ."

And he concluded with the hope that this would be a yearly observance, as it has come to be.

FIRST OBSERVANCE

"The first celebration in 1868 was concentrated in the nation's capital at the National Cemetery at Arlington. General and Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant sat upon a somber black draped platform while several speeches were given. One was by General James A. Garfield, who would become President of the United States some few years after Grant.

"It is one of the poignant ironies of all such celebrations that those remaining can never do adequate service to those who gave their lives. The English author, William Hazlitt, expressed this effectively when he wrote: 'Those only deserve a monument who do not need one: that is, who have raised themselves a monument in the minds and memories of men.'"

"For some of you here this must be a day of special and private mourning. The victories we record you know personally were accomplished by loneliness and loss. Our men who have given their lives, our widows who have sacrificed their husbands, our mothers who have lost sons have this one consolation, that the sacrifice was not for land or power; for an ambitious monarch or a power-crazy dictator; for military glory or national grandeur. The sacrifice was for the preservation of rights; some protection or extension of human freedom and dignity. It is a poor satisfaction, but it is in the long run a consolation.

battleground as a national cemetery. He warned those present and the future generations in his address that all our memorializations must be ineffectual.

"One of our 'fallen heroes,' John McCrae, who died during World War I, had written a poem about 'Flanders' Fields' in which he urged the forthcoming generations to pick up the torch.

"That torch was passed on and taken up by a World War II veteran who became another kind of 'fallen hero' as President, John F. Kennedy in his inaugural address spoke to Americans and to the world. He said:

"Let the word go forth from this time and place, to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans born in this century, tempered by war, disciplined by a hard and bitter peace, proud of our ancient heritage—and unwilling to witness or permit the slow undoing of those human rights to which this nation has always been committed today at home and around the world.

"Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and the success of liberty."

"May this passage constitute our reaffirmation and rededication on Memorial Day, 1965."

HATES HOUSEWORK

Love the honesty of Mary Tyler Moore. Says she loves hard work — but that doesn't include housework. Furthermore she works hard enough at performing to pay somebody else to do the cooking and scrubbing.

"I can look after a home all right, but I don't ever intend to do it full time." And as for housework being good exercise for the figure, she says she'd rather study ballet. And she does, two strenuous classes a week.

PORTER MUSIC

It may not be as traditionally American as turkey and cranberry but it couldn't be more delicious. The entertainment, that is, that NBC plans to dish up in full color for its Thanksgiving Night special on November 25. Starring will be the 77-year-old charmer, Maurice Chevalier, in "Remember Cole Porter" devoted, of course, "exclusively to the music of Cole Porter."

DECLARES LBJ PLAN INCLUDES RED RUN CUBA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., said today permanent existence of a Communist Cuba now appears to be part and parcel of President Johnson's foreign policy.

"No other conclusion seems possible," Laird said, "in light of the President's recent statement that we cannot permit the establishment of another Communist government in the Western Hemisphere."

"If this is, in fact, administration foreign policy, it certainly will not enjoy bipartisan support."

Laird, chairman of the House Republican Conference and a member of the House Appropriations subcommittee which handles defense funds, said unlike some Democrats, Republicans have consistently supported the President in Vietnam and the Dominican Republic.

HAS GOP SUPPORT

Laird expressed hope that U.S. aims and objectives, especially in Latin America and Southeast Asia, won't involve the eventual establishment of coalition governments with Communist elements and backed by U.S. guarantees.

"Our actions now appear to be firm, but our policies are still unclear," he said in an interview.

Consultation with the Organization of American States before acting in Latin America was one aspect of what many believed to be firm American policy, Laird said, "yet only notification and no consultation took place before American Marines landed in the Dominican Republic."

Bookmobile Will Make Four Trips

The community service bookmobile will make the first of four trips scheduled this week from the Adams County Public Library here on Tuesday afternoon when it will go to Lattimore at 1:15 p.m. It will go to Hampton at 2:30, to East Berlin at 3:30, to Abbottstown at 5:30 and to Edge Grove at 7.

Other trips for the week are scheduled as follows: Wednesday, to Centennial at 1:15 p.m.; to Berlin Junction at 2:30; to Irishtown at 3:15; to New Chester at 4:45 and to New Oxford at 6:30; on Thursday, to Two Taverns at 1 p.m.; to Germantown at 2:15; to Hillcrest at 3:30; to Greenmount at 5:45 and to Hoffman Home at 6:45; and on Saturday to Bonneauville at 9 a.m.; to Hostetter's at 11:15; to Brushtown at 11:50; to Mt. Pleasant at 1:30 and to McSherrytown at 2:30 p.m.

RECEIVE AWARD

Three Gettysburg College Juniors have received $300 scholarships from the Lutheran Brotherhood Life and Health Insurance Society. They are Nolan R. Walborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Walborn, 108 Springs Ave., Gettysburg, a physics major; Miss Marilyn Deitrick, Mountoursville, a psychology major; and Gerald C. Fisher, Danville, majoring in psychology and sociology.

NAMED TO SOCIETY

James R. Oyler Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. James R. Oyler, Biglerville, has been elected to Cyanide, the Junior Class honorary society at Lehigh University, Bethlehem. Those chosen are selected on the basis of "high scholarship and demonstrated qualities of leadership and are responsible for many campus functions."

NAMED TO FRATERNITY

Miss Linda Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin B. Lee, Barlow St., and a Senior at Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, Mo., has been initiated into Kappa Delta Pi honorary education fraternity. The fraternity recently observed its 40th anniversary. Students to the group are working for Bachelor of Science degrees in education to become teachers.

"WE LIVE AND LOVE"

We live and love with faithful hearts... there is no better way... for faith can cause the sun to shine... however dark the day... we struggle on with fervent hope... that things will turn out right... and with the help of God above... somehow we'll see the light... we work toward a certain goal... and do our very best... to navigate the sea of life... and stand the cruelest test... we go through some relentless storms... that almost beat us down... but power from within the soul... disperses every frown... success or failure hinges on... the will to see things through... we live and love with faithful hearts... to make our dreams come true.

Adams Merged, Biglerville High School.

Many parents will be contacted by letter to ascertain their interest in having their children participate. Any parent may call Miss Rutledge for further information.

HAS BOARD APPROVAL

In order to participate, the children must themselves want to continue therapy during the summer and parents must agree to arrange for regular attendance and transportation, Miss Rutledge said.

Any children appropriately identified at preschool registration plus any children regularly enrolled (Kindergarten to 12th Grade) in the public schools and residing in the county are eligible for admission. "Operation Headstart" programs may also arrange for speech improvement and language development sessions, she said.

The therapist conducting the program will be C. Robert Orndorff, currently in the employ of the Adams County Board of School Directors as a speech teacher.

Approximately 50 or 60 children may be scheduled for two weekly sessions of 30 minutes each. Interested children and parents are encouraged to discuss the program with the speech therapist serving their own school district.

This proposal for the itinerant speech services during the summer was approved by the Adams County Board of School Directors at the April meeting.

U.S. Air Force F105s bombed the barracks near the Vinh area on missions along 10 different highways. The planes also attacked four secondary bridges with rockets and Bullpup missiles, the spokesman said, and dropped a span of a bridge near Ha Tinh, about 170 miles south of Hanoi.

The spokesman said the pilots reported heavy round fire at times but no enemy aircraft sighted. He said all planes returned safely.

Fog and low clouds covered some targets in the morning but the weather cleared by early afternoon.

The OAS also announced it had worked out an informal cease-fire between the two warring factions. A 24-hour truce it arranged to evacuate dead and wounded expired at noon Saturday, but fighting did not resume.

An OAS spokesman said the rebel leader, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, and the junta chief, Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, had agreed not to open fire unless attacked.

stations were "Dry Gulch" (where the patrols had to make polluted water fit for drinking), Aldon Gleason and George Gantz; "Grand Canyon," (where a rescue operation took place) James T. Hays Jr.; "Rattlesnake Ridge," William Diehl; "Camp Necessity," Joseph Sunbury; "Good and Plenty," (where the units fished and found edible plants) Merle Eisenhart; "Wilderness Trail," Francis Garlich and Richard Spangler; "American River," (where the competition was on judging distance by two methods) James Adair.

PIN FOR HAYS

At the closing ceremony Sunday, the Scouts presented a Scout pin to District Commissioner James T. Hays and a Boy Scout medal to Mrs. Hays, in recognition of their service to Scouting. Mr. Hays is resigning as district commissioner because of plans to move to another state.

An "organized pin," the first ever given in the district, was presented to Paul Bretzmann, Scoutmaster of Troop 72, Bendersville, for his work in promoting and getting underway Cub Pack 72 in Bendersville. Scout Field Executive Rogers said, similar pins will be awarded in the future to "any man or woman" who successfully promotes establishment of a new unit.

"Break Through" awards were presented to four troops who re-charted on time with an increase in membership. They were Troops 72, 75, 76 and 84.

SPECIAL AWARD

A special award was presented to the Rattlesnake Patrol of Troop 71, Biglerville for "quick thinking" during the competition. The patrol arrived at the "Wilderness Trail" portion of the competition where it was necessary to draw a map. Having lost their pencil, the boys used charcoal from an old campfire nearby to draw the map.

Assisting Paul Hollinger as camp director were District Commissioner Hays, Joseph Sunbury of Biglerville, Francis Garlich, Gettysburg, and Field Executive Rogers.

The campfire was built by Explorer Posts 79 and 84 which also assisted generally in operation of the camporee. The Explorers will hold their own camporee in June.

ATTEND SERVICES

Sunday morning Catholic Scouts attended Mass at their home churches while a Protestant service was conducted at the camp site by Earl Ecker, Scoutmaster of Troop 71. The first aid tent was manned by members of Troop 78 under direction of Dr. Joseph H. Riley, district health and safety chairman. George Gantz delivered fresh water to the camp site daily by truck.

A total of 241 boys were in the 11 troops encamped for the event. The Explorers present totaled 11. There were 44 adults present either as unit leaders or district staff members. Troops attending and the number of boys with each included Troop 70, Arendtsville, nine; 71 Biglerville, 20; 72 Bendersville, 16; 75 Aspers-Gardners, 28; 76 Fairfield, 12; 77 Bonneauville, 25; 78 Gettysburg, 29; 79 Gettysburg, 47; 84 Littlestown, 18; 160 Gettysburg, 13, and 163 Two Taverns, 13.

TRUCK HITS POLE

A tractor-trailer rig driven by James V. Withrow, 23, Arendtsville, struck a street marker pole in Hanover at 4:55 p.m. Friday. Hanover police said the truck was moving south on Carlisle and was making a right turn into Elm when the trailer caught the pole, causing about $15 damage to it. The truck, owned by Martin B. Grove, Hanover R. 4, was not damaged, police said. The street marker is property of the borough.

to be reminded of the ideals of their ancestors, then there must be some place that they can see, to know what inspired their ancestors. If all is to be wiped away by the bulldozers, then we will have cheated our children and in doing so cheat also our ancestors who gave so much for America."

LEGION RITUAL

Conway recalled that Sunday marked the 100th anniversary of the "grand review" of Union Civil War troops in Washington following the Civil War.

Charles L. Yost, principal of the Biglerville High School, was master of ceremonies for the service held in the Biglerville Cemetery following a parade through the town. The Ira Lady Post of the American Legion presented its ritual with Clarence D. Deardorff serving as commander. The invocation was given by the Rev. Dr. Henry W. Stenat.

Carolyn Heintzelman, a Sixth Grade student at Biglerville Elementary School, recited Lincoln's Gettysburg Address before the Biglerville High School band played "God of Our Fathers." Richard Hollebaugh, another Biglerville Sixth Grader, then recited "In Flander's Field." Following Conway's talk, and the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the band, Rev. Norman Wilson concluded the program with benediction.

Producer Will Discuss Labor

Palmer C. Mendelson, president of Mendelson-Zeller Co., San Francisco, Calif., will review the farm labor situation at the national apple grower federation meeting in Sun Valley, June 24-27.

"Agricultural Labor Today... Tomorrow... If at All," is the topic title assigned to Mendelson. One of agriculture's plain spoken students and analysts of the farm labor issue.

Mendelson has been in the produce business for some 43 years. His firm is one of the top 10 in the nation producing, buying, selling fresh produce, domestically and abroad. His spoken and written discussions of the bracero program sparked accelerated industry and government emphasis on the issue a year ago.

Mendelson will be one of more than a dozen topnotch spokesmen at the Sun Valley sessions.

DRIVER GETS TRIAL

Daniel W. Barnhart, Gettysburg R. 2, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving during suspension Friday in Franklin County court, Chambersburg, will be given a trial without a jury on June 21.

IN WEDDING PARTY

The maid of honor, Miss Phyllis Shue, R. 3, wore a blue ballerina-length gown of chiffon over taffeta with scoop neckline and a matching blue headdress. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white carnations with streamers.

Miss Dorothy Bowers, sister of the bride, the bridesmaid, wore a ballerina-length gown of yellow chiffon over taffeta with a scoop neckline and a matching headdress. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white carnations with streamers.

Michael Chandler, Camanche, Iowa, served as best man.

Miss Kimberly Ann Spence, Arendtsville, cousin of the bride, the flower girl, wore a pink dress and carried a basket of multi-colored mixed spring flowers.

ON WEDDING TRIP

The bride's mother was attired in a three-piece aqua suit with white accessories and wore a corsage of white sweetheart roses. The mother of the groom wore a blue shantung dress with white accessories and a similar corsage.

Following a reception in the social room of the church the couple left on a three-day wedding trip to an unannounced destination. For traveling the bride chose a two-piece pink knit suit with white accessories and the corsage of pink roses lifted from her bouquet. Upon their return they will reside near Hagerstown, Md.

The bride will graduate from Gettysburg Area High School in this year's class. The groom graduated from the same school last year and is employed by Doubleday and Co., Smithsburg, Md.

MOOSE HEADS ARE HONORED

The Women of the Moose and the Loyal Order of Moose gave a farewell party Sunday evening for Mrs. Sarah Thomas, 67, who left today for Moose Haven, Fla., where she will reside. Mrs. Thomas has resided in Gettysburg for the past 40 years. She was born in McBerrystown and has been a member of the Women of the Moose here for 22 years. Her husband, Paul Thomas, who died in 1938, was a member of the Hanover lodge for 21 years. The 40 men and women who attended the party gave Mrs. Thomas cash and other gifts.

At 8 o'clock Friday evening the Moose held its first governor's inaugural ball honoring Governor Robert E. Miller. Music was provided by the Melo-Tones of Hanover. The 200 guests were served champagne and other refreshments.

William Dayton, secretary-manager, presided at the ceremony honoring the past governors. As they and their ladies entered the ballroom they were escorted to their places by Mr. and Mrs. Dayton. Past governors and their ladies who were honored included: Allen Harmon, John C. Goodermuth, Irvin Plattenburg, Francis X. Yingling, Dallas Blubaugh, Paul E. Miller, Merle Baumgardner, Dan P. Miller, Clifford Harmon, Stephen C. Smith, C. Lester Oyler, Robert S. Neary, Nevin C. Bush, Merle L. Hankey, Irvin M. Seilhamer, Henry M. Herring, John W. Sanders, Maurice W. Shindeldecker and Archie G. Martin.

The incoming officers honored were Governor Robert E. Miller, Junior Past Governor Merle L. Hankey, Junior Governor William H. Orner, Prelate Mehrle Feeser, Secretary-manager William E. Dayton, Treasurer Robert J. Snyder, Sergeant-at-arms Leonard Miller, Inner Guard Joseph Carver, Outer Guard Newton Williams, and trustees, John W. Sanders, Robert S. Neary and Francis Bowling.

Chester Steffen, district state director, and Mrs. Steffen, Selinsgrove, also were guests. He complimented the lodge and presented Governor Miller with a plaque to be hung in the entrance hall. Guy Sterner was presented with a pin as an award for securing 75 new members. All the ladies were presented with wrist corsages of varicolored carnations.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Destructive Flood: The heavy rains of Friday and Saturday last raised the streams in this county to unprecedented heights on Saturday night. Marsh Creek was 18 inches higher than ever before known. The damage to fencing, fields, roads, etc., is immense. The pouring rain of Sunday evening caused another flood, also producing much destruction.

The Day of Humiliation and Prayer (June 1st) will be observed with appropriate services at the Grove, at Mr. Rife's Blacksmith Shop near Cashtown. Rev. S. L. M. Conser will deliver the eulogy and appropriate national airs will be sung. Exercises will commence at 10 o'clock A.M. By order of the committee, John Chamberlin, Ch'n.

Several persons residing in Freedom township in this county in the early part of the war enlisted in the Rebel service — some of whom have since returned to their old homes. Indignant at this, a meeting of the loyal men of the Township was held at Mr. Moritz's on the 10th inst. who unanimously resolved that they would not allow any persons to remain among them who had left to enlist in the rebel army, and appointed a committee to wait upon those who have, or may return hereafter, and notify them to leave within twenty-four hours after such notice.

This country is undergoing a prodigious change. In ten years it will hardly know itself for the same. Two streams of emigration are pouring through it, the one into and the other out of its very depths. Thousands of Europeans are coming to America and tens of thousands of Rebels are going to Mexico. The one class will restore things in the South, the other will develop in the beautiful land of the Aztecs. These pioneers are of the best material. The drones of Europe and the drones of Dixie will never stir. But the hardy and enterprising spirits from England, Germany and Ireland will come and the brave, though beaten, adventurers of the seceded States, will go. Thus in ten years we shall see a wonderful change in both countries.

The preparation for the grand parade of the armies from the South at Washington today and tomorrow, go on. A large platform is erected for Gen. Grant, with the dignitaries that may attend him, in front of the Executive mansion, from which point he will review the troops. The Engineer Bureau received orders to lay a pontoon bridge across the Potomac below the aqueduct at Georgetown, to facilitate the march of the troops to this side of the river. It is now stated that the armies will cross the Potomac and march into Washington in three columns, viz: one column across the Long bridge, another across the aqueduct and the third across the pontoon bridge.

Keep Busy: Men who have half a dozen irons in the fire are not the ones to go crazy. It is the man of voluntary or compelled leisure who mopes or pines and thinks himself in the mad house of the grave. Motion is all Nature's law. Action is men's salvation, physical and mental. And yet, nine out of ten are wistfully looking forward to the coveted hour when they shall have leisure to do nothing, or something, only if they like it — the very siren that has lured to death many a man.

INITIATIVE

Initiative is the one essential for all success, whether small or great. But the more initiative exercised, of course, the greater the task achieved. Take that one word Initiative. Count the "I's" — it's full of them. It's the "I" in a person that gives to him or her, initiative. It's the single idea of one person, as a rule, that inspires hordes of others to follow him, or her. The very derivation of this word means to lead, to take the first step. How easy it is to follow someone who has taken this first step — perhaps when everyone else laughed at such a person! When the Wrights flew their frail flying machine into the air — the flight lasting but the fraction of an hour, who dreamed that in one's own lifetime there would be jet planes flying across the Atlantic with people eating breakfast in New York and dinner in London or Paris of the same day! The initiative of but a few men of faith brought out this remarkable achievement.

Many years ago was published an amusing story entitled "The Go-Getter." It was the story of a chap who applied for a job with a lumber concern but who was turned down by everyone up to the president. He saw him and made such an appeal that he was asked to return after lunch. He did — handing in his card as salesman for the concern! This aroused the interest of the head of the firm and he told the young man that they had some lumber no one else could sell, and asked him if he thought he could sell it. The reply of the chap was that he could "if you can drive a nail into it!" He was engaged and sold every scrap of it.

People of initiative rule the world. Every phase of activity points to the initiative of someone who had the will, the faith, and the drive to bring things to pass. And this will remain the secret of all success in man's every endeavor. Think the things out. Do the job better than it has ever been done before. Keep improving the work that you, as an individual, do. Those of no initiative are mere by-standers.

The difficulty between the Western Maryland R.R. and Simon J. Diller, proprietor of the McClellan House, over the line of the latter's lot, has been amicably settled. The railroad's fence will run east on a line with the station up to the coal shed, then north about six feet and then east to Livers' machine shop. Simon's porter will be allowed to solicit trade on the platform while the others will be restricted to the pavement, and a road will be run from the station through the lot up to the hotel. The embankment will be sodded and flower beds will be laid out, adding very much to the attractiveness of the station.

LOCAL GIRL IS WED SATURDAY IN REDEEMER'S

Miss Frances Elaine Bridinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Bridinger, 36 W. King St., Littlestown, and Larry Jule Priori, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Priori Jr., Downingtown, were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Redeemer's United Church of Christ, Littlestown.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Glenn K. Flinchbaugh. The altar flowers were white gladioli and white carnations. Potted palms and bouquets of white carnations and yellow pompons also graced the sanctuary.

Barry Wisotzky, Littlestown, was organist and presented a 15-minute recital prior to the ceremony, including "I Take Thee Dear" by Johnson and Carter, "I Do" by Joseph Cassin and "Our Wedding Prayer" by Aliene Bronson Webb, and played the traditional wedding marches. He also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Joan Sharpless, Littlestown, who sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

GIVEN BY FATHER

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length silk organza sheath gown styled with a lace front, scoop neckline and three-quarter length sleeves; her detachable overskirt had a chapel-length train and was accented with a bow at each side and a large bow at the back. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a crown of rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white bridal roses.

Mrs. Carol Six, 32 Columbus Ave., Littlestown, friend of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a street-length gown of yellow organza fashioned with a fitted bodice and an overskirt with a large bow in front. Her headress was a yellow organza flower to which was attached a chin veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and green sweetheart roses with carnations and pompons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Priori, Downingtown, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Mary Ann Carmack and Miss Sharyn McCloskey, both of Philadelphia, friends of the bride. They wore Nile green ensembles styled identical to that worn by the matron of honor. They carried bouquets like that of Mrs. Six.

OTHERS IN PARTY

Miss Yvonne Six, 32 Columbus Ave., Littlestown, was flower girl. She was dressed in white organza with yellow and carried flowers of corresponding colors.

The best man was the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Wendell Arosz, Downingtown. The ushers were Lloyd Lineman, Philadelphia, Wayne Vinasco, Pittsburgh, and Richard Legore, Gettysburg. The bride's mother was attired in a knitted dress of pale rose arnel and celanese with white trim. She had a corsage of cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother wore a wine-colored print sheath dress of dacron, with a cymbidium orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social hall. Approximately 125 wedding guests were in attendance from Philadelphia, Downingtown, Coatesville, Drexel Hill, Bala-Cynwyd, Boyertown, Bayville, N.J., and nearby communities.

ON WEDDING TRIP

The couple left on a wedding trip to the New York World's Fair. For traveling, the bride selected a multicolored jersey suit. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Priori will reside in Downingtown.

The bride was graduated from Littlestown and Patricia Stevens Finishing and Secretarial College, Philadelphia. She is employed as a secretary for the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, Philadelphia. Her husband is a graduate of Scott High School, Downingtown, and the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. He is management trainee for the American Finance Company.

BON VOYAGE PARTY

Mrs. Betty Leister Smith was the guest of honor at a recent bon voyage party held at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leister, Littlestown R. 1. Mrs. Smith will leave for Japan next Wednesday, June 2, to join her husband, A/2C Ronald Smith, stationed at Yakota Air Force Base. Mrs. Walter Groce, Mrs. George Bittle and Mrs. Leister, hostesses, served refreshments to Mrs. Smith, Mrs. John Leister, Mrs. Alvin W. COURTESY AND A COP

I heard him sound his siren, and I wondered could it be The motorcycle copper had some cause for stopping me? I was surely driving safely, but he waved me to the side. When I asked him for the reason: "Just a wrong turn," he replied.

"There's a sign upon that corner, just as plain as it can be, Which forbids all left hand turning." It was one I'd failed to see. Not an angry word was spoken. He was courteous, I polite. A policeman and a citizen. I was wrong and he was right.

Now anger leads to anger and a curse will bring a curse And scorn for law and order often leads to something worse. But policemen being human, treated fairly, will be fair, And I merely got a warning for the turn forbidden there. Protected, 1965, by The George Matthew Adams Service

"CHUCK" HALL

(Continued From Page 1) trout was the biggest of any fish caught by the 309 youngsters taking part in all of the competitions. In addition to the "under nine" age group, there were 96 who took part in the fishing competition for those aged 10 through 12 and 49 in the age 13 through 15 competition.

HAD BEEN STOCKED

Winner in the 10-through 12-year group was Larry Bream, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Bream, Fairfield. Two boys had fish of equal size for the top honors in the 13 through 15 age group; Allen Rehmyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Rehmyer, and David Rinehart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evers Rinehart, both of Gettysburg. By a flip of a coin the trophy was awarded to the Rehmyer youth.

The up-to-nine-year-old group caught 106 fish, including one three-year-old who caught two during his 45 minutes along the stream and landed both of them without assistance. The 10-to-12-year-olds caught 64 fish and the older group about 40.

Donald Hershey, of the committee in charge, said possibly 1,000 adults were present to watch, and "cheer on" the junior fishermen. The event Sunday was described as "twice the size" of last year's first "running" of the fishing rodeo. To make sure the youngsters had fish to catch the stream flowing through the park was stocked shortly before fishing began.

PLANE FROM

local flight at 9:45 a.m. Miller reported that the plane went down about 25 minutes after takeoff. Sullivan, who went to the crash site, described the craft—a 1965 model with a retail value of about $10,500 — as a "total loss."

PLANE STAYS THERE

While parts can be salvaged from the plane, Sullivan said, he doubts that the entire craft will ever be removed from the mountain.

He said he could not make any statements concerning the cause of the crash until the Federal Aviation Agency and the State Aeronautics Commission have conducted an investigation.

STUNT DRIVERS IN DRIVER TEST

A team of stunt drivers headed by racing's Joie Chitwood staged the typical accidents which will be shown as part of the televised National Drivers' Test" (CBS, 10 p.m. Monday May 23).

The unique programs has already been hailed by some safety and police officials as "one of the most important services ever offered by television."

Over 30,000,000 forms have been distributed to enable drivers to score themselves as they take the test in front of their home television screens.

The accident "examples" were filmed on public highways and got camera coverage from three ground positions, plus specially equipped camera cars and a helicopter. One of the cars at all times had a camera so positioned "as to give viewers the feeling of being in the driver's seat."

Among the team of five pros was Chitwood's 21-year-old son, Joie Jr.

The medieval astrologers also forecasted the weather.

Ardinger Sets Two More Records; Mount Captures Team Title In NCAA Meet

In another amazing exhibition of speed, Don "the Bullet" Ardinger set two more Gettysburg College school records as he helped the Bullets to a fourth place finish in the fourth annual NCAA college division Atlantic Coast Regional track and field championships Friday and Saturday at Mt. St. Mary's College.

Ardinger, acting like a magnet, drew a large crowd to the finish line of the 100-yard dash to watch him turn in a record smashing time of 9.4 seconds. Only three runners in the nation had been clocked at better than 9.5. Ardinger makes number four. The Williamsport, Md., sophomore came back 40 minutes later to attract another large crowd. This time, running around a curve, he breezed to a 20.9 seconds in the 220-yard dash. Both marks better his previous school records.

ENTER IC4A

Ardinger, along with sophomore pole vaulter Scott Shoupe and mile relay teammates Chris Hayden, Jerry Staub and Bruce Wilson, will take part in the IC4A championships to be held at Rutgers University Friday and Saturday. Never before in the history of Gettysburg College has an athlete won in the IC4A's. However, Bob Linders, 880-yard runner, placed third two years ago.

The best all-around team performance during the two-day affair was turned in by host school Mt. St. Mary's. Coach Jim Deegan's Mountainers walked off with team honors by rolling up 78 points compared to second place Maryland State's 67. Gallaudet finished third with 20 points and Gettysburg produced 18.

Bill Walsh, the Mount's outstanding trackman, accounted for 16 of his team's 78 tallies. Walsh won the triple jump; finished second in the high jump; third in the pole vault; fourth in the javelin, and fifth in both the discus and broad jump. Jack Campbell copped the discus, Paul Morrison won the shot put and Tom Newberger won the broad jump to contribute to the Mount scoring.

Gettysburg's remaining points came on a second place in the pole vault by Shoupe and a second recorded by the mile relay team. Shoupe leaped 13'6" to better his own school record by one inch. The relay team of Wilson, Hayden, Staub and Ardinger was clocked in 3:20.7. The winning Maryland state relay team, one of the finest in the country, circled four times in 3:10.2. Earl Rodgers, who ran anchor on the team, had just competed in the two-mile run.

OTHER DOUBLE WINNERS

Kings Point's Lloyd Smith was one of two remaining double winners. The distance ace won the mile in 4:10.7. The two-mile run in 9:36.1. Winston-Salem's Leon Coleman walked off with the 120 high hurdles in 13.9 seconds and the 440 low hurdles in 54 seconds flat.

The team scoring with key includes: Mt. St. Mary's (MSM), 78; Maryland State (MD), 67; Gallaudet (G), 20; Gettysburg (Gbg), 18; Kings Point (KP), 17; Winston-Salem State (WS), 10; East Carolina College (ECC), 10; C. W. DEAN CHANCE BATTERED AS CHISOX WIN; YANKS SPLIT

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's wrong with Dean Chance?

"Don't ask me; I can't explain it," said the 1964 Cy Young winner after the Chicago White Sox battered him from the mound en route to an 8-3 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels Sunday.

Chance, whose 20-9 record last season earned him the award as the best pitcher in the majors, now has dropped three games in 13 days and has seen his earned run average soar to 3.88.

He lasted only 2-3 innings against the White Sox, giving up six runs on five hits and five walks.

"WORST EVER"

"All I know is that this is the worst I've ever pitched," said Chance, who posted a 3-0 record before slipping into his losing streak. "It can't be that I'm not in shape because I pitched three complete games this spring."

At this time last season, the 23-year-old right-hander had a 3-1 record and a 2.03 earned-run average.

Chance never gave himself a chance against Chicago. He walked the first two batters in the game, and the White Sox were on their way to a three-run inning. He finished his brief performance by walking pitcher Joe Horlen with two out and the bases loaded in the third.

ORIOLES SWEEP PAIR

The Ohio farmer, however, wasn't the only pitcher with problems Sunday. Detroit's Hank Aguirre had two Baltimore runners caught off first base, but both escaped the traps and made it safely to second.

Bob Johnson reached second in the fourth inning when no Tiger covered the base. Luis Aparicio made it in the seventh when Don Demeter's throw hit him in the back. Both Johnson and Aparicio scored, helping the Orioles to a 7-3 victory. Baltimore completed the doubleheader sweep by taking the nightcap 8-3.

In other American League games, Boston swept Cleveland 6-2 and 8-3 and Washington whipped New York 7-3 before bowing 3-2. Rain washed out Kansas City at Minnesota.

CHICAGO SNAPS STREAK

Horlen, Eddie Fisher and Hoyt Wilhelm each pitched three innings as Chicago snapped a three-game losing streak.

Pete Ward led the attack, driving in three runs with two doubles and a sacrifice fly.

Baltimore's Jack Brandt drove in five runs with four hits as the Tigers dropped their fifth doubleheader this season.

Brandt's two-run homer followed by Norm Siebern's blast in the ninth inning clinched the opening-game triumph for Steve Barber.

Brandt capped a four-run first inning in the nightcap with a two-run single, then ignited a four-run ninth with another single. Bill Freehan and George Thomas homered for Detroit.

INDIAN ERRORS HURT

Two errors by Cleveland's Chuck Hinton brought the Red Sox three unearned runs in each game. Hinton let Frank Malone's grounder get through him in the third inning of the opener and touched off a three-run Boston eighth in the second game by dropping Lee Thomas' pop fly.

Felix Mantilla powered the Red Sox in the nightcap with a three-run homer in the fifth inning. That blow wiped out a 2-0 Cleveland lead built on Rocky Colavito's ninth homer.

Jim King batted in three Washington runs in the first game with a homer, double and sacrifice fly. Ken McMullen added a homer and pitcher Phil Ortega a two-run double in a

Don Ardinger, Gettysburg College's sprint ace, is shown breasting the tape in winning the 220-yard dash in the Middle Atlantic Regional track and field championships at Mt. St. Mary's College Saturday. Ardinger was clocked in 20.9 seconds, edging Wilson of Maryland State, right. Ardinger also sped to victory in the 100 dash in 9.4 seconds and in both events set new Gettysburg College records. (Times photo)

DOME GLARE COSTS ASTROS GAME; CUBS WIN IN 16TH

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

What's up in the National League, when three outfielders aren't enough at Houston and two are quite sufficient at Chicago?

The Los Angeles Dodgers unveiled a unique two-outfielder defensive alignment at Chicago Sunday — and got away with it — but even with three outfielders the 'Astros were unable to defend against The Dome.

The Dome turned on the Astros in the first inning when Jim Wynn found the glare too hard to handle and lost a fly ball by Jim Ray Hart that went for an inside-the-park homer with two men on and started the San Francisco Giants on the way to a 5-2 victory.

TO PAINT AGAIN

"I saw the ball as it left the bat," said Wynn, "but never after that."

Houston officials quickly went to work, and said they would paint the plastic bubble, which is what they did last time. Only this time pastels are out. The color scheme will either be green, blue or black.

Pitcher Ken Johnson, who last year lost a no-hitter and turned out to be the latest victim of The Dome, had no comment. Three innings after he left the game it was announced that he had been traded to Milwaukee for outfielder Lee Maye.

The Dodgers, meanwhile, pulled their unique player shift in the 12th inning of a 3-2, 16-inning loss to the Cubs.

MOVES FIELDS IN

With one man on and pitcher Lindy McDaniel up for Chicago, Dodger Manager Walt Alston brought right-fielder Ron Fairly in to play first and moved first baseman Wes Parker halfway up the line between home and first, guarding against the obvious bunt situation.

The shift worked. McDaniel bunted foul on the third strike. Elsewhere in the NL, the St. Louis Cardinals outlasted the New York Mets 8-7 in 12 innings for their fifth straight victory and 10th in 11 games. Philadelphia edged Cincinnati 4-3 in 10 innings and Pittsburgh crushed Milwaukee 10-1.

WINNING RUN FORCED

The Cubs had collected only one hit from the 12th through 15th innings off Dodger reliever Jim Brewer but Howie Reed came on in the 16th, was tagged for a double by Ernie Banks and then lost his control.

He walked Doug Clemens intentionally but fired a wild pitch that let the runners move up a base. So he issued another intentional walk to Vic Roznovsky. Then he proceeded to walk pinch-hitter George Altman and force in the winning run.

The Mets built a 7-0 lead after seven innings on a pair of two-run homers by Bob Taylor and Charley Smith's three-run double.

But Tim McCarver cracked a two-run homer off Gary Kroll in the eighth, and the Cardinals tied it with a five-run ninth that started with Roy McMillan fumbling a grounder and finished with Ron Swoboda falling down on a routine fly by Dal Maxvill that went for a bases-loaded four-run sixth. Joe Pepitone and Tom Tresh homered for the Yankees.

Pepitone unloaded a three-run blast in the sixth inning of the second game for all of New York's runs. Pedro Ramos saved the victory for Al Downing after the Senators had scored a run in the ninth and had two on and two out. Ramos threw one pitch and King grounded it to second.

League-leading Bendersville got back into the win column Sunday by defeating Harney 5-1 at Bendersville. Ron Weigle hurled a strong game for the Apple Knockers, allowing but four hits and fanning seven.

The winners collected eight hits with Pitzer piling a double and triple and Staley a pair of singles.

McSherrystown remained in its tie for second place with a 2-0 decision over Brushtown on the latter's field. Ron Asper's pitching and hitting being the feature.

Asper gave up only two hits, both by J. Roth. He also cracked a single double and triple in three times at bat.

McSherrystown scored a run in the fifth on a walk to Reese, his steals of second and third base and a passed ball. In the sixth the Twins added their final run on a triple by Asper and single by Tom Staub.

Bonneauville, also in a tie for second place, turned back winless Mummasburg 8-6 on the A's field at Bonneauville. Both teams collected nine hits with T. Collins rapping a home run and double for Mummasburg. G. Shanbrook and W. Chrismer smashed triples for Bonneauville.

GAME POSTPONED

The Littletown-Cashtown game at Cashtown was called off due to wet grounds.

New Oxford moved up in the league standing via a 5-2 triumph at Taneytown.

John Harner, New Oxford hurler who has never lost to Taneytown, tossed for the winners and recorded his fifth win in two years over the Tigers. He also added his own cause with two hits, scored a run and drove in another.

Fred Shank, Taneytown, was the only other batsman in the game to collect a pair of hits.

POLICE GUARD FOR CASSIUS; ODDS SHORTEN

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) — Police from the state, county and city kept a round-the-clock guard over Cassius Clay today while the heavyweight champion was cooking up another crazy plot aimed at upsetting Sonny Liston at the weigh-in Tuesday.

"It's going to be more exciting than the last one," promised Mighty Mouth. If it even matches the wild scenes of Feb. 25, 1964, at Miami Beach, then the Tuesday night return fight may almost take a back-seat to the ceremony of the scales.

The cocky, poem-spouting Clay claims he "psyched" Liston into defeat with his seemingly hysterical outbursts before the first fight. The brash youngster ranted and raved, stomped and yelled. But that night he won the world crown when Liston quit on his stool after the sixth round, claiming an injured left shoulder.

Despite the scare talk — which Clay called newspaper talk — the odds favoring Liston dropped from 8-5 to 13-10 and may even fall to even money or swing to Clay by fight time, 9:30 p.m., EST.

Liston was a 7-1 favorite for the first fight. A poll of newsmen from all over the globe showed a surprising 42-32 edge for Clay.

Clay, "You gonna scare people out of the arena. You gonna scare Liston. You can bring in an army but you won't scare me."

ABC TO FEATURE
RED TRACK MEET

Seeing how they run, the
"they" being Russian track stars, has attracted the interest of two of the United States networks. ABC, which has broadcast the last four of the U.S.-
Russian track meets, is hoping for Soviet approval to live coverage this time, from the Soviet Union, via the Early Bird satellite. The meet is tentatively set for July 31 through August 1.

NBC will also do a special, but not of the event itself. The NBC filmed report, now in the making, s following two athletic stars around in a probe of "the question how Russian athletics has emerged from virtual limbo in 1948, when the country was unable even to field an Olympic team, to its current stature as a power in international sports."

The resulting documentary will be presented on NBC in the fall as a "special" edition of the net-work's "Sports in Action" series.
Use of Early Bird for the track meet, if okayed, won't be ABC's first for such an event.
ABC got permission to do the pioneer sports coverage via the live "stationary" satellite with the LeMans 24-hour Grand Prix of Endurance from France Saturday and Sunday, June 19 and 20.

Announce Winners In Annual French Honor Society Poster Contest

Miss Daniele Delorme, Stars In French Play Presented At Saint Joseph College April 27

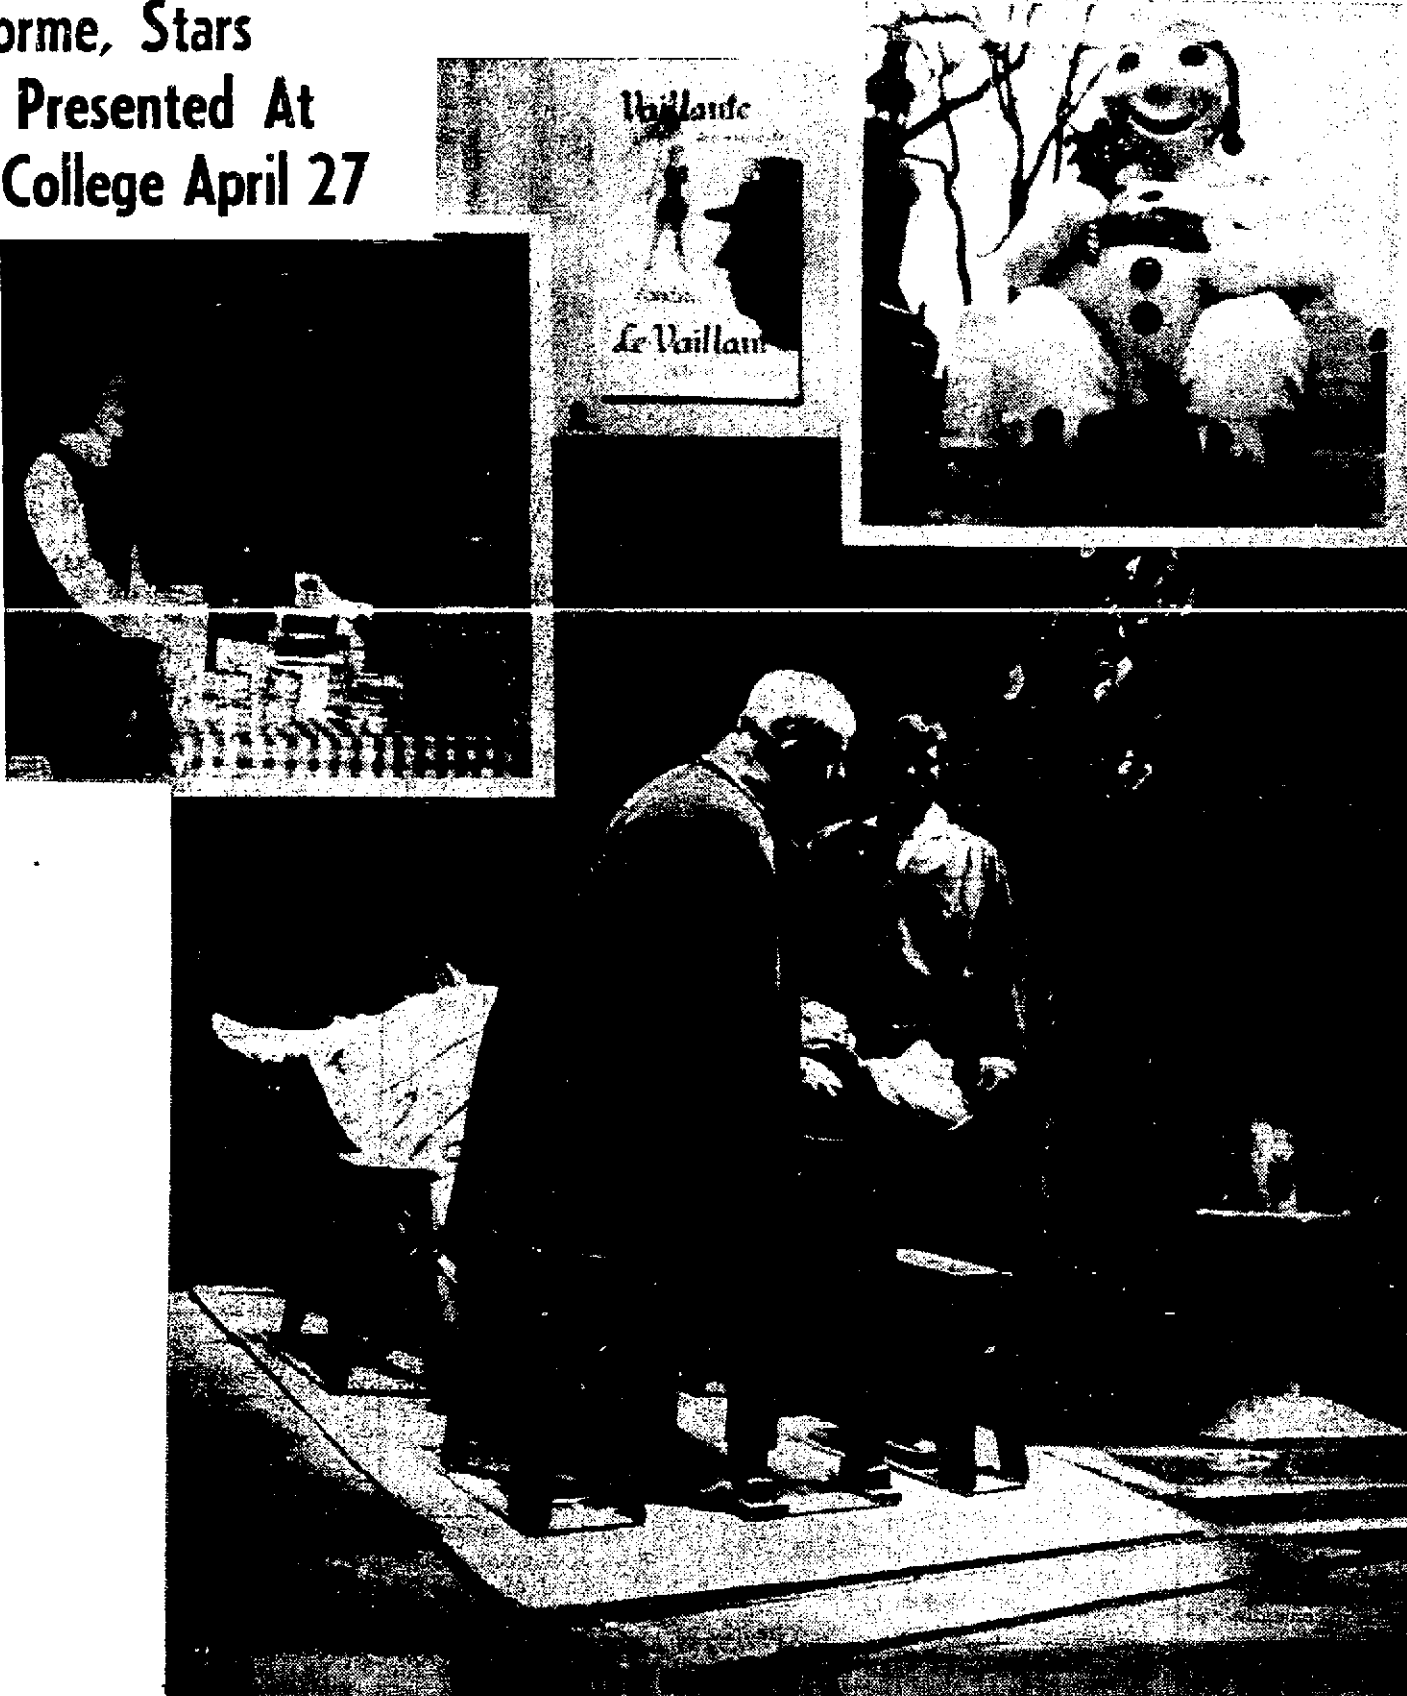

A college student majoring in a foreign language looks forward to the opportunity of attending a stage performance given in that language. Students of St. Joseph's awaited the presentation of L'Annonce Faite a Marie (The Tidings Brought to Mary), a drama by Paul Claudel, on April 27, by the Troupe de Paris. A noted actress on the French stage and cinema scene, Miss Daniele Delorme starred in the title role. Miss Delorme had been engaged for the New York run and consented to remain with the French troupe until the end of the tour in early May.

Four French majors from the college had the honor of accompanying Mlle Delorme and her producer - husband from Baltimore to Emmitsburg. The students, Yvonne Henke, Nancy Bonk, Maureen McGuire and Ellene Dougherty found the experience both exciting and illuminating. They found Mlle Delorme charmingly different from the stereotyped image of temperamental stage personality.

Both she and her husband spoke animatedly of their trip, of their impressions of the United States and of their beloved Paris. Despite their prominence in the theater, the couple displayed the ordinary tourist's enthusiasm to see as much as possible of American life. Admitting to a little fatigue, they shrugged it off as part of a day's work, and their vivacity did not betray a schedule which allows very little relaxation.

In the performance scheduled for the same evening, the last scene was one requiring an immense amount of control, for Mlle Delorme had to lie with her head tilted over the edge of a table set in slanted position on the stage. Later someone asked how she managed to accomplish this feat. "Oh, after practice, anyone could do it," she replied and quickly set about chatting and signing autographs.

This short comment proved to us that we had met an artist,

French cultural activities of the year at St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, are shown in the above photographs: 1, French market sponsored at St. Joseph's; 2, French lecture on General de Gaulle; 3, Junior-year students in Quebec; 4, Students greeting French actresses Madeline Vimes and Daniele Delorme as they leave de Paul auditorium; 5, scene from L'Annonce Faite a Marie.

one who has little time for fatigue or self-indulgence. But more than an artist Mlle Delorme is also a woman of great warmth and charm. She uses all the craft of a fine actress on stage thus, in her way, adding to the art. Off stage, stripped of theatrical guile, she attracts American understanding and love to the French people she represents.

Pi Delta Phi Outstanding In French Field

Pi Delta Phi, the national French honor society, provides the French major with opportunities for gaining an insight and deeper understanding of the culture and spirit of the French people. The Omega chapter at St. Joseph College is outstanding in its efforts toward this end; so successful, in fact, that its moderator, Sr. Margaret Flinton, has been singled out by the French government to receive the rank of "Chevalier Des Palmes Academiques," an award instituted in 1808 in recognition of eminent service rendered to France in the areas of culture, literature and language. Herve Alphand, French ambassador to the United States, will bestow the award at the French Embassy on May 26.

Pi Delta Phi's calendar at St. Joseph's for the past year covered a broad spectrum of French cultural interests. At its first meeting in October, candidates for membership displayed their knowledge of French in the presentation of a one-act comedy, and were formally initiated into the society. Following the reception ceremony, an animated film, "Paris Flash," gave an amusing view of American tourists in Paris as seen through the eyes of the French. October was also the month a typical French market was set up on campus. The student center was transformed into a sidewalk cafe surrounding an open market where French bread, cheese, and other delicacies were sold.

FILMED TOUR
The November meeting featured a filmed tour of the chateaux of the Loire Valley which presented this region of France in all its charm and loveliness. La fete de Noel was celebrated in December with a French Christmas party, complete with carols, riddles and games, explanations of French Christmas traditions, a story about a meeting with Santa Claus in a railroad station, and refreshments.

Mme. Liliane Lange, active in France during the war years and having had the opportunity both to observe General de Gaulle and later to serve as his secretary, spoke on the life and personality of the president of France before members and guests at the chapter's January meeting. The presentation of a skit of what was imagined might be the difficulties of a French class studying American culture and civilization followed the initiation of new members into the society in February.

FRENCH PLAY
Another meeting was concerned with a discussion in preparation for the presentation of the French play, L'Annonce Faite a Marie, by the Troupe de Paris. It was conducted jointly with members of the English honor society, Lambda Iota Tau, for the student body. An explanation of the play was followed by an analysis of its significance, and a question and answer period. Betty Mooney, a senior French major, conducted a seminar on Marcel Proust at the April meeting. Other senior students questioned and commented upon the remarks she had made earlier in a tape recording of her thesis. The month of April brought the Troupe de Paris to St. Joseph College presented Paul Claudel's campus. Before a large audience of students and guests from surrounding areas, the troupe, headed by Daniele Delorme, "L'Annonce Faite a Marie."

At the chapter's final meeting for the year on May 10, Professor Robert Henke of Mt. St. Mary's College discussed his early years in France. Born in the French province of Bretagne, Professor Henke drew upon personal experience to answer members' questions on the interests of French youth, their education, their leisure activities, and their life in general as contrasted with that of American youth.

Miss Beverly Ann Maxin, Of Hallahan Catholic Girls' High School, Philadelphia, Wins Contest

The 1965 poster-slogan contest sponsored by the Omega chapter of Pi Delta Phi of Saint Joseph College, Emmitsburg, which aims to spread French culture among high school students, attracted contestants from 18 states as far west as Oregon and as far south as Louisiana. The theme of this year's contest was "Architecture: Mirror of France. Originality characterized many of the posters entered according to Barbara Hogan, Senior French major and student chairman of the contest.

Judging was based on appropriateness of slogan and originality of design. After preliminary judging by St. Joseph's students, the final decisions were made by Professor Walter Staaks of Purdue University; Mme. Andree Bergens, Bucknell University; Patricia A. Elliott, Louisiana State University, and Sister Mary Aidan of Georgian Court College.

$25 FIRST PRIZE

Twenty five dollars was awarded to the winner, Miss Beverly Ann Maxin, of Hallahan Catholic Girls' High School of Philadelphia, for her poster: "L'Esprit rendu immortel." Carol Weiss of Roseburg (Ore.) High School won the second prize for "La France: Reflexions en pierre." Kathy Komarnicki, a student at Oswego (N.Y.) Catholic High School won ten dollars for third place for "L'Esprit d'une nation, sculpte en pierre."

Additional awards of books and bronze medals given by the Cultural Division of the Ambassade de France in New York, and books donated by the French Book Guild in New York, were given to the other top ten winners. Susan Salmon of Mercedes (Texas) High School won a book entitled "Paris Revolutionnaire" for fourth place. Francoise Esteve of Eastern (Baltimore, Md.) High School and Lynn Ridgeway of St. Rose (Belmar, N.J.) High School tied for fifth place. Francoise received a copy of "Versailles" and Lynn a copy of "Manet."

Angels Academy (Buffalo, N.Y.) and Paul A. Schwartz of Littlestown (Pa.) High School both received books in a tie for sixth place.

AWARD MEDALS

Medals were awarded to Kathleen Powers, Hallahan Catholic Girls' (Philadelphia) High School; Martha Eddins, The Lovett (Atlanta) School; Kathleen O'Toole, Notre Dame Academy (Worcester, Mass.); Nancy Weber, East Richland (Olney, Ill.) High School; Robert Pettie, St. Rose (Belmar, N.J.) High School; Diana J. Karolkiewicz, Notre Dame Academy (Worcester, Mass.) and Sara Ellen Greene, Littlestown (Pa.) High School.

Randee Rankin, East Richland (Olney, Ill.) High School; Judith Anne Capraro, Holy Angels Academy (Buffalo, N.Y.); Peggy L. Myers, Littlestown (Pa.) High School, and Judith Brooks, Holy Angels Academy (Buffalo, N.Y.), received honorable mention.

THANK YOU

Grateful to have had the opportunity of spreading French culture, I would like to express my sincere thanks to all those who participated in the contest. They certainly deserve to be congratulated for their talent and originality in portraying the theme "Architecture: Mirror of France."

I am deeply appreciative of the time and generous assistance given me by fellow Pi Delta Phi members, and especially Sister Margaret, our moderator, without whom I would have been completely lost.

Merci encore une fois!
Sincerely,
Barbara Hogan

Pi Delta Phi Elects Officers For '65-'66

Miss Brenda Nalley, '66, (left) Port Tobacco, Md., has been installed as president of Omega chapter of Pi Delta Phi, the French National Honor Society, at St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, for the 1965-66 scholastic year. Miss Maureen McGuire, '68, West Keansburg, N. J., was elected secretary, and Miss Jane McCullough, '67, Falls Church, Va., treasurer. Miss Mary Alice Baker, '68, (right) Buffalo, N. Y., will serve as chairman of the 1966 poster-slogan contest.

Miss Nalley has studied at Laval University in Quebec. Both Miss McGuire and Miss Baker plan to spend their Junior year there. Last summer, Miss McCullough studied at the Sorbonne in Paris.

In the coming year, Miss Nalley hopes to increase intercollegiate discussion with colleges in the vicinity, and also literary discussions with the English Honor Society. She also hopes to inaugurate a project to provide additional scholarships for deserving students for further study at Laval University.

FOUNDED IN 1906

Pi Delta Phi was established at the University of California at Berkeley in 1906. The number of chapters in leading colleges and universities now exceeds 100. The goal of the society, "Let us advance the cause of France," has been constantly fostered by its thousands of members. Their activities reach into every facet of accomplishment in the areas of development and diffusion of the French language, literature and culture in this country.

The national officers of Pi Delta Phi are: President, Joseph W. Yedlicka, Ph.D., De Paul University; first vice-president, Sr. Eloise Therese, Mt. St. Mary's College, Los An-

Miss Margaret Mullahy Lay Apostolate In Lillie

As interest in the work of the lay apostolate gains impetus in the U.S.A., French majors from Saint Joseph College have sought opportunities to contribute their share of effort to the movement.

Last year, armed with a working knowledge of the French language and a dedication to serving mankind, 1964 graduate, Carolyn Cox, traveled to Lille, an industrial city in Northern France, to fill a teaching post at the Institute Technique de Loos, staffed by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul.

In addition to her English conversation classes, her duties included chaperoning trips and supervising studies. Reports back to Saint Joseph's from Sister Dupont, Directress of the Institute, express her pleasure of the work of the "institutrice americaine." The feeling is reciprocated by Miss Cox who tells of the advantages she enjoyed. Living among the French people, she has not only improved her language skills, but also developed a greater understanding of their true culture, often hidden from the ordinary tourist. Travel to Italy, Germany and Belgium has broadened her outlook, and she feels that her work as a lay apostle has been a truly enriching experience.

On a trip to Paris, Miss Cox joined a former classmate, Catherine Kochanski, a student at the Sorbonne under a Fulbright fellowship. Miss Kochanski is completing study toward a Master's degree.

Second vice-president, Sr. Margaret Flinton, chairman of the French department at St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Md., is completing her studies at the University of Quebec, where she followed the "cours special de ter of Arts degree under the Middlebury College program.

After their year of work, study and travel, Catherine and Carolyn will return home in late summer. Lay apostolate students, both have received satisfaction of not only seeing Europe but also of becoming acquainted with its people.

Sr. Dupont's request for a replacement for Miss Cox, who returns home in August, will be filled by this year's graduate, Margaret Mullahy, of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Miss Mullahy, at right, who sails for France in September to assume Miss Cox's duties, spent her junior year at Laval University in Quebec, where she followed the "cours special de

Famous French Play Pleases Large Audience

As the lights dimmed and the usual one or two late comers were ushered to their seats at the recent Emmitsburg performance of Claudel's L'Annonce Faite a Marie, a hush of silent expectation descended on the audience. With the rise of the curtain and the first few lines of dialogue one sensed that this audience of French students and faculty drawn from area colleges and high schools to Le Treteau's performance at St. Joseph College knew they were settling down to an evening of great theater.

Obviously the French script presented no great barrier to a number of spectators if the many copies of English translations carried to the performance was any evidence of their limited knowledge of French. Jean Graham and Kathleen Basta, senior English majors at St. Joseph's, agreed that the depth of emotions conveyed by the actors transcended any language difficulty to provide an unforgettable experience.

Margaret Mullahy, a French major, commented, "Since L'Annonce is such a deep play I thought that seeing it on stage greatly added to the understanding of it. The actors gave an excellent portrayal of the characters. In fact, seeing it gave me a unique interpretation of the character Mara."

Joseph Miller, instructor in English at St. Joseph's, referred to the excellence of the setting. This, combined with the tremendous spirit projected by the actors, provided such a visual experience that ears did not seem necessary. Mr. Miller, a proponent of other types of literature, added that L'Annonce actually "renewed his faith in drama."

"The more I think about it the better it gets," reflected Mary Casey, a Baltimore high-school student. Paulette Keogh and Bobbi Jo Lutz, Freshmen at St. Joseph's, observed that reading the play beforehand had greatly added to their comprehension. They especially appreciated the acting and staging. Maureen McGuire, Freshman French major, remarked that "the reactions expressed by the audience between scenes more than communicated great appreciation of this superior performance."

To culminate their four years of growing fascination with the French culture Senior French majors of St. Joseph College travelled to Washington May 18 to spend the day at sites steeped in the atmosphere of France. Their first stop was at the Church of the Epiphany to worship in unity with French people and hear the Mass in French. The Rev. Donat Guillaume celebrated Mass there for the French-speaking Catholics of Washington. He is the archdiocesan chaplain for the French population of the District of Columbia.

Following this initial entry into the foreign atmosphere, the girls continued their adventure at Le Bistrot, a well-known French restaurant to prove once again that the art of cooking is esteemed as a most important and valuable aspect of French culture. A tour of the National Gallery of Art followed. The school of French impressionism enjoys the greatest general popularity with the students, but before returning to campus, they had time to indulge their personal preferences with visits to other sections of the museum.

Electrical Heating Called "Weatherproof"

"... Cold arctic air sweeping down through Canada. . ."

"That's the most telling proof about a house and the efficiency of its heating system," says a mortgage authority. "Winter."

"Too bad most customers don't get a chance to preview their possible future homes under just these stress conditions."

"That, I suppose is one reason why the electrical heating industry so often features the true-life experiences of families in the really tough cold-weather sections of the country. Gives you a picture you can project yourself into."

"When the wind has whipped the snow into drifts yea-deep, and there isn't even a draft to mar the comfort quotient inside, well. Well . . . you know you've hit it lucky"

Electrical Heating 100% Usable

Electrical heating is burgeoning all over the country . . . but heating experts of course point most pridefully to the toughest tests. "Providing the house is well-built," explains an electrical contractor, "you just can't beat a complete electrical heating system for comfort. And since comfort and healthy well-being, free from drafts, are the first objectives, that would seem to be enough

However, electricity delivers a lot more. It's the only fuel that's 100% usable . . . so you pay only for what you use. Then too, it's virtually trouble free, with seldom any need for maintenance . . . and it's instant. Get's on the job immediately when the weather makes a sharp change."

"Electrical heating conversions in older houses, by the way, account for nearly one-third of the market, and other things being right are a good investment," interjected the banker.

"Just for the record," concluded the electrical contractor, you might like to know that, in the case of new houses, individuals often come to an electrical contractor first to discuss the feasibility and then go on with the rest of the planning from there. Their mortgages, as with the conversions, are easy to come by too."

GOLD MEDALLION FORMS

Gold Medallions attest to the quality of an all-electric home (including the complete home heating system), come in the form of a plaque to be attached to the qualifying home, and a certificate to be filed with the deed.

QUESTION BOX

Q. Should you lower a thermostat at night with an electrical heating system?

A. Electrical heating gives the most truly flexible choice of temperatures imaginable. With room-by-room thermostats you can lower the temperature in whatever rooms you are not using, start warming them up again instantly. And since economy is on our minds much of the time, yes, if you want to save some money be sure you do turn those thermostats down.

Q. How are the experiments coming along to heat houses by electric light bulbs? One chilly night just before the World's Fair closed down I looked up at an indoor-outdoor pavilion and realized we were being kept warm by the lights.

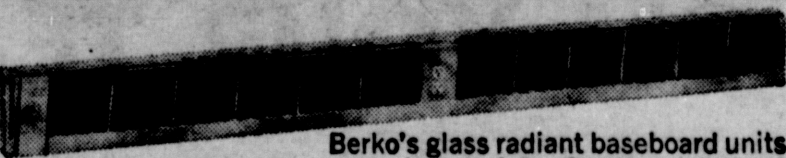

A. Well the light-bulb studies are of interest, but primarily at this stage for certain industrial applications. So much for the experimental side. But now to clear up the second point. We know the World's Fair structure you mean, but . . . sorry to disappoint you . . . it wasn't "lights" that were keeping you warm . . . that was an actual form of electrical heating equipment. If you were using overhead equipment in your own home, of course, you'd probably be delighted at the invisibility you can achieve, rather than the obviousness. Most ceiling cable is totally concealed by plaster. So don't bother to worry about how to get that many bulbs into a room. Today's electrical heating equipment not only does the job with pin-point precision, but test-wise it's in line with older, less efficient heating methods?

Q. Who decrees how much insulation an electrically-heated house should have?

A. Nobody "decrees." The National Mineral Wool Association recommends. And — depending on whether or not you want the maximum in both comfort and value—you do or do not follow the experts' advice. By the way, most experienced electrical contractors would rather forego your business than see you play it "penny-wise and pound-foolish" on the house you'll be spending your life in.

French Majors At Meeting Of College Groups

As part of the cocurricular program at St. Joseph's in the past year, several of the college's French majors attended meetings of the "Alliance Française."

The organizations of the Alliance of Washington and of Cumberland Valley have offered valuable opportunities for "des jeunes filles françaises" to develop their cultural knowledge of France and their ear for the language.

Headed by Professor James La Follette, of Georgetown University, the Washington Alliance meets monthly at the Cosmos Club. The membership consists of high school and college students and professors. The purpose of the Alliance is to promote an understanding of France, its people's artistic endeavors, and its history.

HEAR LECTURES

Since the culture of a foreign country is reflected in its literature, art, architecture, music, dance, etc., the group's program consisted of lectures and performers from several of these areas. The 1964-1965 program included John Schneider, a Fulbright Scholar at the Conservatory of Music at Paris, who entertained and instructed at the piano with his "concert causerie." Bernard Fall, professor International Relations at Howard University who discussed "France in Indo-China"; Madame Lucienne Letondal, who humbly and eloquently presented "Promenoir des Poètes"; the noted writer, Henri Peyre, of Yale University who analyzed "How the French see their History"; French Ambassador Monsieur Paul-Schweitzer, director general of the International Monetary Fund, and Monsieur Alain Bosquet, journalist, writer and critic, who expounded on "The Experimental Novel since 1945."

MONTHLY MEETINGS

The Cumberland Valley chapter, directed by Mr. Miller of Mettersburg Academy, convenes monthly at Gettysburg College. A program rich in interesting speakers and pertinent topics made up its 1964-1965 schedule. A few of its meetings hosted: Madame Liliane Lange of Carlisle, who spoke on "General de Gaulle, his Character and his Life"; Claude Bourcier of Middlebury College who expounded "The Great Adventure of Surrealism"; and the Chickering String Quartet of the Chambersburg who presented a "petit concert" of French music.

In January, several SJCinnes met with members of the Cumberland Valley Alliance and the Baltimore Amicale at the Baltimore Art Museum, for a tour of the famed "Cone Collection" which included the works of Gauguin, Monet, Degas, Maillat and Matisse.

These associations have offered excellent opportunities for the students to grow in cultural knowledge and in ability to speak French. The meetings, conducted in French have proved to be extremely profitable.

Picturesque Quebec, Canada, will be the adopted home of four junior French majors from St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, come September. As part of their junior year program, they will live in the cultural environment aimed to heighten their study of French. Laval University, located in Quebec, combines the influences of France and England to provide a quaint atmosphere and the experiences of a foreign environment. The University, conducted by the Jesuit Fathers, is one of the largest institutions of higher learning in Canada. Laval and St. Joseph's have had an exchange program for three years.

Senior French Majors To Begin Various Careers

Senior French majors will begin various careers in September after four years of collegiate preparation for their life work. Nancy Bonk will begin teaching in New Jersey at South River Junior High School. She will teach French and English to Ninth-Grade students. Miss Bonk also plans to earn credits toward a Master's degree in a six-week summer French course at Laval University, Quebec.

Planning to marry at the end of the summer, Ellene Dougherty will teach in the New Jersey area.

TEACH BROTHERS

Michelin Gold will find herself teaching her two younger brothers to "parler français" as she begins in September in her hometown high school in Water-town, N.Y. Miss Gold will teach first and second-year audio-lingual French to sophomores and juniors.

Yvonne Henke will teach French I, II, IV, V at the Pikeville Md., Senior High School. Miss Henke received honorable mention from the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation for her academic achievements. She has also been named alternate for a Fulbright Grant to study in France next year.

Barbara Hogan will soon launch a career with the U.S. government. Miss Hogan was also offered a three-year NDEA fellowship at the University of Missouri to study for her Ph.D.

Having received a similar fellowship, Betty Mooney, will be working at the University of Missouri as an assistant instructor in French while studying for her Master's degree.

TEACH IN FRANCE

Maggi Mullahy will teach English in Lille, France in September as part of a lay apostolate program. This summer she plans to work for Societe Generale, a French bank, in New York.

Betsy O'Brien will be the only French teacher in a rural high school in Ulster, N.Y.

Dolores O'Connor plans to study at Assumption College, Worcester, Mass. The school, situated in a Franco-American area, is directed by an order of French priests. The experience should provide Miss O'Connor with many opportunities to speak the language in everyday life as she obtains her M.A.

Anne Sacchet, uncertain of her plans as yet, hopes to teach in the Washington area.

Cathy Scovitch will teach in Prince George's County, Md.

CONVICT PAIR IN CONSPIRACY

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Two former Defense Department officials were convicted Friday night of conspiring to embezzle government funds.

The U.S. District Court jury also found John A. Wylie and William H. Godel guilty on at least one other count and cleared them on at least one charge each.

Wylie, 58, onetime head of the department's Budget and Finance Branch, was found guilty on three counts of embezzling a total of $13,401, and one count of making a false claim on the expenditure of $5,839.

He was freed of a charge of making a false claim for a $10,000 appropriation. Wylie could be jailed for 40 years and fined $50,000.

Godel, 43, a former deputy director for management in the department's Advanced Research Projects Agency, was convicted of making a false statement concerning the spending of $10,000 for a secret research project in Viet Nam. He was cleared on two embezzlement charges involving $5,600.

Godel faces a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

Hidden Camera Charts Motorists

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Motorists driving from Pennsylvania to Delaware on the Ebbrecht Road Friday were brought up short by a sign across the road, "Delaware Closed Today."

A man, carrying a clipboard informed them, "Sorry, but Delaware is closed today. The quota is filled. You can't come in until someone comes out." He explained it was Delaware's way of coping with the population.

"Are you some kind of nut?" was among the calmer replies. After being held up for awhile, the drivers were told to proceed. They were told they were filmed for a television program that uses a hidden camera to capture the reactions of persons in unusual situations.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor James H. Tate says he wants the state to increase its appropriation to the Philadelphia Welfare Department by $7.5 million. The mayor, who addressed a state House Appropriations Committee hearing on child care and public assistance Friday, said the city no longer could rely on voluntary agencies for child care.

The U.S. reduced 1,289,982,000 bushels of wheat in 1964.

POLICE RECOVER SPILLED PILLS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—After several hours of searching, police reported Friday night they had recovered or tracked down all of about 300 tranquilizer pills a nine-year-old boy had scattered through a neighborhood.

The policemen feared the pills would fall into the hands of children who might be harmed by them.

The search began after Patricia Howser, 3, apparently found some of the pills and ate one. She began crying and she was taken to a hospital where she was treated and released. Her mother, Mrs. Patricia Howser, told police she found 10 other pills in the backyard.

Police found the boy, Angel Corcino, found the pills that he longed to his mother and had scattered them through the neighborhood while walking to school.

Twenty-five police spent several hours combing the neighborhood tracking down the pills.

COP WILL GET CANDID AWARD

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Pittsburgh patrolman, whose traffic directing antics won him a television award, can still get it providing, says his boss, it's clear his methods aren't the usual ones used by Pittsburgh police.

Patrolman Vic Cianca was voted the second best "Candid Camera" performer in the show's history, and the producers wanted to give him an award. He was shown in action on the program last December.

Superintendent James W. Slusser said Thursday Cianca couldn't get the award. Then he changed his mind Friday, saying:

"In view of the fact that his appearance on a television program did apparently generate a great deal of favorable national attention, I am willing to permit him to appear on that show and receive his award so long as it is made clear that his techniques are not the ones normally used by Pittsburgh policemen."

The U.S. reduced 1,289,982,000 bushels of wheat in 1964.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER
A lovely writes: I adore using perfume, but I cannot seem to find one that remains true on my skin. The character of a scent in the bottle changes, once it is applied. Why should this be?

The Answer: Every fragrance is affected by the individual chemistry of a woman's skin. For that reason, a scent that does something wonderful for one woman may fail another.

It follows that the true aroma of a perfume cannot be judged by a sniff from the bottle. As an aid to selection, most perfumers supply their salespeople with bottles for testing purposes. Thus, you can try before you buy. And should:

Over the years, experts have found the inside of the wrist and the crook of the elbow to be trustworthy testing grounds. But a mere droplet on the wrist and a quick sniff will not give you the full reaction of an essence on your skin.

You must give the test more time. For there are several cycles in the life of an application of fragrance. The first impact, known as the topnote, is perceived at once. As the perfume dries, you sense the overall harmony—the subtle overtones and undertones. After that, the final note emerges and conveys the full aura in relation to your skin chemistry.

It is then, and not until then,

Uncle Sam Will Fly Young Paratrooper Home To Wed

By NANCY EATON

PROSECT, Conn. (AP)—The Army is going to fly paratrooper Frank Briglia Jr. home, and Jacqueline Zabbro won't have to cancel her wedding after all.

Jackie and Frank had planned to get married on May 29. But Frank's outfit, the 82nd Airborne Division, was suddenly dispatched to the Dominican Republic on May 4.

It seemed for a time that Frank would miss the wedding, but Friday Lt. Col. James F. McNab of the office of the Army chief of staff, telephoned Jackie and told her Frank would be home.

ANSWERS SAID

McNab said the commander of Frank's company decided to send the private home after a letter Jackie had written to the President was forwarded to the Army.

Jackie, because "I'd heard that other girls in the same spot had done it," wrote Johnson explaining what had happened. "I would appreciate it if you would try to help us," she wrote. "I would be very grateful."

"I don't have any idea how long he'll be home," said Jackie, 19. "But I'm so happy. I never thought it would happen."

Frank's mother heard the news from Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn. Briglia Senior had gone to Monagan for help in getting Frank home, and Monagan said he'd do what he could, but he didn't think it would be much.

"I'M SO HAPPY"

Friday, however, he called Mrs. Briglia and said her son would be flown home in time for the wedding.

"How can I feel?" she said. "I'm a mother, I'm so happy he'll be coming home." Briglia just chuckled.

"I love him; I'll vote for him a hundred times when I'm 21," Jackie said of Monagan.

Jackie said McNab told her he'd call her Monday to let her know what flight Frank will be on.

Jackie says she expects about 450 guests at her wedding. The invitations have been sent, the wedding dress is ready, the reception planned.

"It will be extremely difficult to cancel everything at this late date," she had told the President in her letter.

Now she won't have to.

Convict, Befriended By Judge "To Go Straight," Arrested For Burglary

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Two years ago a County Court judge bypassed the state parole board and obtained the release of a convict who "wanted to go straight," and got him a job as probation officer.

Today the man, George M. Turner, 45, has been held without bail on burglary charges.

Judge Adrian Bonnelly, president judge of the county court, who took the chance on Turner said, "I alone am the one who sponsored this man. I am the one who took the chance I saw an opportunity to perhaps save a soul. This man impressed me with his willingness to do right."

Turner stood mute at his arraignment Friday.

SERVED 3 TERMS
Turner, who had served at least three terms for burglary since he was a 17-year-old high school boy, came to the judge's attention in 1963.

He had been returned to Pennsylvania after serving four years for burglary in New Jersey. He faced a five to ten year term for burglary here.

The parole board turned down a plea for release. Then on June 6, 1963 he wrote Judge Bonnelly that he "wanted to go straight" and that he "had seen enough of jail doors."

There was no explanation why he chose to write Bonnelly.

The judge, impressed with the letter, obtained his release on a writ of habeas corpus from Common Pleas Court. A week later Turner started to work as a temporary clerk in County Court earning $3,649 a year. He worked with persons on probation and alcoholics.

CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

Within five months he was placed on permanent status and given a raise. Less than three weeks ago, Howard Pindell, his superior, recommended another raise for Turner. By now he was earning $4,486.

"He was an excellent man," said Pindell. "I was surprised when I got a phone call at 2 a.m. today that he was arrested."

Turner was arrested Thursday night after a chase through a cemetery after William Hill surprised a man burglarizing his apartment. Police said they found jewelry belonging to Hill and $800 on Turner.

JESUITS NAME NEW GENERAL

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Very Rev. Pedro Arrupe, a Spanish priest who is also a medical doctor, was elected general of the Jesuits Saturday at a secret conclave of Roman Catholicism's biggest and most influential religious order.

Father Arrupe, a 57-year-old Basque who earned a name as a smooth administrator in running the multinational Jesuit province in Japan the past seven years, was chosen in a secret vote at the headquarters of the Society of Jesus, the Jesuit order, at the edge of Vatican City.

A majority of the 218 electors representing Jesuit provinces around the world elected him on the third ballot in a half-day voting session.

He succeeds the Very Rev. Jean Baptiste Janssens, a Belgian, who died last October after running the order for 18 years.

Some good cooks like to mix olive oil with other salad oil — about half and half — to use in salads.

Pope Paul Sees No Faith Relaxation

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI says the Vatican Ecumenical Council did not mean a relaxation of faith or sacrifice.

Instead, he said, it was intended to adjust the contacts of the Roman Catholic Church with the modern world.

The Pope said it also would be erroneous to see the council as "an indulgent acknowledgement of the weak and voluble relativistic mentality of a world without principles and without transcendental ends."

Pope Paul made the remarks Friday at an audience granted to delegates attending a general meeting of the Roman Catholic Salesian Order.

Free Speech Leader Can't Pay License

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—They met and fell in love, they said, during the rash of sit-in demonstrations last November and December on the Berkeley campus of the University of California.

So, Mario Savio, 22, former head of the Free Speech Movement of the university, and fellow leader Suzanne Marilyn Goldberg, 25, applied Friday for a marriage license in the Alameda County, Calif., court house.

They received the license after Miss Goldberg paid the $2 fee.

Foresee Decrease In New Baby Count

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government experts say this may be the first year since 1953 when the number of babies born in this country drops below four million.

Births during the first three months of this year dropped 70,000 below the same quarter in 1964. If there is no further decline in the rate during the remainder of this year, the 1965 total would be 3,984,000. The figure last year was 4,054,000.

Arthur A. Campbell, chief of the Public Health Service's Natality Statistics Branch, said an upturn is expected when the post-World War II babies of 1946-48 start establishing families.

Urge Postal Hike To Meet Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special advisory panel has urged a hike in postal rates and elimination of preferential rates.

The group, named by Postmaster General John A. Gronowski last January said such action would help the Post Office Department overcome its annual operating deficit, now about $762 million a year.

The panel also suggested that first class and air mail be merged into a single category to be moved by the quickest means. It said this would require an increase in the present five-cent first class rate.

Seamen Picket For Marine Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 1,500 pickets spent Friday in Washington, seeking help for the U.S. Merchant Marine.

The seamen climaxed their stay by tossing two casket-shaped wooden boxes over the fence onto the White House lawn.

On the boxes were these slogans: "Don't Bury the U.S. Merchant Marine" and "Revive the U.S. Merchant Marine."

A spokesman for the pickets, most of them members of the AFL-CIO National Maritime Union, said American flagships now carry less than 10 percent of U.S. foreign trade.

19 KILLED IN PA. ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Nineteen persons died as a result of accidents in Pennsylvania over the weekend.

The victims included 11 traffic fatalities and five drownings. Among the drowning victims were a Stroudsburg father and his 7-year-old son who perished while fishing in a creek.

MEMPHIS OPEN CAPTURED BY J. NICKLAUS

By KESLO STURGEON
Associated Press Sports Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus served warning to the golfing world with his victory in the $60,000 Memphis Open that he's not to be trusted no matter how hopeless his position looks.

"I'm the kind of guy who plays better under pressure," Nicklaus said Sunday after he came from five strokes off the pace to win the Memphis golf tournament.

"I don't get excited unless I have something to play for, but when I get charged up, something forces me to play my best."

"SUDDEN DEATH"

As it was, Nicklaus shot a 65 as the field before him faltered a little, finished the regulation 72 holes tied with Johnny Pott at 271 and then beat the latter in the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

"It wasn't a matter of my playing so well, although that string of birdies got me fired up, as it was the others not playing so well," he said.

The victory was worth $9,000 to Nicklaus.

IN ROUGH ON PLAYOFF

Pott, who had started the day just two strokes out of the lead, birdied three of the last four holes to send the match into a playoff. But he had to sink an eight-foot putt on No. 18 to get the job done.

In the playoff, Pott drove his tee shot into a muddy rough surrounded by trees and bogged the hole while Nicklaus was taking a routine par for the victory.

Pott shot a round of 68 during the day and picked up $5,000 in prize money. Finishing two strokes back with 273s were Lou Graham, Bob McCallister, Julius Boros and Bert Yancy.

Pitzer Wins Heat; Sixth In LH Final

John Pitzer, Biglerville High hurler and the lone Adams county who took part in the state PIAA track meet Saturday at Penn State University, finished sixth in the final of the Class B 180 low hurdles which was won by Ron Smith, Columbia, in 19.8.

Pitzer turned in his best time in history in winning his heat in the morning in 20.8 to qualify him for the afternoon final.

Bigler Girls Turn In Good Records

Biglerville High School's girls again turned in good performances in the state girls' track meet Saturday at Lower Merion. Although billed as a "state" meet the only schools represented were Biglerville, Radnor, Lamont, Chester and Lower Merion.

Performances by the Biglerville girls were as follows:

High jump — Connie Fissel, first, 4-4; 100 meter hurdles — Kathy Reed, second, 13.6; 220-dash — Kathy Reed, third, 28.4; 440-yard relay (Kathy Reed, Renee Nyce, Sue Smith, Melinda Trone), fourth, 52.0, the best time ever run by the quartet; 100-yard dash — Melinda Trone, fourth, 12.5.

In novice events Renee Nyce was first in the 440-yard dash in 1:11.1, and Connie Fissel was third in 1:14.

BELLEFONTE GOLFER WINS

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Jim Plumb of Bellefonte High holds the 1965 Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association (PIAA) golf title today by virtue of a sudden death playoff.

The 17-year-old senior birdied the second hole in a three-way playoff Saturday by sinking a 15-foot putt on the par-four hole.

Others in the playoff were Terry George of Elizabeth-Forward and Jeff Billie of Emmaus. All three had carded 217s in regular play.

In a related development, Mark N. Funk, executive secretary of the PIAA, said he would recommend that champions automatically qualify for the following year's tournament.

Last year's PIAA golf champion, Tom Apple of Pennridge High, failed to make the District One team this year and consequently could not defend his title this past weekend.

RED LION GIRL WINS

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Scotty Leiphart, of Red Lion, has won the singles title of the Pennsylvania Women's Bowling Association Tournament, with a 635 series.

The nine-week tournament ended Sunday night.

33-CAR FIELD QUALIFIES FOR "500" MONDAY

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Textan A. J. Foyt, who saved the durable old Offenhauser roadster from extinction by booting one to victory in the 1964 Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, may preside at final rites for the last of the breed in the 49th running May 31.

When two weekends of time trials ended Sunday with a thunderous but bloodless crash of an Offy roadster with Bob Matthes of Gardena, Calif., at the wheel, the 33-car field was fixed like this:

HOW THEY LINE UP

Seventeen rear-engine Fords, including the Lotus-Ford in which Foyt set a 10-mile qualifying record of 161.233 m.p.h. May 14.

Ten rear-engine Offenhauers, in one of which the sixth-best qualifying speed of 158.416 was set by rookie Billy Foster of Victoria, B.C.

Four of the old reliable Offy roadsters, which the late Bill Vukovich brought to Speedway prominence in the early 1950s.

A four-wheel-drive Ferguson-Novl which Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., put in the third three-car row at 157.467, and a Novi roadster which Jim Hurtubise, North Tonawanda, N.Y., qualified at the last weekend's top speed of 156.863.

WARD WON'T RACE

The Novis are supercharged V8s, designed by the late Bud Winfield, which develop up to 700 horsepower but long have been plagued by troubles ranging from mechanical breakdowns to crashes.

There were seven rear-engine Ford V8s in the 1964 field but only Roger Ward of Indianapolis finished in the top 10, taking second for a remarkable record over the last six years of 1-2-3-1-4-2.

Ward will be missing from the line-up May 31 for the first time in 15 years. He wrecked his new Watson-Ford trying to qualify Saturday after having assorted troubles with four engines.

He tried again Sunday after the field was full and would have made it if he had been satisfied with his first full lap at around 154 miles an hour. He signaled timers to start counting on the next lap and slowed to an average of 153.623 m.p.h. That was 34th best.

ALLEN TOWN, Pa. (AP) — Robert Genua of Bellefonte holds the Class A singles lead as the Pennsylvania State Men's Bowling Association Tournament goes into its last two weekends.

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was Lou Piniella day Sunday in the Eastern League. No, the fans didn't shower the Elmirans outfielder with gifts. Instead, Piniella turned on the power and showered the fences with home runs—Three of them, in fact.

Piniella personally accounted for all of Elmira's runs—whacking the long-distance pokes in consecutive times at bat—as the Pioneers whipped York, 6-3, and gave Ed (double no-hit) Watt his fourth victory of the season.

Rounding out Eastern League action Sunday, Williamsport defeated Springfield, 4-3, and Reading edged Pittsfield, 5-3.

Piniella's slugging performance was even more amazing, considering he came into the game hitting a meek .153. His three-home run barrage at Dunn Field in Elmira was believed to be a modern EL record.

York starter Bill Haywood was the victim of all the homers. Piniella's first came in the second inning, with a runner aboard. He also smacked a solo job in the fourth inning and a three-run homer in the sixth. Watt allowed 10 hits, including four by catcher Jim French.

Tonight's games: Reading at Pittsfield; York at Elmira; Springfield at Williamsport.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

NCAA TITLE GAMES MOVED

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The NCAA's 1968 basketball championships have been moved from Chicago Stadium to the University of Maryland because of differences between the NCAA and the Chicago ticket-seller's union.

The 29th annual tourney next March 18-19 will be in Maryland's William P. Cole Fieldhouse, with a capacity of 14,000. The capacity at Chicago is 19,000.

Bernie A. Shively, Kentucky athletic director and chairman of the NCAA basketball tournament committee, said the decision to move "was made most reluctantly and unceremoniously. Loyola, Northwestern and the Chicago Stadium management have been most cooperative and understanding."

"We feel, however, since it is as necessary and right for us to hold to our principles... as for the union to hold to its policies, there could be no other choice."

Shively explained that approval of the Chicago site by the NCAA executive committee April 8 was contingent upon Northwestern and Loyola exercising complete tournament management — including sole control of all ticket sales. He said no complications over ticket handling were expected.

RECORDS FALL AT PIAA MEET

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Nine Class A records and four Class B records went by the boards in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association (PIAA) Track and Field Championship meet here Saturday.

The highlight was State College High School's two-mile relay clocked at 7:47.8—a new national high school record.

The previous listed record was 7:49.9 set in 1963 by Roosevelt High School, Dayton, Ohio.

State College's effort was performed by Jim Dixon, Jerry Miller, Jack Walmer and Steven Gentry.

Gentry also ran the fastest Pennsylvania schoolboy mile, covering the distance in 4:12.4. It cracked the record of 4:20.3 set in 1963 by Art Morris of Lancaster.

District 1 topped all other Class A teams in scoring with a total of 79 1-5 points. In Class B, District 3 registered 74 points. Team Leader in Class A was Abington High with 25 points, Columbia led Class B with 23 points.

UNUSUAL TV PROGRAM ON SAFE DRIVING

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An unusual television program was born because Fred W. Friendly, president of CBS News, picked up three speeding tickets within 18 months and, as part of his punishment, had to take a driver education course.

The experience two years ago developed into tonight's "National Drivers Test" on CBS (10-11 EDT) after which millions of drivers may rate their skills in emergencies.

Viewers will be projected into an assortment of traffic situations. A team of stunt drivers have deliberately recreated some of the most common types of accidents.

CBS also has arranged to have some 2,000 drivers in four cities attend the broadcast and score themselves. These results will be run through a computer so the self-testers at home will know how they stack up with the members of the sample.

"Almost every man who drives a car thinks he's pretty good at it," said Bill Leonard, CBS News vice president. "I think it has something to do with maleness and is pretty basic."

Leonard said that the program will be among the most expensive turned out by CBS News.

TIMING IMPORTANT

"This one involved all the normal broadcasting expenses plus the cost of setting up the automobile crashes and arranging for a sample of 2,000 people," he explained.

The program has been scheduled to run just before the Memorial Day weekend, when automobile fatalities usually run high, in the hope of saving some lives. The show has been endorsed by, among other groups, the National Safety Council. More than 60 million copies of the official test form have been distributed.

"The demand was so great that we finally ran out of money to print up more, but anyone can score himself in the test if he just has pencil and paper handy during the program," Leonard said.

WINS AT TENNIS

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—A 16-year-old junior from York High, Mason Gerhart, holds the 1965 Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association (PIAA) singles tennis championship.

He won the title Saturday by upsetting top-seeded Joe Brooke of Beaver Area (Dist. 7) 6-4, 7-5 in the PIAA championship here.

MISS WRIGHT WINS IN DALLAS

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — You would have thought Mickey Wright regretted winning the $14,500 Dallas Civitan Open Golf Tournament.

"I never less enjoyed a round in my life," she said, after finishing up with a poor four-over-par 75 and 283 for 72 holes. It gave her a one-stroke victory over Kathy Whitworth.

Mickey, women's golf's greatest player, is retiring this year. She is intent on making a grand showing to close out her career but the way she looked Sunday, she may be thinking that she waited too long to quit.

"It was one of the toughest rounds I ever played," she declared. She obviously was referring to the double bogey she took on the second hole and two straight bogeys after that.

Miss Wright had started the final round with a three-stroke lead but this had evaporated when she passed the third hole. It was Miss Wright's third Civitan title, tying her with Louise Suggs for the most won, and it was her second tournament victory of the year, tying her with Miss Whitworth.

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — The Providence, R.I., Steamrollers have shifted their franchise to Boston, the ALAIC Coast Football League announced over the weekend.

The proposed budget of Latimore Township School District for the school year 1968-1969 is available for public inspection at the home of the undersigned Secretary at Dilburg, R. 1, Pennsylvania. Final action on the budget will be taken at the next regular meeting of the Board of Directors to be held June 11, 1968.

Be advised that the following tax resolutions have been re-enacted by the Board of School Directors of Latimore Township School District, Adams County, Pennsylvania, without substantial change for the year 1968-1969:

(a) The Per Capita Tax Resolution which imposed a tax of $5.00 upon each adult resident in Latimore Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania.

(b) The Latimore Township School District Real Estate Deed Transfer Tax Resolution of 1956 which levied a tax of 1% on the value of real estate, lands, tenements, or hereditaments situated wholly or partly within Latimore Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania, or any interest therein conveyed or transferred by deed.

(c) The Latimore Township School District Occupation Tax of 1963 imposing a tax of 20¢ or 20 cents on the dollar of the assessed valuation of the occupation of each adult resident or inhabitant of Latimore Township.

FRANK C. MYERS
Secretary

NOTICES

Card Of Thanks

LAMONT: I wish to thank the Gettysburg Ambulance Corps and their kind and efficient and trained personnel for the comforting trips to and from the Warner Hospital during the illness of my beloved sister, Betty.

JACK LAMONT

MILLER: We wish to thank neighbors, friends and relatives for their kindness and sympathy shown after the death of Lloyd Miller, also for the beautiful floral tributes and cards of sympathy.

THE FAMILY

LAMONT: I wish to thank sincerely Mr. "Bob" Monahan and all the other efficient and kindly personnel of the Bender Funeral Home for their comforting and so efficient management of my late dear and beloved sister Betty's funeral arrangements. Their sympathetic and understanding cooperation made my burden so much more comforting to bear under such trying conditions. Many sincere thanks.

NOTICES

Card Of Thanks

ALTHOFF: We wish to express sincere thanks to our friends, neighbors, relatives, doctors and nurses at the Warner Hospital and Father Joseph Kealy for the many acts of kindness shown us following the death of Erma Althoff; also for floral tributes, expressions of sympathy and service of the pallbearers.

HUSBAND, FRANCIS, AND FAMILY

LAMONT: Mere words alone cannot convey our heartfelt and very sincere thanks to our many, many friends for the comfort and help they all so understandingly gave to us both during the recent illness and passing of our dear and beloved sister, Betty. We deeply regret that, under the present trying circumstances, we cannot answer each one personally for the many cards, letters, phone calls and personal visits which eased our burden of grief immeasurably. May God bless you all.
